BYRON "SCRAPPY" JONES DIES IN SPAIN

Sam K. Greenleaf Appoints Arthur McCaw

POPULAR ACTOR TWO WEEKS AGO; DIED IN BARCELONA

BYRON "SCRAPPY" JONES

Byron "Scrappy" Jones, well known member of the theatrical world and the son of Mrs. P. S. Stovall, 2415 N. 22nd Street, died about two weeks ago in Barcelona, Spain, where he had been playing with Cook's Wagons Ltd.

Scrappy was born in Missouri in 1891, and after entering the theatrical world, he played with Florence Mills' Blackbirds, then with Miller and Lydie in Shuffle Along. He also teamed with Arthur Bryson. During this time he travelled through France Italy and Spain. He made quite a name for himself both nationally and internationally.

Byron "Scrappy" Jones died November 6, at St. Paul's Hospital, 6:30 p. m., at the age of forty-three years. He was buried before news of his death reached his family. "Scrappy" was also a World War veteran of Company M. 812 Pioneer.

He leaves to mourn his loss his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Stovall, four sisters, Mrs. Gertrude Murphy, of Cleveland, Ohio, Mrs. James Lapsley, of Chicago, Illinois, Mrs. Margaret Williams, of Lincoln, Nebraska, and Mrs. Juanita Burton, of Omaha, and one brother, Carl Jones, and a nephew, Benjamin F. Burton, Jr., also of Omaha.

Many friends and fans will mourn the passing of Byron "Scrappy" Jones.

Robert Wright Dies Of Appendicitis

Robert Wright, six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Wright, 2811 Miami Street, died Sunday, November 25th, at a local hospital of appendicitis. He leaves to mourn his loss his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Wright, a grand-mother, Mrs. Gertrude Mayberry, 2518 Lake, and many little playmates.

Federal Emergency Relief Administration

Harry L. Hopkins, Administrator of the FERA has made an appropriation of $1,000,000 for public health service and appointed Dr. C. E. Walle, Assistant Surgeon-General in charge of State Relations of the United States Public Health Service, as medical director of the Federal Emergency Relief Administration.

The funds will be used to augment the work of established health services of counties co-operating with the United States Public Health Service.

In states where no county unit health service has been set up a State director will be approved by Dr. Walle. His job will be to organize and aid local health officials in promoting health programs in every county. The states will be expected to do their share in carrying on this work.

In many states such has been done in public health and medical service, though limited by lack of funds. Trained personnel and supervision are generally available.

"The foundation is well laid," said Dr. Walle, "we must continue to build a public health service to meet every American's medical needs regardless of race, creed or financial condition."

Dr. Walle is now on a tour of the country visiting State Relief Administrators. He also will contact leaders in the medical profession, health officials and heads of hospitals in his official capacity in order to discuss problems which have arisen during the past few years. Dr. Walle commented upon the successful post-graduate arrangement recently affected through Edwin R. Embree, director of the Rosenwald Fund; Doctors Davis, Moran and Bouscald, with whom he conferred during the national conference called by Dr. Roscoe Brown at the United States health service in Washington. At that time it was brought out that much has been done to make available hospital facilities for post-graduate work and care of Negro patients by their own family doctors in Carolina, Georgia and Louisiana.

Dr. Walle cited the FERA rules and regulations No. 7 governing medical care provided in the home to recipients of unemployment relief. These assure equal consideration for all members of the medical profession. Paragraph "b" reads:

"Licensed practitioners of medicine and related professions—When a program of medical care in the home for indigent persons has been officially adopted, participation shall be open to all physicians licensed to practice medicine in the State, subject to local statutory limitations and the general policy outlined in regulation 1, above. Physicians authorized by relief officials to give medical care under this program shall have accepted, or shall be willing to accept the regulations and restrictions inherent in such a program. In order to provide adequate medical care it may be desirable for local relief officials to maintain on a district basis a list or file of physicians in the community who have agreed in writing to comply with the officially adopted program. Such a list of physicians should also facilitate a more equitable distribution of orders for medical services.

"A similar policy and procedure shall be followed in the preparation of approved lists of nurses, dentists and pharmacists. Licensure and, or, restriction to practice their respective professions in the State shall be a prerequisite to approval of graduate nurses, dentists, and pharmacists for authorized participation in the officially approved State program for the provision of medical care for indigent persons in their homes."

Economic Highlights

Happenings That Affect the Dinner Pails, Dividend Checks and Tax Bills of Every Individual. National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare.

The three great Pacific powers—the United States, Great Britain and Japan—are at present involved in a complicated embroglio, with counterplots, quiet diplomacy and plain ordinary hard feelings dominating the proceedings, and with the chance of armed conflict in the offing.

As Raymond Leslie Buell recently pointed out in a feature article in the New York Times, the three-power naval discussions, now going on in London, have reached an impasse because of disagreement over three vital issues:

First, the military question, involving Japan's demand for naval parity with Great Britain and America (the present ratio is 5-5-3, with Nippon on the short end);

Second, the political question, involving Japan's ambition to expand into Asia;

Third, the commercial question, involving the expansion of Japanese foreign trade, at the expense of England and the United States.

Japan has flatly refused to continue the existing naval ratio—she demands parity and threatens to sign no more treaties, when the present one runs out in 1936, unless it is given her. Both England and the U. S. are afraid to agree to parity—yet each nation knows that if Japan starts building ships, undeterred by treaties, they will have to follow.

The result would be a gigantic naval race, costing hundreds of millions of dollars, and increasing the chances for war. Once a nation newly develops a first-class naval or military machine, it is inevitably eager to try it out on some adversary.

Japan needs new territory in order to provide space for its people—she is vastly overpopulated at present. However, the Japanese are poor colonizers—they seem to possess little pioneering instinct. For example, some years ago Japanese officials made a determined effort to send emigrants to Korea. They offered substantial payment, both in land and in cash, to those who would go. Yet only a handful of the underfed, underpaid, overworked Japanese peasants were willing to take on the job. As a result, it seems certain that colonization is a comparatively small item in Nippon's ambition to move eastward.

The third issue, that of commerce, is one of the most irksome. It's a well known fact that the Japanese are poor innovators—but magnificent imitators. If someone starts manufacturing a product in a western country, the Japanese are usually able to produce a competitive product, as good or almost as good, at a fraction of the price.

Between 1931 and 1933, Japan increased her world exports of rayon yarn by 322 per cent; her exports of woolen yarn by 514 per cent; her exports of woolen piece goods by 788 per cent. In addition, she is sending other products into the world market, to be sold at prices American and English manufacturers cannot meet.

This is food for thought, and I am asking that we will receive cooperation to the extent that something will materialize that will be beneficial to this section.

Thanking you very much, Respectfully yours, Dr. G. B. Lennox

Says 24th Street Is Traffic Hazard

Chief of the Police Department Robt. P. Samardick 929 S. 42 St. Omaha, Nebr.

Dear Mr. Samardick: I took it up with Mr. Allen at the time he was chief of this department in regards to the traffic on 24th street following several accidents that occurred. At that time I asked for slow down signs between Grace and Burdette Streets. These streets are so narrow, and those passing sometimes fail to see cars coming or going when coming from behind parked cars. They stated that in front of the theatre there should be no parked cars. I could not see the benefit of this. This was started but not continued. In those communities where streets are narrow, coming into a highway, there are stop signs.

For the protection of the public I would suggest and think it advisable, between Cuming and Maple streets, to put stop signs in the streets entering 24th street.

There have been eight people killed in the past two years which accidents I believe could have been avoided if this section had had more protection. Regardless of how large or how small one may be, one's life is worth everything to him, and once destroyed cannot be replaced.

This is food for thought, and I am asking that we will receive cooperation to the extent that something will materialize that will be beneficial to this section.

Thanking you very much, Respectfully yours, Dr. G. B. Lennox

COUNTY ASSESSOR HIRSH REGULAR CLERK TO OFFICE

County Assessor Sam K. Greenleaf only republican candidate to survive the Democratic landslide in the November 6th election, goes the honor of appointing the first one of our group to a position in the new administration.

Arthur B. McCaw was appointed a regular clerk in Mr. Greenleaf's office, December 1. Mr. McCaw takes the position formerly held by John A. Smith.

This appointment makes good the assurance Mr. Greenleaf gave his colored friends months before the election that he would give us a regular clerk in his office at the first opportunity. During his ten years as county Assessor Mr. Greenleaf has been unusually fair in his treatment of our group, not only in the matter of the reduction of taxes and whenever possible, but also in giving us more employment in his office than any other public official in the county. This new appointment of Mr. McCaw clearly demonstrates that Mr. Greenleaf is a man of his word, a friend to our group and that he appreciates the support we have always given him.

Mr. McCaw is a young man of sterling qualities, honest, capable and dependable. He received his education in the Omaha public schools, studied law at Omaha University and is a member Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity. He is married and has two lovely children. His appointment seems to meet with the general approval of the community. Mr. McCaw's friends confidently expect him to fill the position with credit to himself and to the group he represents.

Mr. McCaw was endorsed by a committee consisting of Mrs. Cecilia W. Jewell who handled Mr. Greenleaf's campaign in the north end, Mr. Isaac Bailey, Mr. E. W. Killingsworth and Representative Elect John Adams, Jr.

INJURED IN PRACTICE FOR THANKSGIVING DAY GAME

Mr. Leonard Harold, 2727 Franklin Street, was injured Thanksgiving Day while warming-up for the football game in which he was scheduled to play. Mr. Harold's left leg was very badly sprained, and since then, he has not been able to walk. He is recuperating at the home of his aunt at 2415 Caldwell Street.

After a series of talks on "Party Manner," the Blue Triangle Club were guests of their club sponsor, Mrs. Lois Goode, on Thursday November 22, 1934 at the Y. W. C. A. Well selected games afforded entertainment, refreshments, and as well as palatable and tasty were served.
