Inevitable result will be a boom in the munitions industries—and another long step toward European war. Every European country will, supposedly in self-defense, also increase armaments and armies. It is easy for diplomats to speak soothingly of security and to avow peaceful intentions—it is a historical fact that nations with first class military machines usually want to try them out when they think the time is ripe.

Armed forces of principal nations total: Russia, 830,000, with 15,000,000 reserves; Great Britain, 200,000, with 280,000 reserves; France, 584,000, with 6,000,000 reserves; Italy, 437,000, with 5,000,000 reserves; Poland, 325,000, with 1,700,000 reserves. The United States, by way of comparison, has an army of 135,000, with 309,000 reserves.

MOB HANGS NEGRO BOY FROM OAK TREE SECOND LYNCHING IN '35

Maringouin, La.—Because he dared to protect himself from the assault of a white man, Anderson Ward, became the second known victim of lynching this year.

Town officials allowed the body to hang from the bough of an oak tree for several hours before they cut it down, in the hope, no doubt, that the sight would terrorize the Negro population of the neighborhood.

Ward and a white man, Dennis Brudroe, had an argument on the afternoon of February 24th. Brudroe, drew his gun in an attempt to shoot Ward, but the gun failed to explode. Meanwhile Ward struck out to protect himself, but actually dealt no blows because another Negro drew him away.

As soon as news of the affair spread, a lynch gang of about 25 started a man hunt for Ward. Although he was locked in the local jail, no real effort was made to protect him and the mob easily broke in and seized him.

When Ward's body was found, swinging from a branch, it was discovered to be full of gunshot wounds. To prevent his making any cry for help, the lynchers had gagged him with a bandage.

A swift and efficient white-wash, with the usual verdict of killing "by parties unknown" has been made by the town officials.

PRESSING FOR THE PRIZE

By R. A. Adams
(For the Literary Service Bureau)

Discouragements are everywhere, And oft we're tempted to despair, But all who may be truly wise, Will still keep pressing for the prize.

Day after day, always ahead, Are paths unknown our feet must tread;

Dangers portentous arise, But failure means to lose the prize.

Life is compared unto a race, And one must fainting courage brace, For all that still before him lies, And still press onward toward the prize.

Who would attain to high renown, And wear, at last the victor's crown, Must hellish furies all despise, And press on ever, toward the prize.

PROVERBS AND PARABLES

By A. B. Mann
(For the Literary Service Bureau)

Where There's Breath There's Hope
This is from the Latin maxim which runs "Dun spiro, spero"—"While I breathe I hope." This a fierce slap in the face of the whining pessimist and the abject coward.

Life is not gone until the last breath is gone. As long as life remains there is hope of its extension. And hope for its extension means hope for the opportunity to prosecute any work yet incomplete.

Hope is a cardinal virtue. Except love it is the most enduring. It is a treasure which lost means poverty and utter discouragement. So, one should never allow circumstances to extinguish the flame of hope. Of hope Alexander Pope wrote:

"Hope springs eternal in the human breast
Man never is, but always to be blessed;
and this is the secret of human progress."

ASKS FEDERAL ACTION IN MISSISSIPPI LYNCHING

Third Mob Murder of 1935 Was Interstate Kidnapping and Can Be Classified Under Lindbergh Law, Says White.

New York, March, 1935—A request that the federal government act against the kidnapers and lynchers of Ab Young, put to death by a mob in a school yard at Slayden, Miss., March 12, was telegraphed to President Roosevelt and Attorney General Homer S. Cummings by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People as soon as the lynching became known.

Young was captured at Rossville, Tenn., and transported across the state line into Mississippi where he was hanged and shot. He was accused of murdering a white highway employee. The NAACP telegram to Attorney General Cummings, signed by Walter White, secretary, declared the federal government had the power to act under the Lindbergh kidnapping law and said: "In the name of the laws which you have taken a solemn oath to uphold we vigorously insist that your department proceed at once against the kidnapers of Young yesterday."

To President Roosevelt the NAACP secretary cited the Young lynching as the third in 1935 and the second in five months where a victim has been transported across a state line. He called upon the Chief Executive to spur the Department of Justice to action and to urge immediately the passage of the Costigan-Wagner anti-lynching bill which has just been reported favorably out of committee.

According to a special story in the Memphis Press-Scimitar, Young was captured and held prisoner in the school house just outside of Slayden from noon until 4:10 p. m., when he was hanged. During this time practically the whole town was arguing whether Young should be turned over to officers rushing there from Holly Springs, Miss. or whether he should be burned alive. It seems the argument was about fifty-fifty, with more in favor of burning, but those in favor of the law were very stubborn, though outnumbered. While the argument was at its height about fifty men are said to have become "disgusted." They left in automobiles and hanged Young quickly by driving a truck out from under him. They then returned to town and told the rest of the population that the argument was "all settled."

It is said Young's neck was not broken by the crude method of hanging. He slowly strangled to death. While he was in his last agonies, a few of the younger whites began shooting at his body for fun. More and more joined in taking "pot shots" at the swinging corpse until it was riddled with bullets.

A jury quickly returned a verdict of death at the hands of "parties unknown." It is certain that local and state authorities will take no further action.

The text of the NAACP telegram to President Roosevelt:

"The third lynching of nineteen thirty-five took place yesterday at Slayden, Mississippi when Ab Young, suspected of murder, was killed by a mob. This is the second instance within the last five months where a victim was kidnapped by a mob and transported across a state line. Young was seized according to the Associated Press by a mob at Rossville, Tennessee, taken across the state line into Mississippi and there lynched. This is unquestionably a clear violation of the so-called Lindbergh Kidnaping Law which provides for federal action in cases of kidnapping or abduction "for ransom reward or otherwise." The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and cooperating organizations with a total membership of forty-two million working for passage of federal legislation against lynching respectfully but vigorously urge two courses of immediate action upon you as leader of the American people. First, we urge you to order the Department of Justice to proceed against the kidnapers of Ab Young under federal legislation against kidnapping. Failure of Department of Justice to act in the notorious kidnapping of Claude Neal last October from Brewton, Alabama, and transportation across the state line into Florida where he was lynched with abnormal bestiality has caused profound criticism of the inactivity of the Department of Justice. We urge that the department be not permitted again to be guilty of misfeasance. Second, we ask you immediately to urge upon Congress prompt passage of the Costigan-Wagner bill which on Monday was favorably reported by the senate judiciary committee."

KNOCKED UNCONSCIOUS BY AUTOMOBILE

Mrs. Florence Terril, the wife of Dr. 'rice Terril, was knocked unconscious Thursday at 1:30 P. M. by a taxi cab at 16th and Douglas St. She was picked up and rushed to Police Station for emergency treatment.

Dr. Wiggins was called in to take charge of the case. The Police Surgeon said that Mrs. Terril should be sent to the Hospital for a few days and await developments. But after consultation between Dr. Wiggins and Dr. Price Terril it was decided to take Mrs. Terril to her home. She is now confined to her bed with severe pains in the lower part of her limbs. She is under the care of Dr. Herbert Wiggins.

Among those who have been working to influence their Congressmen and the House and Senate Committees are Dr. William M. DeBerry of Springfield, Mass.; W. T. NEGRO BEATEN TO DEATH; NOT FAST ENOUGH

New York.—CNA—Last Wednesday night a pedestrian was beaten to death at the corner of 134 Street and Seventh Avenue, by five policemen, because he "did not move fast enough" on the streets.

BOY ATTACKED IN STORE IS STILL MISSING.

New York.—CNA—Last week the "New York Evening Journal," Hearst chain newspaper, and other New York daily newspaper-ers, displayed the picture of Lino Rivera, a 16-year old Negro boy, whom they claim was the boy attacked in the Kress store at 125th Street near Seventh Avenue. These papers published statements from the boy that he was "unhurt" by the Kress detectives, and was sent "safely home."

It has not yet been definitely established here that young Rivera was the boy who was attacked in the Kress store last Tuesday night.

Rumors are current that the boy who was actually attacked has never been found.

The Urban League previously had endorsed the bill, being among the first to do so.
