STORY & ILLUSTRATIONS BY JAY JACKSON,

Mevertheless, I'd still like to be colored just to prove that you could overcome race prejudice and the -- Oh, what's the use of talking foolishness? Of course it's impossible for me to out myself in your place. You are colored and I am white and never the twain shall mee!

Mandy I'd give almost anything I possess to be colored for about a year just to prove to you that you colored girls do not make the best of your opportunities. You are as talented, educated, and pretty as I and you are just a servant girl and think you have no chance for future betterment.

Well you see Miss Anne, there are a great number of reducated colored girls but there are not enough colored business men who are able to give us the jobs for which We are fitted so we must take what we can get. We are used to taking what is left but if you were suddenly (made colored and forced into the things that we are laccustomed to, it would drive you mad!

But it is not impossible Miss Anne! You may think me) crazy but I can make you colored! I can make you see! the Negroes' side. Are you game?

Why yes-yes-but how can you do this seemingly impossible thing? SEE NEXT WEEK C
