

EVERY GOODBYE ISN'T GONE, WRITES YOUNG GIRL IN ANSWER TO THE MARRIED ISSUE

South Carolina Miss Writes Good Letter On "Should Single Girl Go Around With A Married Man."

Box 7 D, Nismith, S. C., April 2, 1935.

Dear Miss Evans: In reply to the question, "Should a single girl go around with a married man, even though he is separated from his wife?" I wish to say that I don't think that a single girl should go around with a married man, even though he and his wife are separated, unless she is sure that he has his divorce and his former wife has re-married.

First, ever, "goodbye" is not gone; and there is always a chance for divorced couples to make up, re-marry and live a happy and successful life—profiting by their mistakes as they sometimes do.

What makes a married man or woman so desirable to the single member of the opposite sex; I am unable to explain. But it must be nature that we desire the things that are beyond our reach, or the things that are hardest for us to obtain. These things for the most part, often seem pleasing and most beautiful to us, and in our anxiety to own them, to have them ourselves, we don't stop to realize that the things that are most pleasing to the eye may be most damaging to the soul.

Here is a man who is separated from his wife and is "planning" to secure a divorce. He still has a feeling of tenderness for her and she for him (as do most couples who have separated), but they both need to be awakened to the fact that this estrangement might be easily rectified.

He realizes that the easiest way to effect a reconciliation in a love affair is to make the former mate jealous.

He chooses for his prey a very popular, amiable and alluring young lady. He takes her time and is very nice to her. In return, she falls deeply in love with him. He rushes her awhile and then proposes. She accepts his proposal and maps out an impossible future.

The news is spread that they will be married as soon as he gets a divorce. The intelligence reaches the ears of the estranged wife who feels that if there is an thing she can do, the marriage will never materialize.

His fiancée is very much concerned about his getting his divorce, while he puts her off, telling her that he will get it in time. In the meanwhile he seeks a reconciliation with his wife, or maybe she feels that this has "run" long enough and seeks a reconciliation of her own accord. Just the end he had been working toward.

Thus, he leaves the single girl "out in the cold again" with a sympathetic little, "I'm sorry, but we've decided to try again." Then maybe he will try to calm his conscience with the old saying, "Everything is fair in war and love."

Now, this may not be true in every case, but it has happened and what has happened can happen again. How is she to know that it won't happen in her case?

I think a single girl had better go slow with a married man or she might find herself singing "Everybody Knows You've Left Me, It's the Talk of the Town."

Thanking you very much for the privilege of expressing myself on this subject, I am,

Yours very truly,
(Mrs.) Willie H. Gerald

Wage increases of about 35 per cent and ad cut in hours of approximately 20 per cent, compared with those prevalent July 1, 1933, are expected to result from adoption of the wholesale and retail automobile sales, supply, repair, maintenance and service industry code for the territory of Hawaii, approved by the National Industry Recovery Board. The Code establishes a basic 44 hour maximum work week, with stated exceptions and a $12 minimum weekly wage. A territorial code authority will consist of 8 members equitably selected to represent various interests in the industry.

A code of fair competition has been approved by the NIRA for the zinc industry. It provides for a basic 40 hour week averaged over 3 month periods at minimum wages varying between 30 and 47 1/2 cents per hour. The order of approval limits the averaging provisions operation to 60 days after which they shall be automatically stayed and the code amended, and it also requires an impartial investigator to review conditions in certain areas for the purpose of reporting to the Board the amount of adjustment of Code wages possible in those districts. The NIRA after reviewing the report may deem it necessary to modify the minimum code wage provisions in the surveyed areas. There are approximately 12,800 people employed in the industry 2.3 of them underground.

Members of the research and planning committee for the cotton textile industry have been announced by the NIRA as follows: Mr. Goldwaite H. Door, President of the cotton textile institute, Mr. Paul B. Halstead, Secretary of the code authority; Mr. Ray Bell, President and Secretary of the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants and Mr. James T. Davis of NRA's Research and Planning Division. This committee is directed to investigate conditions in the industry and to formulate proposed action toward adjusting available productive capacity in those groups of industry where it may be necessary to meet present inadequate consumer demand.

A code for the middle Atlantic preparing and or wholesaling division of the fishery industry has been approved by the NIRA. The code covers approximately 700 establishments with an annual business of 40 million dollars, employing about 7,600 wage earners. Office employees are restricted to a 40 hour week and an 8 hour day with a proviso that during any 12 weeks in any one year, they may work 45 hours per week. Other employees may not work more than 54 hours a week of 9 hours per day. Office employees are to be paid a minimum wage of $18 per week with exceptions for office boys and certain wage differentials according to population. A representative Executive Committee is provided for to administer the divisional code under the code authority for the fishery industry.

The code authority for the pretzel industry has proposed an amendment to the approved code which would permit it to work with the department of agriculture in order to formulate standards of ingredients, products, nomenclature, terminology and packing for the industry. The executive secretary of the code authority shall be entitled to obtain information from industry members relative to the formulation of these standards, and within 3 months after the approval of this provision, the code authority wishes to submit a set of standards for the pretzel industry which after necessary administrative procedure shall be made part of the code and binding upon every member of the industry.

Happy are we if on the body of the resurrection we can bear the face with which victorious Christians leave earth—Samuel Willoughby Duffield.

A GIRL'S PROBLEMS

By Videtta Ish

Alta Vesta to her Father—No. 6
Dear Father: It seems that all my letters have problems, but you said write them to you. Aunt Cornelia is wonderful and she is always patient with me, but I like to know what you think of my conduct and what you want me to do.

I am so glad you are pleased with the way I acted in regard to the little colored children as well as the poor white ones. I pity both kinds of them. I think I like all children and if I had my way, they all would have just plenty of nice things like your little girl has. They could too, if they had a nice sweet daddy like mine.

Well, Daddy, my new problem is about children too. I didn't think there could be so much about children, but there are new things coming up all the time. Now this is about two girls that people say are not such good girls. They say some bad things sometimes, if the people tell the truth on them, and sometimes they go away from home when their mothers don't know where they are. Called bad in the neighborhood, and lots of the good girls will not play with them. These bad girls like me, and they are so nice and pleasant that I like to go with them. Maybe I can help them to be good little girls if I go with them. Aunt Cornelia told me to ask you about it. What do you say? Must I be mean to them because people say bad things about them? I will do whatever you say, because you always know what is right and what is best, and because you love me and I love you. Lots of love—Alta Vesta.

YOUR CHILD AND THE SCHOOL

By Dr. ALLEN G. IRELAND
Director, Physical and Health Education
New Jersey State Department of Public Instruction

Hobby Horse
To ride a hobby horse is becoming quite the stylish thing to do. And not to do it may be indeed a serious matter.

Look at it in this light. Where are the jobs for the rising generations? What are the boys and girls leaving school going to do? Where are they going? What will satisfy their natural eagerness for life, activity, and adventure? Facing that problem brings more than a little worry. It should and does give cause for concern.

The only solution facing the school is to go into the hobby business seriously. Give those restless hands and idle minds something to do, something interesting, appealing. Radio making. Dramatics. Music. Art. Sports. Clubs. The list is long. Ask help of your local or county library or state department of education. Write to the National Recreation Association or the Leisure Time Institute, both of New York City.

Education takes place on the playground as well as in the classroom. Dr. Ireland explains how in his next article.

Saved by new Vitamins of Cod Liver Oil in tasteless tablets.
Pounds of firm healthy flesh instead of bare scraggy bones! New vigor, vim and energy instead of tired listlessness! Steady, quiet nerves! That is what thousands of people are getting through scientists' latest discovery—the Vitamins of Cod Liver Oil concentrated in little sugar coated tablets without any of its horrid, fishy taste or smell. McCoys' Cod Liver Oil Tablets, they're called! "Cod Liver Oil in Tablets", and they simply work wonders. A little boy of 8, seriously sick, not well and gained 10 1/2 lbs. in just one month. A girl of thirteen after the same disease, gained 3 lbs. the first week and 2 lbs. each week after. A young mother who could not eat or sleep after baby came got all her health back and gained 10 lbs. in less than a month.
You simply must try McCoys' at once. Remember if you don't gain at least 3 lbs. of firm healthy flesh in a month get your money back. Demand and get McCoys'—the original and genuine "Cod Liver Oil in Tablets"—approved by Good Housekeeping Institute. Refuse all substitutes—trust on the name—McCoys'—there are none better.
