DOINGS AMONG THE DINING CAR AND HOTEL WAITERS
By Hopie

Dear Friends:
I sometimes wonder if I am safe in using the words, "Dear Friends". Yet I have spent several years beside you and to date haven't received any bad marks on my face or body.

"To tell a friend it's hard to do
No matter how hard you try
To tell a friend that's loyal and true
You must add, subtract, and multiply,

MAXIE MILLER WRITES
(For The Literary Service Bureau)
(For advice, write to Maxie Miller, care of Literary Service Bureau, 516 Minnesota Ave., Kansas City, Kans. For personal reply send self-addressed stamped envelope.)
Maxie Miller: I am a girl seventeen so to junior high school and keep company with a boy eighteen. Used to go with him one year, five months and thirteen days before we quit. We went back together. He used to go with a girl older than he was. Now she wants to fight me. He said he didn't love any girl but me. His parents and his sisters like me and want me to marry him. I really love him. What should I do?—Z. J. C.
Z. J. C.: Seventeen is too young to marry. Don't know your own mind. Better go finish your education if you can, or you will regret it. If you cannot or just will not go to school, then marry this boy, if you love him, since he is acceptable to your home folks and you are to his. But again, better go to school a while longer.
