Clubs--

The Jacques Club has held three social meetings since organizing.

Meetings have been held at the homes of George A. Lov, Edward A. Bidwell, and Orville A. Jones. The next meeting is to be held at the residence of Walter Rhodes. It can be testified that a good time has been had by all at the Jacques meetings, for they are really righteous. We are very glad to announce the return of our twelfth member, William King, who has been vacationing in California. Clemmish Williams, reporter.

The Mystery Club met at the hall at 24th and Parker Streets last Saturday night. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Smith. A brief business session was transacted. Mrs. Vance, Secretary, Virgil Sherman, reporter.

The Fall Opening of the Jolly Bridgettes was held September 26th, at the home of Mrs. Stella Sullivan, 2516 Burdette Street. The Annual election of officers was held with the following results: President, Mrs. Galaway; vice president, Mrs. Cassie Jackson; secretary, Mrs. Katherine Manley, assistant secretary, Mrs. Stella Sullivan; treasurer, Mrs. Myra Kineaid; chairman of entertainment committee, Mrs. Ersie Haden; reporter, Mrs. Bernice Henry.

After all business was transacted the afternoon was spent in bridge. The hostess later served a delightful luncheon. The next meeting will be with the new president, Mrs. Mary Galloway, 2714 Lake Street on October 10, 1933. Mrs. Mary Galloway, president; Bernice Henry, reporter.

The Modern Art Club met September 25th at the home of Mrs. Willa Johnson, 2225 North 24th Street. There were fourteen members present and we spent an enjoyable evening sewing. Afterwards we were served in a most graceful manner by the hostess with a delicious luncheon, which is the reason why all members are always eager to make every meeting. Mrs. Laidla Butler, president; Miss Irma Speese, reporter.

Well folks! Les Charmantes are on the air again. The meeting was opened in its usual manner at the home of Mr. Alva Baldwin. While it is ample time any one wishing to join must get their applications in now. Mr. Valfie Saunders, Misses Rachel Hartley and Ella Thomas handed in their applications and were accepted by the club.

The question of meeting during the week instead of on Sunday was discussed. For a while it seemed to be "Trouble in Paradise," but it was decided upon to have three meetings a month, two on Sunday and one during the week.

A committee of three was appointed to plan our first event of the season being a Halloween Party. The committee is as follows: Misses Ella Mills, Constance Mullins, and Mr. Valfie Saunders.

We can't say in these modern days that the men don't know their colors. In choosing our club colors, the men displayed their color harmony very artistically. After a brief hysterical moment black and white were the chosen colors.

Miss Minnie Preyor was our visitor for the afternoon. She expects to join in the near future.

When the meeting was adjourned, Mr. Baldwin surprised the club by ushering them into the dining room to a delightful luncheon served buffet style, which tickled the palate and pleased the stomach.

Watch your OMAHA GUIDE for more particulars of the "Katy Koquettes." Helen Sherwood, reporter. I must say that the Trojan Girls Boy and Girl membership party turned out to be a whizz! Aside from the games played and fun had otherwise, the costumes worn by the different boys and girls were a knockout. Don't let any body kid you that Edith Coleman doesn't make a good boy, and if they say Frances Simms isn't some kid in rompers, why you have our permission to smack their faces. For the benefit of those who want to know just why Naomi Carter would make a good preacher, just ask any one who saw her perform the marriage of Rachel Gordon and Miss Taylor in the play which was the main event of the evening.

Then after Lola Smith played and sang "My Man" for us, Mary Ann couldn't restrain herself any longer, and as the last strains of her favorite song were ended, we ate our ice cream and called it a night, and what a night!

The Happy Hour Bridge Club met Thursday of last week with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Biddix, 2718 North 27 Avenue. A lovely time was reported by each member present and five changes of bridge were played. Mrs. E. Daniels was awarded first prize for ladies. For men.

Mrs. Paul Adams, a visitor, was awarded a prize for holding the highest score for ladies and Mr. C. Davis for men. The hostess served a delightful repast.

THE JOLLY SHOEMAKERS. Mrs. Mattie Bates entertained the Jolly Shoemakers Club at a friend's home on North 29th Street last Thursday evening. Impromptu business was transacted for one hour, after which the members made it quite interesting for the male visitors, whose presence graced our meeting, at a spicy game of cards. Delightful refreshments were served and enjoyed by all. One new applicant was received into our ranks. We adjourned to meet next Thursday evening with Mrs. Lucille Payne on North 17th Street. Benedict's Club meeting was at Mrs. James. A wonderful time was had by all. Mrs. Mabel Fields, president; Mrs. J. J. vice president; Mr. Barton, reporter.

From a mechanical arrangement the book is pleasing in appearance; bound in a purple, stiff press board covering with white lettering; and printed throughout in large readable type on glass union paper which sets off the illustrations in excellent style. In the back of the book is a most comprehensive index so that the student on a moment's notice can refer to the text on any particular subject. A limited number of these text books are now being sold by the editor, Kathryn Wilson, of the California School of Beauty Culture, 500 North 33rd Street, Omaha, Nebraska, and will be prepaid to any address on receipt of $2.50.

And while I have no intention of going into the Beauty Culture business, I am glad to add to my library this most useful book of knowledge on a subject that all members of the race are interested.

Supplemental Reading. Almost a month after the September Bronzeman's were on sale in Chicago I received my mail copy. This is the same issue that I commented upon several weeks ago and which contained a short story of mine "Round" and an illustration which, Charles C. Dawson, the illustrator, used his own likeness incidentally, many letters and comments have been received as the result of this story, sufficient to embody a short story as a sort of sequel.

The September Koch Messenger, as I call "My Man" for us, Mary Ann couldn't restrain herself any longer, and as the last strains of her favorite song were ended, we ate our ice cream and called it a night, and what a night!

Book Review. TEXT BOOK OF BEAUTY CULTURE. By KATHRYN WILSON.

As the name implies this book thoroughly covers the subject of Beauty Culture and its written specifically as a text book for those students who desire to learn all of the secrets, technique and methods of modernized beauty culture.

The various chapters contain, in detail, a thorough knowledge on such subjects as: Sterilization, Hygiene, Sanitation; Physiology and Anatomy; Origin and Construction of the Hair; The Scalp; Scalp Diseases and their Treatment; Scalp Treatments; Shampooing; Singeing, Thinning, Dry Shampooing; Hair Pressing; Hair Cutting; Hair Dyeing and Bleaching; Marcel Waving; Permanent Waving; Water Waving; Finger Waving; Hair Dressing and Paper Curling; Manicuring; Facial Massage; Art of Make Up; Skin Blemishes and Diseases; Electricity; Diet and Weight Control; and Shop Control.

Without attempting to assume to know the actual requirements of Beauty Culturists I dare say there is, but little that one needs to learn, unless of course it is actual experience itself, that is not clearly and thoroughly covered and illustrated in this over two hundred page text book. Not only are methods given and illustrated but the actual formulas for the preparations of the trade are specifically given which, in themselves, make the text book extremely valuable to those engaged in, or desiring to learn the art of beauty culture.
