

THE JOYEUX BRIDGE CLUB

The Joyeux Bridge Club met at the home of the president, Mr. Walter L. Seals, 2808 Binney St., Wednesday evening, March 27th in their regular bi-monthly meeting. They received congratulations for their second annual tournament which was held February 27, 28 and March 1st, at the Masonic Hall. The general expression was to the high and complimentary manner in which this affair was carried out.

The evening was engaged in complying with a change which was necessary so that Mr. Southard could participate in playing bridge. Due to his employment on certain nights of the week, he would be deprived of playing with the club; so to meet this situation the club voted to move from the second and fourth Wednesday nights to the second and fourth Monday nights for the balance of the season.

Mrs. Seals served a dinner that will long be remembered by the club. And did one of our group destroy food. However, a vote of thanks was extended the hostess which was very sincere.

The next meeting will be held April 8th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Southard, 2617 Erskine Street.

THE OMAHA COMMUNITY BIBLE FORUM

The last lesson was closed with God's Judgment on the Wicked, the Kings of the Earth, the Great Men, the Rich Men, the Chief Captains, every Bondsman and every free Man, who hid themselves in the dens and in the rocks of the mountains and said to the rocks, "Fall on us, and hide us from the face of Him that sitteth on the Throne, and of the Lamb".

In our next lesson in St. John, a view of the Church Militant is given, giving forth under the seal of their God. And the church is triumphant. No man could count the multitude.

We meet at 2010 N. 27th Street, Thursday, at 7:30 p. m.

OMAHA URBAN LEAGUE NEWS

Buddy DeLoach

The Emanon Dramatic Club presented a play, "Too Much Matrimony", starred by Hildred Harvey, and Hattie Northington, playing the leads. Hildred Harvey as "Phil", the part was played wonderfully. Hattie North-ington, as "Florence", who also did more than justice to her part also. Other members of the cast, Ethel Hunter as "Aunt Julia" played her part well also. Leonard Turner, as the "tough guy" really played his part. Florentine Renfrow, as "Hattie" was also splendid in her part. The Emanon Dramatic Club presents "Too Much Matrimony", at Christ Child Community Center the second week in April, prior to entering the contest of all the Centers of Omaha.

Each member of the Club was out. The next production to be put out by the Emanon Dramatic Club will be the "Invisible Clue", to be given next month at the Monthly Family night held at the Omaha Urban League Community Center, the last Friday in April. All is under the supervision and direction of Mr. Buddy DeLoach.

A Chorus of pretty young girls, headed by Bernice Dorsey did a special number. Other members of the Chorus are:

Ola McCraney, Mildred Dorsey, Carrie Moore, Cleo Sayles, Lorraine Irving, Adelaide Nelson. This Chorus was known as the Mid-City Ridgetts. Mr. DeLoach declares that there is much latent talent to be developed among our group. He has already had offers for a Chorus of Sixteen girls to play in a down-town Theatre. These young ladies are very promising.

The Ballroom Dancing Department, under the direction of Mrs. Dell Lewis, put on a Tango Number, which was also a great success.

A play titled "Breakfast" was also presented, headed by Harold Biddieux, and Lelia Wright, other players were Ellen M. Walker, Milton Moore, Gene Terrill, Walthree Wright. This was staged under the joint supervision of Miss Rowland and Mr. DeLoach.

Mrs. Dell Lewis, also presented a Health play, in keeping with Negro Health week.

The full personnel of the Staff turned out, and the Auditorium was filled to capacity. All in all the Program was a great success. You are all cordially invited to an evening of real entertainment. Remember, bring your family, the last Friday of the Month.

The program was capably directed by Mrs. E. Singleton, with Mr. J. Har-vee Kerns, as the Man behind the Hammer.

Theatre Offered Rent Free For Harlem Play

New York—Harlem lovers of community inspired and community managed drama have an opportunity to launch a program in a regular commercial house at no rent expense, according to Frank Schiffman, manager of the Lafayette Theatre, 7th avenue and 131st street, who closed the house last week. For several weeks the Lafayette, formerly a vaudeville center, has been running as a motion picture theatre.

Mr. Schiffman, who is centering his vaudeville interests at the Harlem Opera House in 125th street, where he is managing director, said if a group of responsible people organized themselves into a dramatic company and came to him in a businesslike way he would give the use of the Lafayette free of rent as his contribution to the effort to revive drama in Harlem.

He said all the theatre expense the group would have would be current, such as lighting and janitorial. Mr. Schiffman said also he would be glad to give such a group his professional advice, enabling them to save money on costumes, etc., and would help in every way possible as a friend of the drama to help make the project a success. He said he has long wanted to see the drama revived in Harlem, but was not able to undertake it himself, in view of his other theatrical interests.

The Lafayette, the oldest playhouse in Harlem and long noted as the finest colored playhouse in America, has a colorful history.

The Lafayette Players became famous fifteen years ago, and many of them later achieved stardom on Broadway.

To Lecture on Estonia at Spelman College

Atlanta, Ga., March 20.—(Special)—Dr. Elizabeth Judas, lecturer and teacher of Estonia, the new independent republic, spoke at Spelman College yesterday morning. She appeared in her native costume.

As a teacher for ten years in Estonian, Latvian, and Russian schools, Doctor Judas saw revolution and social change taking place before the door of her school. She was an eye witness of scenes in the World War and the Estonian War of Independence.

Doctor Judas was the wife of a member of the Czar's secret service, and is a niece of the late Dr. Lepikov, who served Alexander III and Nicholas II.

In her lecture yesterday, Doctor Judas told her audience of her personal acquaintance with Rasputin. She branded as false many stories that have been written about him and scored the propagandists who have represented him as an unprincipled person inimical to the welfare of the Russian people. Doctor Judas is now working on a study of Rasputin which will appear in the near future under the title "Rasputin—Neither Devil Nor Saint".

Doctor Judas first came to the United States in 1929 to learn the English language and to study in American schools. She represented her country at the World's Fair as an international hostess at the Black Forest Village.

During the last three years she has lectured in the United States as well as abroad in France, Germany, Finland, Latvia, and Estonia.

At the conclusion of her lecture Doctor Judas sang two Russian and two Estonian songs.
