Young Folks' Town Talk...

It seems as though a certain young lady, who recently moved in the Corby neighborhood, seems to be rushing Eddie Biddieux, poor little Eddie.

Where do they go? Or rather where do they come from. Referring to a certain young girl's fond admirers. Tell me! Boy! am I raring to know?

A cute little girl (Elizabeth B) "fell" so hard for a certain Tech Hi School boy (Leonard T.) at a recent party that several of her better known associates could hear the bare floor give a resounding echo.

Who is this good looking guy who went to that party and didn't dance one single dance. In case you're interested he's medium height, light complexioned and not bad looking at all. Tell me. I must know—A reader.

Why is it that these Drug Store guys especially "Dizzy" Dean think they will take their girl friends for a ride? On their "wheel" at that! But his friend rides a little boy, yeh!

Miss Roberta Pharr was hostess with Misses Ella Mills and Ether Harris as co-hostess at a "Going-away Party" at her home in honor of Mr. Tadmage Edwards. Mr. Edwards is pining for the Caroline's, so he's going to Florida pronto.

Mr. Lemuel Oliver, with apologies to Eddie Butler, is the best in the west tinkling o'er the keys, making every one happy with his line of jazz. "The Blue Prelude" seemed to be his theme song. Miss Pauline Harbin relieved Mr. Oliver a various intervals. All the young ladies were robed in their late summer attire. Other guests were Messrs. Clarence Lott, Thomas Jones (spreading Detroit's sunshine into our midst), Alva Baldwin (Bing's double), Sol Porter, Rever McCloud, Frederick Fields, John Anderson; the Misses Charlotte Redd, Imogene Johnson, Viola Oliver, Annie Oliver, Ella Thomas and Constance Mullens.

After a delightful repast, all went home saying they were guilty of having a delightful time.

"Maxie Miller Writes"

(For The Literary Service Bureau) Girl in love with man — man has good character, good reputation and nice home—mother says too old and too dark—follow your heart and let your foolish mother worry.

habits, owns a nice home, a car and other fine property. I really love him and he says he will take good care of me. Just lots of girls are trying to catch him, but he says he likes me best. My mother objects to this man old, and, I'm ashamed to say, she says because of his age. She says he's too he is too dark complexioned to come into our family. Must I listen to my mother? I'm puzzled and worried. What must I do?—Mickey.

Mickey: Your mother is a very foolish one and a very unreasonable one. If you two really love, the difference in your ages should make no trouble. Color does not make a man, and that mother of yours is both foolish and unjust when she objects on account of color. Do what your heart says do and let your foolish mother worry.—Maxie Miller.

PUBLIC WORKS ADMINISTRATION PASSING BUCK ON NEGRO JOBS

NEW YORK—If Negroes are to receive any jobs from the huge public works program they will have to depend on the tender mercies of local contractors. That is the gist of the position of the national public works administration in Washington.

The administration, in answer to two letters from the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, at first says it has no power to dictate labor policies and that contractors who get the huge contracts should be seen for jobs. In a second letter, the national administration of public works, over the signature of Major Philip B. Fleming, of the engineering corps, who is an official under Secretary Ickes, states trustfully that it believes "all races of people who are citizens of the United States, will be given just treatment in respect to employment."

The letter says the department of labor has set up special employment bureaus and that workers will be recruited from them. It will be remembered that the workers for Boulder dam were all taken from the United States employment office at Las Vegas and this office never recommended a single Negro for work there until pressure was brought to bear from Washington.

There his lead was wiped out and he was defeated as nearly a 100 per cent vote was cast against him. The colored revolt was led by Dr. Ballinger and Mr. Simmons.
