(By Rev. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

Lesson for July 29

MICAHIAH SPEAKS THE TRUTH

LESSON TEXT—1 Kings 22:1-40. GOLDEN TEXT—And Micah said, As the Lord liveth, who the Lord saith unto me, that will I speak, I Kings 22:14.

PRIMARY TOPIC—A Man Who Told the Truth. JUNIOR TOPIC—A Man Who Dared to Tell the Truth.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Telling the Truth Under Difficulties. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Courageous Truth-Telling.

I. A League Between Two Kings (vv. 1-4).

1. Who these kings were (v. 2). a. Jehoshaphat, king of Judah. He was for the most part a good king, having done much to put down idolatry and restore the worship of the true God.

b. Ahab, king of Israel. He was a weak and wicked king.

2. The occasion (v. 2). It was on a visit of Jehoshaphat to Ahab, perhaps for the cultivation of a friendly relationship in case of an attack by the Syrians, or it may have been because of a social relation incident to the marriage of Jehoshaphat's son to Ahab's daughter, the wicked Athaliah.

3. The purpose of (v. 3, 4). It was a merger for the purpose of conquest. The fortified city of Ramoth-gilead had been ceded to Ahab as the result of a previous war, but it had not been actually turned over. Jehoshaphat pledged unreservedly the support of his people, without seeking the mind of God.

4. Advice From the Lord Sought (vv. 5-28). Even though the merger had been formed Jehoshaphat was unwilling to go into battle without inquiring of the Lord.

5. Through a group of prophets (v. 6; 9-12). Some four hundred prophets responded to the call of Ahab. Who those prophets were we are not told. Evidently they were not prophets of Baal (1 Kings 18:19); neither were they true prophets of the Lord. They knew Ahab's wish and therefore sought to carry favor with him by encouraging him to follow out his desire. Zedekiah, their leader, symbolized the success of the joint campaign by the use of horns of iron. Jehoshaphat sensed the falseness of these prophets.

6. A message from the Lord's prophet desired (v. 7). The king of Judah was unwilling to carry out his contract with Ahab without knowing the mind of God as to the matter. This he should have sought before consenting to the merger.

7. Micahiah speaks the truth (vv. 13-23). a. He first speaks in irony (v. 15). The king's messenger who brought Micahiah from prison advised him to speak that which would be pleasing to the king, but Micahiah was not a man-serve but God's faithful servant. He courageously declared that his message would be what God told him to say (v. 14). Regardless of result he would do only as God directed.

b. Micahiah speaks plainly (vv. 16-25). Ahab detected the prophet's ironic speech and demanded of him the plain truth. To this demand Micahiah responded by making clear the peril which awaited them. He also told Ahab that through lying spirits he would be lured to a place of death. This faithfulness on the part of God's prophet was rewarded by flouting and smiting by the false prophets and with imprisonment from the king. The true prophet will speak God's word regardless of consequences.

8. From Micahiah's experience we should learn: (1) The inevitable opposition between God's message and the purposes of evil men. This explains why true preachers of the Word of God are unpopular, and are called narrow and glum.

(2) The folly of the attitude of hatred against those who truly witness against them. Ahab hated Micahiah because Micahiah told him what would come to him for such a course of action. God's prophet did not make the evil but only made it known.

(3) The Doom of Ahab (vv. 29-40). 1. He went forth to battle in spite of Micahiah's warning. The issue proved that Micahiah was right.

2. He disguised himself as a common soldier. He thought to escape the predicted fate through disguise, but an arrow from the enemy pierced him in spite of his armor. Ahab died as predicted and his blood was licked by the dogs as Elijah had said (1 Kings 21:19). There is a bitter and coming to those who will not heed God's warning. The only way to escape death is to turn a new leaf.

3. The Church of God 2025 North 24th Street Rev. E. M. Ashley—Pastor Mrs. John Willis—Reporter

Sunday School met at 9:30 a. m. with Supt. Joe Edden, presiding. A wonderful lesson was taught afterwards; Rev. E. M. Ashley preached a wonderful sermon, and at 7:30 p. m. we had a good burning message, all were revived. The subject was, "Why Call Me Lord, Lord And Do Not The Things I Say."

Salem Baptist Church 22nd and Seward Street Rev. E. H. Hilson—Pastor Minnie Harris—Reporter

Salem Baptist Sunday school opened at 9:30 a. m., with a group of straggling youngsters on time. The lesson was revived by Mr. Joe Henderson, teacher of the boys senior class. Our Sunday school is planning for the August picnic. The Sunday school is also preparing a lunch for each child.

At 11 a. m. we listened to an impressive message from Rev. D. Nicholson, his subject was, "A Shining Example," text, St. Matthews 6:33. We always enjoy Rev. Nicholson's preaching.

The BYPU opened at 6 p. m., its opening hour with Mr. B. Turner acting president for one Sunday. A timely program was given by group No. 5, the immediate of the union.

Rev. Fort brought the sermon at 8 p. m., his subject was, "The Presence of Jesus." He spoke from his soul. He left with us much to think about.

The Mission Society of Salem is giving a special program on the Fifth Sunday, with Rev. Fort delivering the sermon.

Our pastor is out of the city at present. You are welcome all times.

Church of the Living God C. W. E. F. 2316 North 25th Street Rev. I. Graham—Asst. Pastor Cara Graham—Secretary

Sunday School opened at 9:30 a. m. with Supt. Robinson presiding. The Sunday school was well attended. The lesson was taught by Brother J. C. Day, teacher of the senior class.

At 11 a. m. Rev. M. Steels brought to us a remarkable sermon, his subject was, "Fear Ye Not; Stand Still and See the Salvation of the Lord." He also told us about a wonderful visit to Chicago, where the forty first annual assembly of the Church of the Living God C. W. E. was held.

At 8:30 p. m. Rev. J. Battles preached to us a soul stirring sermon. We are always glad to have visitors come to our church.

Choir rehearsal, Friday at 8 p. m.

St. Benedict's Church Rev. Father J. C. Daly—Pastor Madoline E. Sterling—Reporter

We are pleased to announce that Father Daly, who has been confined in the hospital for the past ten days, will be leaving today, to resume his regular duties at Craghton and St. Benedict's.

His sudden illness was brought on by an attack of high blood pressure, causing a severe nose bleed that was difficult to stop.

The St. Benedict's Study club, sponsored by the Altar Society, will meet every Tuesday evening, in the church club room, promptly at 8:00 p. m. Those who wish to learn more about their religion, the Mass, the Vestments and general church movements, locally and nationally are invited to attend this pleasant round table meeting and discuss their views with others.

We were very glad to have Father Boomer, S. J., to say Mass for us on last Sunday, during the absence of the pastor, Father Daly. Father Boomer has assisted with the work at St. Benedict's on several occasions, and is always a welcome guest and assistant.

The funeral of Miss Daisy James, was held at St. Benedict's, last Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, with a large crowd in attendance. Miss James was a recent convert to the faith and very much interested in the study of her religion. She was a patient sufferer, during her long illness and received the last rights of the church.

The B. Y. P. U. held an open air service in Humbolt Park. J. Harvey Kerns taught the adult group, Mr. Duffy the Junior Boys and Mrs. Gatus and Young had charge of the Primary and Junior Girls. The women and men rendered quartets respectively. Brief remarks were made by the pastor and president J. W. Dacus; afterwards a group picture was made. The group met at the church at 5:30 o'clock. Eight cars and one truck with about seventy-five persons were present. The president was all smiles. Other open air services will be held during the summer months. The ushers will present a love play in the very near future. R. T. Jowers was able to attend services Sunday for the first time since his accident. We were glad to have Mrs. Cora McIntosh worship with us Sunday morning.

PROVERBS AND PARABLES By A. B. Mann The Gods and Their Mills (For The Literary Service Bureau)

It is not difficult to understand the old aphorism which reads, "The mills of the gods grind slow, but exceeding fine." The inference is that retribution may be exceedingly slow in its approach, but most certainly will come. The axiom is a warning to all who may conclude it to be possible to continue wrong doing with impunity. This is the pagan idea of retributive justice. But it is in harmony with the Biblical declaration "Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he reap," and the modern version, "Your chickens will come home to roost."

LOOKING BACK By Videtta Ish (Mercenary Marriage) (For The Literary Service Bureau)

"In my mother's time people married for love. That might have been all right then, but it won't do now; so I'm marry for convenience." This was the frank statement of a young woman of twenty four. A school teacher compelled to "work in service" remarked, "I'm so tired of hard work; I am going to hunt me a husband to take care of me."

A young divorcee remarked, "Yes, I'm going to try again. The first time I was foolish enough to marry for love, but this time I'll marry for a living." She added, "Of course, he is homely and I just couldn't love a man that looks like him, but I need him as a meal ticket." A character istic expression is, "I consider it better to marry an old man; he'll be a fool about me and work himself to death for me."

Well, these are modern views of marriage but the martial wrecks testify that they are wrong—and distressive. Looking back, I remember

When love was considered the principal thing in marriage. And I do not hesitate to insist that there was far more material happiness than we have now.

HELP FROM THE GODS By R. A. Adams (For The Literary Service Bureau)

The gods are generous, indeed, not willing to human need. Yet, they will only help the man Who helps himself the best he can.

The gods would have all men to be Happy and prosperous, and free. But these alone on those bestow. Who help themselves the best they know.

Searching, 'twill be no task to find The gods help all of humankind. But reckon most deserving they, Who help themselves in every way.

So, all who would the gods implore, For blessings giv'n, or blessings more, Should know they've done their very best; Unto the gods then, I leave the rest.

GOD IN EXTREMITIES By R. A. Adams (The Literary Service Bureau)

There was a murder—gang murder. A rich, influential politician had been shot down at his very door. He was in a hospital, dying. His wife was weeping—and praying. She cried out, "O, God, don't let him die; don't take him away from me!" To friends who sought to comfort her, she urged, "Pray; pray to God for him; I don't want him to die." Then she resumed her prayer, "O, God, don't take him away."

These people belonged to the worldly element. Their religion is
