OMAHA COMMUNITY BIBLE FORUM

Last Thursday night we returned to our regular line of study in Revelations, 9th chapter. "The Fifth Angel Sounded, and I Saw a Star Fall From Heaven Onto the Earth and to Him Was Given the Key of the Bottomless Pit." Of course, this is metaphoric. The star that fell is the Prince of the Air. The Devil has the key to all places of hatred, malice, revenge, and immoral repute. Bottomless means the deep-seated evils in the minds of men. The smoke represents the wicked influence of a sinful city, race or nation. The locust means soldiers, has power as scorpions. It means that this army was not to kill but to torture and pillage the city.

It was made very clear that this vision has been fulfilled. It seems to have been God's temporal judgment on those wicked men who rejected Christ and persecuted His children.

We meet Thursday, 8 o'clock, at 2012 N. 27th Street.

Elder W. I. Irving, teacher. Mrs. G. W. Gorum, reporter.

Ladies of Catholic Circle Care Mrs. Fields, President 2807 Wirt Street, Omaha, Nebraska.

My dear Friends:

May I take this opportunity to express my sincere thanks and appreciation for the very kind gift of $10.00 which you sent to me a few days ago.

This help means more to my boys than I can express in words, for if our Home ever needed the kind assistance of friends it needs it now.

We have been receiving boys at the rate of one a day since the first of the year so you can readily understand our great need. Sixteen states have sent us boys but the majority came from Nebraska, Iowa, and Kansas.

At present we are filled to capacity and do not have another bed for a needy boy. Of course we would not turn him away, but I can assure you it would be very difficult to care for any more at this time.

I am telling you this so you can understand why I say we are so in need, and appreciate so much your wonderful help.

Thanking you again, with the prayer that God's blessing will be with you and your loved ones during the years, I remain

Yours most grateful, Rev. E. J. Flanagan

SHARPS AND FLATS AMONG THE MUSICIANS

Holse Dorsey has filled the vacancy left by Bill Owens at the J. B. Caven and getting along quite nicely, too.

Word came back to us that Bennie Moten's Orchestra poured oil on Earl Hines' Orchestra at the Easter Ball in Kansas City. Oh, yeah? We'll have to find out about that when they come here Monday.

The Kansas City Rockets played a very nice dance here the other week. Of course, they aren't as brilliant as Moten's Orchestra, since they have no trombones. Nevertheless, they have a nice band.

We were over to Jessie's last week, and it seemed to be quite a family affair over there among the musicians, the husband, wife and brother playing there.

Oh where, oh where is that bass fiddle "Skeets" is buying, and where is that mellow band Ted Adams is going to burst forth with this spring??

There's a certain well-known orchestra leader around here, whom we haven't seen out in public very often. What's the matter, Mr. Perkins, are you retiring from public life or are you getting exclusive?

Archie Watts is getting prosperous. He has been driving around in a good-looking blue Chevrolet. It's mighty nice too.

Pluke Simmons is staging a comeback on the piano. He has been practicing with the orchestra over to the Center, and he doesn't do so badly either.

and bitter tears set to music. Not only were there presented the African Jungle chants and the mournful, moving spiritual born of misery, bondage and oppression, but there were also the jubilant songs of Freedom, songs which saw the fulfillment of the Negro's long-awaited freedom. This not only was depiction of music, but it was also history—history that was more effective than mere reading from a book of history. It was thrilling one in a very midst of a people's experiences and letting one see and feel other's experiences with his own eyes.

In the episode depicting slavery, the lights were turned on while the great Lincoln High School chorus sang, "I Couldn't Hear Nobody Pray". The crowd saw the two Simon Legrees, cruel and with lash in hand, beat unmercifully men, women and children as they cringed here and there, begging, pleading for mercy in vain.

Then followed the Emancipation by Abraham Lincoln, benevolent of heart and possessing nobility of soul, who with outstretched arms made citizens out of countless slaves, slaves whose children and grandchildren today are still the same grateful race of their fore-fathers.

Then the next episode—one of modern music—portrayed the inherent "exuberant spirit of a people who can drink as deeply of the joys of life as they have of the sorrows". The overpowering and fascinating rhythm and life of their music was demonstrated in the singing, particularly in Gill Marion Cook's "Swing Along". Will Marion Cook is a brother of H. O. Cook, present principal of Lincoln High School.

In the fifth episode, the Negro's deep religion despite his seeming light-heartedness was portrayed in a song, "De Lawd Dat Lives on High" by J. Harwell Cook, son of H. O. Cook, Lincoln's Principal. In the Grand Finale—Hope—1935—there was a choral accompaniment, Hats Off to Lincoln High", by J. Hartwell Cook.

Games and stunt exhibitions preceded the pageant. Demonstrations were made by the physical education department, the dancing and military groups. The military drill was aided by the Boy Scout Drum and Bugle Corps, the demonstrations having been made with startling exactness. Unquestionably, the crowning demonstration of the pre-pageant demonstration was the presentation of the Finnish Folkdance in the "Blue Danube" waltz by 210 upper class girls, who danced with an ease, poise and precision which transcend verbal depiction. They were very fittingly attended. Thunderous applause went up from all sections of the mammoth Convention Hall at the conclusion of the "Blue Danube" waltz. The tap dance was also applauded much.

This program was the Ninth Annual Musical and Physical Exhibition by the Lincoln High School.

MAXIE MILLER WRITES

(For The Literary Service Bureau)

Man 60 Loves Woman 30 — Marriage with Her Would Be Taking a Long Chance—Would Be a Question of Prime and Dotation—Better Get One Nearer Your Own Age, Old Lover.

(For advice, write to Maxie Miller, care of Literary Service Bureau, 516 Minnesota Ave., Kansas City, Kans. For personal reply send self-addressed, stamped envelope.)

Maxie Miller:—I am a man sixty years old and I'm in love with a woman just thirty. Do you think she is too young for me? She knows my age and still says she wants to marry me. I can take good care of her. I was good to my wife that died and I think I can make this woman happy. What do you advise?—Old Lover.

Old Lover:—To enter into marriage under the circumstances mentioned is to take a long chance. It comes to gambling with destiny. When this woman is forty and in her prime you will be seventy and doubtless in your dotage. Under such circumstances men generally are jealous and unreasonable, and the woman may be careless or stubborn; and your peace is gone. Better take one nearer to your own age.—Maxie Miller.
