THE TROJANS

The Trojans initiations of new members, Tuesday, night last, was nothing short of slaughter. When the girls arrived at the meeting in the costumes. We ordered them to wear, they look so ban, until we really were in doubt as to whether we wanted them or not.

Armed with regular household weapons the girls had to give the large room and the bathroom a general cleaning. Dorothy Pollard proved to be the toughest bottle baby we had, because she insisted on biting a hole in the nipple in order to drink her water more quickly.

Henrietta Gibson was an easy victim until she saw the hot iron with which she was to be branded, and when an innocent little ice cube was applied to her back, she screamed bloody murder because she knew she had been seared.

All in all, the new girls were as meek as little lambs, being driven to their fate. Confidentially, I've heard that Connie Mullen intends to change to P. and G. soap.

Now so long until next time. Lola Smith, president Ferwilda Artison, reporter
