GUARDMEN CALLED OUT

To avert nation-wide protest over a possible lynching, the state and county officials rushed National Guardsmen here to "protect" Coyner from lynch mobs.

He was brought here from Jackson, Miss., in what the authorities describe as a "lynch-proof" baggage car, manned by "two hundred steel-helmeted soldiers."

Early Monday morning, he was taken before the grand jury who indicted him in a few minutes. He was arraigned in court and a jury was chosen within 30 minutes. A lily-white jury convicted Coyner and Judge Alcorn sentenced him on the evening of the same day.

MISSISSIPPI LED LYNCHING IN 1934

Early press reports quote District Attorney Greek P. Rice as stating that Coyner had signed a confession. In court, this statement was exploded when Coyner pleaded "not guilty."

Eight Negroes were lynched by Mississippi mobs in 1934. The highest number in the country. In many of these lynchings, police officers and sheriffs handed over the victims to the lynch mobs. Nation-wide protest flooded the responsible Mississippi authorities. This year, the state and county officials, anxious to avoid mass indignation and protest have ordered out troops to "protect" Negroes charged with crime from lynch mobs for a court-sanctioned death by hanging.

Callie ran into 414 N. 14th Street and escaped to her home where she was picked up later. Vera was carried into 402 N. 14th Street and later removed to Lord Lister Hospital, where the bullet was removed.

DINING CAR WAITERS PETITION

Dining Car Waiters Petition To Invoke the Services of the U. S. Board of Mediation in the Dispute Between Local 465, Representing Dining Car Waiters of the Union Pacific System, and the Union Pacific System.

After three (3) weeks of formal labor conference with officials of the Union Pacific System at Omaha, representatives for the employees have reported to their membership that they have been unable to reach any satisfactory terms as to wages, hours and working conditions.

According to Solon C. Bell, General President of the Protective Order of Dining Car Waiters, Local 465, representing the dining car waiters on the Union Pacific System, the U. S. Mediation Board has been officially notified that its services are invoked. Further, President Bell stated that the employees have prepared their case along with other necessary data and forwarded the same to the U. S. Board of Mediation.

The two principal demands of the employees are the establishment of the principle of the 240-hour work month, and to equitably settle the question of seniority rights. The management's position on the above demands has been entirely uncompromising, and they have definitely refused to grant either of the two principal demands.

The organization now awaits official notification from the U. S. Board of Mediation as to its acceptance of the case. According to President Bell, there is no doubt that the Board will accept and will dispatch a Mediator at the earliest possible time.

Simmons, who thus accounted for the missing articles, was quick to "identify" Pollard when Officers Abbot and Cook arrested the youth after searching the South Side for someone upon whom to pin the robbery charge.
