A. A.—Please tell me will I ever see my old time friend again?

ANS.—Your long lost friend is in New York City. He will be back to this town again this year. He will look you up as soon as he hits town again.

N. S. P.—Why did this man put his hand on me where he did?

ANS.—That's easy—he was just trying to get a little better acquainted with you, that's all. The LOOK YOU GAVE HIM scared him off. You need not worry over this as you won't get the chance for it to happen again.

E. T.—My mother is fond of drinking and smoking. Please tell me what I can do to stop her?

ANS.—If you had to go through what your mother goes through with—maybe you to would be fond of a drink of liquor and a cigarette now and then. She won't become an OLD SOAK if that's what you are afraid of.

J. J. M.—A nice looking young man soon will be 19 years of age. And he tells me that he's going to marry me when I get old enough, and I tell him that I am not. Will you please tell me whether I will marry him or not?

ANS.—He's only kidding you, little girl. Don't be foolish enough to believe seriously, for he is the kind of a fellow who WANTS TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF YOUR YOUTH.

Where is my baby's father? Can I make a living for my baby?

ANS.—Your baby's father decided to leave this town WASN'T BIG ENOUGH FOR ALL THREE OF YOU, so he just scrambled. He was aware of the fact that there were traying their race identity. In Mississippi a conductor compelled a colored woman to go into the "white coach." He was very courteous to her during her trip. Then, he was terribly chagrined when she was met at her destination by a woman unmistakably colored, and the two women kissed and embraced. It is known that information concerning lynchings and other crimes against colored people is secured by these white-black folk who can "pass" for white without detection. And so the story runs—rather so the hellish prejudice runs. (To be continued).

H. T.—I am coming to you again for help. You have helped me before and I know you can again. Tell me when I should leave here.

ANS.—Leaving town would be a mistake. You are doing exceptionally well—why not let well enough alone? I advise you to stick it out here in this city for at least another year. When you do leave you will leave with your pockets well lined.

L. M. A.—I'm going to ask you a question. It is resting on my mind. Will I ever become a mother, or what will I have to do?

ANS.—There's not much you can do—you have tried every way under the sun without success. I do not believe this event will take place in your life.

C. M. W.—Why don't these parties want to give me my bed things?

ANS.—They feel as though you would be something and your bed clothes are about the only thing you own that they feel are worth anything. Just you try to get them back.

W. C. J.—Why does the person I love do the things I ask them not to do? Will they stop if I ask them not to once more?

ANS.—It won't do you a bit of good to ask your sweetheart again—you can talk yourself hoarse and she'll turn right around and VISIT THIS PLACE YOU ARE TRYING TO KEEP HER AWAY FROM. The attraction there is too great.

Maxie Miller Writes

Serious problem—looks like edipus complex—Sissie loves Daddy and Mom is jealous—girl sits on father's lap—worse she sleeps with Daddy—Mom should raise the Devil and end it or make teasing daughter "take up her bed and walk." DO IT, MOM!

(For advice write to Maxie Miller, care Literary Service Bureau, 516 Minnesota Avenue, Kansas City, Kansas. For personal reply, send post age.)

Maxie Miller: I have a most serious problem. My daughter 24 has been married, is divorced and lives with us. She and her father are such pals that they are always hugging and kissing; she sits on his laps; and worse than that they sleep together. This girl can get money from my husband when he refuses me. They don't try to hide what they do and she even teases me. My husband just says "You are too jealous for any use." He makes the living, and I don't want to break up our home, but I just can't stand this much longer. I am sad and constantly worried. I need your advice. What should I do? Good Wife.

Good Wife: You are indeed a good wife to stand what you do. And if you continue to stand it you are too "doggone good." Daughter or no daughter, I'd end that situation. I'd render the riot act to both of these imposters, and I'd make that girl skip. Your daughter, but she is forfeiting all claims to your consideration. It looks like the "Edipus Complex," and it is a thing you should not be expected to endure. He won't break up, and if so better that than to suffer that to go on. M. M.

Dr. Lennox On The Job

Dr. Homer W. Anderson
 Supt. of Schools,
 City Hall,
 Omaha, Nebraska.

Dear Dr. Anderson:

From observation considerable changes have been made in our public school system, and we are again writing you regarding this situation, knowing several Colored applications were on file, but did not receive consideration. We are entitled to some employment, and if at this time lack of funds prevents the board of education from giving us our pro rata, a minimum number could have been employed until the full amount can be given.

We help to elect the members of the board of education, and are supporters of all taxations, paying a higher rate on the average and in proportion than any other district in the city. Paying from 75% to 80% when other districts pay only 25 to 50% and even less. These communities are more desirable and can be easily kept so due to the favorable consideration received, taking into consideration less employment and less taxes to pay, there is nothing to prevent them from being otherwise.

Realizing where there is intelligence a more mutual understanding can be had, and we are sure if you will fully look into this situation consideration will be manifested. If every one possessed this ability and a willingness to be fair to all, there would be no confusion due to nationality when seeking positions, especially those to which we are fully entitled.

You are possessed with a high degree, but perhaps do not understand all races, and are not judging those who have received superior accomplishments, automatically placing them in a class of recognition, and are sure you realize there are any number in this group fully trained to teach.

We are asking that you kindly bring the above situation to the attention of the school board at the earliest date possible. I should like to be present at the next meeting, and if I am not asking too much of you, I shall appreciate your informing me the date and hour of same.

Thanking you very much, I am
 Respectfully yours,
 Dr. G. B. Lennox

From Board of Education
 Superintendent of Schools

Dr. G. B. Lennox
 2122 1/2 North 24th Street
 Omaha, Nebraska.
 My dear Dr. Lennox:

I have your letter of June 8th. May I say that we are employing no new teachers for the coming year. We have at the present time a number of our regularly elected teachers who are not assigned.

The basis on which you claim the right to employment in the Omaha schools is erroneous. The only basis on which teachers can be hired in the Omaha schools is the welfare of the children to be served in the schools. It is not proportionate population, proportionate taxes, or participation in the election of the members of the Board. It is strictly as I have said, the welfare of the boys and girls.

TENNESSEE MINISTERS BACK COSTIGAN ANTI-LYNCH BILL

Nashville Ministerial Alliance Calls Special Session to Consider Measure—Votes Overwhelming Approval.

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 1.—The Ministerial Alliance, composed of the white ministers of this city, met in special session here Monday for consideration of the Costigan-Wagner Anti-Lynching bill, and by a large majority gave their endorsement to the measure and wired their action to Washington. The Alliance had ordered the special meeting for the specific purpose of considering this bill and copies of the measure had been sent to every minister a week in advance.

Following a motion for approval of this bill by Dr. Howard I. Kerr of the Hillsboro Presbyterian Church, the measure was discussed at length. A motion to table received only two votes, and approval of the measure was then adopted overwhelmingly, with only four votes against it. The secretary of the meeting was instructed to send a report of the result to Senators Costigan and Wagner and to President Roosevelt.

The meeting was well attended and representative. The opinion was expressed that had the membership been present one hundred per cent, the result of the vote would have been substantially the same.

NEW WAR ON LYNCHING MARKS N. A. A. C. P. BIRTHDAY

NEW YORK, February 6—A new war on lynching, signalized by a campaign for the passage of the Costigan-Wagner federal anti-lynching bill, will mark the twenty fifth birthday of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People February 12.

"The N. A. A. C. P. has been in the forefront of the fight for the last quarter century to make the Emancipation proclamation of President Abraham Lincoln a real document. Lincoln's birthday will have this year double significance to millions of colored people because it offers not only a chance to pay homage to the great Emancipator, but to launch a second quarter century of organized effort to secure all the rights as citizens which Lincoln intended they should have," declared Walter White, N. A. A. C. P. secretary, in an anniversary statement.

Lincoln's birthday and the N. A. A. C. P. anniversary will be observed by the 378 branches of the association in mass meetings and dinners all over the country in which the past history of the association will be reviewed and public opinion will be aroused in support of the anti-lynching bill. Hearings on the measure will be begun by a sub-committee of the senate on February 15.

The N. A. A. C. P. idea was born in 1909 as a result of the indignation of William English Walling, Southern writer and lecturer, over the terrible race riot in 1908 in Springfield, Illinois, the home town of Lincoln. Mr. Walling is still a member of the board of directors. He, Miss Mary White Ovington and Dr. Henry Moscowitz induced Oswald Garrison Villard to write an official call to all persons interested in forming a militant organization to secure full rights for colored people. The call declared:

"If Mr. Lincoln could revisit the country in the flesh he would be disheartened and discouraged."

After reviewing the plight of the Negro, the call continued: "Silence under these conditions means tacit approval. . . . The celebration of the centennial of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, widespread, grateful as it may be, will fail to justify itself if it takes no note of and makes no recognition of the colored men and women for whom the Great Emancipator labored to assure freedom. . . . Hence we call upon all the believers in democracy to join in a national conference for the discussion of present evils, the voicing of protests, and the renewal of the struggle for civil and political liberty."

The New York celebration of the anniversary will be postponed until March 18 because of the heavy demands made upon the national office staff by branches elsewhere in the nation around February 12.

The anniversary will be observed throughout the year by the campaign for a penny for every Negro in the United States as an anniversary fund.

New School Facilities in Rowan County North Carolina.

CHARLOTTE, N. C. In the morning exercises were held in the Aggrey Memorial School, at Sandy Springs, Landis, about ten miles southwest of Salisbury when a new eight-room $15,000 brick school was dedicated.

In the afternoon, at Granite Quarry, five miles southeast of Salisbury, dedicatory exercises were held in a new eight-room $20,000 stone building. The new schools are up-to-date structures and both were fully equipped by funds from the John F. Slater fund.

Among the prominent educators present were Dr. N. C. Newbold, State Department of Education; Dr. Arthur D. Wright of the Jeanes and Slater Funds; Dr. Thomas Jesse Jones, of the Phelps Stokes Fund; the Rev. Dr. W. H. Davenport, Editor of the Star of Zion; and President James E. Shepard of Durham.

STUDENTS AT HOWARD TO BE HELPED BY FEDERAL RELIEF ADMINISTRATION

WASHINGTON, February 6—(CN S)—One hundred thousand college and university students are to be helped financially by the Government during the present semester, according to a plan just announced by the Federal Relief Administration.

The plan provides that needy students shall be given jobs by the educational institutions and be paid from $10 to $20 a month from Government relief funds. The colleges to waive all tuition, registration and other fees.

It is estimated that Washington institutions will be asked to care for about 1,000 students. Each college will be asked to accept students up to 10 per cent of their present enrollment. It is estimated the arrangement would cost the Government approximately 7,000,000 and at the same time reduce considerably the funds of the individual institutions already heavily handicapped. The plan provides that three-fourths of the selected students will be students who otherwise would be compelled to drop out of college and the remainder students who otherwise would be unable to enter. Howard University would under the scheme lose the tuitions, registration and other fees of at least 160 students.

COLLEGE DEAN BANS SCOTTSBORO TAG DAY

New York (CNA) Feb. 8.—At the order of the Dean of women, every copy of the Hunter Bulletin of Jan. 9th, weekly paper of the Hunter College, was defaced with brown pencil smears before being sent out.

Under the brown smears on the front page, were two boxes announcing that the student-council had voted to hold Scottsboro tag days on January 10th. It was this announcement that was censured. The other box that was censured contained material reading "Tag Day for Scottsboro Boys, Thursday, Feb. 11th." The National Student League Chapter at Hunter College vigorously protested this action.
