

ATTACK ON BAR ASSOCIATION OPENS THE DEFENSE OF BERNARD ADES

Baltimore, Md.—Proceedings to disbar Bernard Ades from practice in the state courts of Maryland opened last week in a crowded courtroom with an attack by the defense on the exclusion of Negro attorneys from the Baltimore City Bar Association.

Joseph R. Brodsky, chief counsel for the International Labor Defense appearing on behalf of Ades, eloquently and forcefully argued for the dismissal of the charges against Ades preferred by the Baltimore Bar Association on the ground that the Association excluded Negroes from membership and that such charges against Ades upon Ades' defense of Negroes the charges and entire proceedings are improper and unlawful. He drew an analogy between the formulation of charges by the Association, a quasi-judicial function, and the return of an indictment by a grand jury and argued that systematic exclusion of Negroes in either case was unconstitutional.

The prosecution of Ades, attorney for the I. L. D., and Communist Party candidate for governor of Maryland in the last election, arises out of the fight he waged against the exclusion of Negroes from juries on the Eastern shore of Maryland in the cases of Euel Lee, Paso Jupiter, and George Davis, and that he continues to wage generally on Jim-Crowism in the South. A previous effort to muzzle Ades resulted in his suspension from the bar of the Federal district court for six months; although disbarment was refused in that instance and Ades was reinstated he was "reprimanded" by the court. The present attempt to disbar Ades is brought before nine judges of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore assembled to hear this case. His defense is conducted by Joseph Brodsky and Edward Kuntz who has handled many I. L. D. cases, and who participated in the cross-examination of the prosecution witnesses.

to the struggle against legal lynching and discrimination against Negroes and who was himself on one occasion brutally beaten and almost lynched is charged with attempting to incite race prejudice and also with "unwarrented" criticism of judges.

Ades suspended from Bar Six Months Baltimore, Md.—Suspension for three months from practice of the law was ordered for Bernard Ades, International Labor Defense attorney, last week by the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City, because he fought for the rights of Negroes in the Euel Lee case.

In his trial last week, Ades, represented by Joseph Brodsky, chief counsel for the I. L. D., and Edward Kuntz, of the I. L. D. legal staff, challenged the whole proceedings on disbarment charges on the basis that they were brought by a Jim-Crow City Bar Association, bearing the same relation to the Supreme Bench as a grand jury to a criminal court. Proof was given, through examination of the officials of the bar association that Negroes are systematically excluded from the association on account of race and color.

The charges against Ades were the same that were brought against him in federal court, on which he was acquitted.

Ades, who has bent all his energies quit last spring.
