

Maxie Miller Writes

Good-looking girl of 18 is in love—wants to stop school to marry—only a fool would do a thing of this kind—left marrying wait—loss will mean gain.

(For advice write to Maxie Miller, care of Literary Service Bureau, 516 Minnesota Avenue, Kansas City, Kansas. For personal reply, send postage.)

Maxie Miller: I am a good-looking girl of eighteen years. I love books and I do want to finish my education. My parents are able to send me to college. But I'm in love and I'm afraid if I go to school some other girl will get my boy friend. My parents want me to go to school but say they won't help me if I marry. I wonder what you would do if you had a case like mine. Tell me. Lillie May Ish.

Lillie May Ish: In just a few words I'll tell you what I would do. In a case like yours, if I had any common sense at all, I'd go on to school. You are young and have lots of time for love. Go on to school, and let some other girl get this boy friend, if she can. At school you will meet others and forget him, perhaps before you've been there six months. If your love shall endure, he will appreciate you more for the common sense you show. Go to school! Let the other things WAIT!

Judge Urged To Run In Primaries

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., January 24.—(CNS)—Judge James E. Horton, who presided over a Scottsboro jury trial last spring and refused to accept the jury's verdict of guilty and ordered a new trial, is to run in the May State Democratic primaries.

Judge Horton's decision to make the race reverses an earlier decision on his part to retire from the bench because of popular disapproval of his attitude in the Scottsboro case. The reversal came about as a result, apparently, of resolutions adopted unanimously by the bar association of Athens, his home. The resolutions urge him to stand for another term and endorse him as "a judge of unimpeachable character and integrity . . . untrammelled by political considerations . . . unflinching in the discharge of your duties as a judge."

Published last week all over Alabama, these resolutions have been taken by a considerable sector of the press a signal for a somewhat surprising chorus of editorial praise for Judge Horton and hope for his reelection. The Huntsville Times, The Limestone Democrat, The Houston Herald, The Selma Times-Journal and others have joined The Birmingham Age-Herald and The Birmingham Post in suggesting that the real issue in Judge Horton's case is not his decisions at Decatur, but the courage and conscience he showed in making them.

Circuit Judge W. W. Callahan and Attorney General Thomas E. Knight are also up for renomination. They will undoubtedly profit from the fact that the one presided and imposed a death sentence in the second Decatur trial and that the other conducted the prosecution in both trials.

As a candidate for Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General Knight has no opposition thus far.

STORZ MEETING DRAWS BIG CROWD

Seven hundred Omahans attended the big mass meeting called Thursday, January 25th at the Elks Hall. There was just lots of fun for every body and plenty of good eats prepared by Omaha's favorite Chef, Mr. James Bell. Mr. Bell was assisted by Mr. Thomas Riggs and Mr. Archie Bell. The front window looked like a meat market and a bakery shop about seven thirty. There was eight half barrels of good Storz Beer to quince the thirst of the guests of the evening. There were many musical numbers, but the chairman was unable to get the crowd to come to order, therefore there was not any speaking. Mr. Storz was present. Mr. M. L. Harris was chairman of the meeting.

KENTUCKY TAKES THE LEAD

The body of Rex Scott, a Negro, about the age of 20, was found hanging from a tree two miles south of Vico, January 24th, just about two hours after a mob had removed him from the Perry County Jail. The body was found by a posse led by Sheriff Filmore McTosh. They arrived just in time to see a crowd of about 700 people scatter and run to nearby coal camps. Scott was accused of slugging Alex Johnson, a coal miner. Johnson died January 24 from his injuries about an hour after Scott was lynched. Several persons were arrested but no charges were filed. It was the Nation's first lynching in 1934.

FRENCH PASTRIES

THE french pastry which we all admire so much and pay such prices for, may be made at home at little expense, and be just as attractive as one has time and taste to give to it.

Cake Pastry Foundation.
Take three eggs well beaten in a bowl, set over hot water and beat lightly, add one-half cupful of sugar and beat until the mixture becomes fluffy, then add one-third of a cupful of melted butter, three-fourths cup of pastry flour sifted with one-half teaspoon of baking powder. Mix well, add vanilla or other flavoring. Bake in a sheet and cut into shapes while warm.

Neapolitan Squares.
Cut the above cake into two-inch squares. Spread half the squares with apricot jam, currant jelly, orange marmalade, or any cake filling one likes. Cover with the other squares and press together between boards until firmly joined. Now spread the sides with jelly beaten to a paste with a few drops of water and dip each in coconut finely chopped. Ice the tops with a thick chocolate icing and in the center place a halved maraschino cherry, cut-side down; add stem and leaves of citron or a white or green icing.

Almond Slices.
Spread the entire sheet of cake with a tart jelly or jam beaten to a paste. Now cut into strips three or four inches long and one and one-half inches wide, spread the sides with jelly. Top each with a heavy meringue, using two egg whites and eight table-spoons of granulated sugar, one-fourth teaspoonful of almond extract. Arrange over the top with a pastry tube, sprinkle with powdered sugar and top with shredded almonds. Place in a slow oven and brown lightly.

Stadium for 1936 Olympic Games

WERNER MARCH, architect of the stadium to be built in Berlin for the Olympic Games of 1936, is here seen with his model of the structures to be erected. Work on them is to begin in a month or two, the plans having been approved by Chancellor Hitler.

Do YOU Know

That February, is so named because the Romans celebrated Februa, a festival of purification and expiation on the 15th of the month, for the manes of the dead. This month, together with January was added to the year by Numa, about 713 B. C.

American and British Motorized Trains

HERE are three types of the motorized trains that are fast coming into use. At the upper left is the Texas and Pacific two-car train running daily between Fort Worth and Texarkana, Texas. It is equipped with two twelve-cylinder motors burning gasoline. In the middle is Britain's first streamlined railroad car, run by the Great Western railway between Reading and Slough, with a single 130 horse power motor burning heavy oil. At the right is a photo-sketch of the Burlington Zephyr, the "last word."

UNION PACIFIC SYSTEM'S High-SPEED TRAIN

(Special to The Omaha Guide)

To commemorate the completion of the new high-speed, light weight, streamlined Union Pacific passenger train, the Union Pacific "lucky piece" has been designed. The first of these to be made are being sent to our American editors. These lucky pieces are made of aluminum alloy, the same material of which the new Union Pacific train is built— as strong as steel of the same dimensions but of only one-third the weight.

The Union Pacific is deeply appreciative of the interest which has been shown by publishers, editors and writers in the development and construction of this train. Its completion in January marks an epoch in transportation history. The progress of the experiments which are to be carried on will be followed with keen interest by railroad executives all over the world.

A total of 1,000,000 of these lucky pieces have been made. These will be given to school children and to visitors to the train on its exhibition tour.

You may be interested to know that it took five tons — 10,000 pounds — of aluminum alloy to make the million lucky pieces.

It gives me a great deal of pleasure to enclose one of these lucky pieces for you. It conveys to you our thanks for your interest and our sincere good wishes.

Yours very truly

E. C. SCHMIDT,

Director of News Service Union Pacific System Omaha.

The Silvery Years

By ANNE CAMPBELL

NOW we have come to the silvery years.

Silver with vanished hopes, silver with tears,
Silver with promises of silver dawns
When Death's silver chessmen take
Life's silver pawns.

Now we have come to the silvery years.

Silver my tresses, and silver appear
Stealing the brown of your own pretty hair;
The silver of winter is shimmering there.

Now we have come to the silvery years.

The journey is ending, the shadowed path clears,
And over the top of the silvery hill
The bright silver moon of our love rises still!

Really a Snappy Bathing Suit

MAYBE it won't feel so good to Miss Mabelle Pettit of Boston (center) when Doris Pritchard and Marjorie Brooker let go of Mabelle's bathing suit; for it is made of rubber and has plenty of snap to it. They are all tripping at the Beach Cabana club pool in Miami Beach, Fla.
