

"I Was Drugged" Declares Carnera

New York City, Aug. 8, (ANP)—Primo Carnera, who has caused laughs on numerous occasions in the prize fight ring, served as another potent laugh-producer last week when news dispatches reached here telling how he had told the folks at home, in Naples, that he was drugged on the night he fought Joe Louis at Yankee Stadium.

"I never felt better," said Carnera, as he talked in his own tongue to his group of friends at home, than the moment I stepped into the ring against Louis. I was sure of victory, especially after the first round when Louis' blows failed to hurt me. However, in the second round I suddenly became ill and my legs trembled and the ring whirled around me. It was impossible for me to keep my arms in a position to ward off the Negro's blows. Even a baby could have defeated me. I do not know what it was but I was certainly affected by some foreign substance which placed me at the mercy of the Negro.

Those around the huge former champion must have received some consolation from this statement and perhaps envisioned Jack Blackburn, the dark-skinned trainer of the "Brown Bomber" stealthily working "black magic" from afar, thus rendering their hero helpless. This might be true, but the "conjuring" was done up at Louis' camp before the fight when Blackburn got him in tip-top shape to administer that "foreign substance" to which Carnera alluded and to which he succumbed, namely, a devastating and methodical attack, which has not only drugged Carnera but practically every other foe of Louis in the ring.

Oh, yes, Carnera was drugged, but as Bill Brown of the New York Boxing Commission, put it; "scientifically drugged by Joe Louis," adding "Primo's charge is the silliest thing I have ever heard of." Ait, Mr. Brown, Italy's hero had to have some excuse for losing to a man who had been fighting professionally a little more than a year, because they did not know over there of the alleged "inside deals" that tainted Primo's other fights in this country.

The prisoners were ushered into the courtroom, the jury was selected, the defendants were positively identified, as the two Negroes, who entered Shann's store last January and shot and killed the white man during a robbery, the identification being made by the dead man's widow, and after a perfunctory defense, the jury walked into the jury room, walked out and read the verdict, "guilty in the first degree" and the death sentence was pronounced and a few hours later, the men were en route to Kilby prison to await electrocution.

The hold-up, which led to his arrest, happened Tuesday night when he took the cash till containing $10 from the street car conductor at the intersection of Piedmont and Northern streets in a daring fashion. After robbing the conductor he alighted from the car only to fall in to the arms of a policeman who had been attracted by the commotion caused by the robbery. WEEKLY SHORT SERMON

By Dr. A. G. Bearer (For The Literary Service Bureau)

MOAB—DESTRUCTION

Text: Tell ye it in Arnon that Moab is spoiled.—Jer. 48:20.

Moab was the land of the Moabites, ancient warrior. It was named for Moab, son of Noah, by his own daughter. Sa here we find hereditary weaknesses. The Moabites were wicked, incorrigible, proud, vain, boastful and idolatrous.

In this chapter are many things charged against them, and the punishment threatened. In verse 4 we read, "Moab is destroyed; her little ones have caused a cry to be heard." In the 8th verse it is predicted that "a spoiler shall come upon every city." Other expressions are "Moab shall be ashamed," "Moab is Spoiled," "The calamity of Moab is near," "Moab is confounded," "for it is broken down," "Judgment has come upon the plain country," "the horn of Moab is cut off," "his arm is broken," "Moab also shall wallow in his vomit."

"Moab has been at ease," is one explanation for the punishment. Others are "We have heard of the pride of Moab, (he is exceeding proud), his loftiness and his arrogance, and his pride, and the haughtiness of his heart." And for these "high crimes and misdemeanors," Moab paid terrible penalties and left a record not to be envied.

Nations of today who are afflicted with "Moabitis," indicated by the ease the indifference, arrogance, pride, saughtiness, cruelty of the Moabites, would do well to read their history and note that their destruction was not so much the judgment of Heaven as the natural result of a natural cause—sin. Let the modern Moabs beware!

Proverbs and Parables

ENOUGH IS BETTER THAN A FEAST

This is a warning against excess, especially in eating. It is needed to-day when gluttony is so extensively practiced. To eat enough means proper digestion, ample sustenance and the maintenance of good health. On the other hand, excessive eating will prove productive of disordered digestion and injury to health. Epureanism has always been detrimental, while moderation has ever been contributory to health and happiness. For these reasons which so often have been substantiated it is certain for the general run of humanity, enough, just enough, is far better than a feast with prevalent excesses and destructive effects.

Perry Howard Asks G. O. P. Leaders To Re-member Negro; Picking Candidate

Washington, Aug. 7, (ANP)—Perry W. Howard, Republican national committeeman for the state of Mississippi, has just written a letter to the chairman and members of the Republican national committee to remind them that if they select the right candidate in 1936, the Negroes who left the fold will return.

Mr. Howard writes in part: "I am convinced that our colored voters in a large measure left the Republican party because they thought that they were not wanted or that some limitations were being placed upon their elevation and promotion; that they would gladly come back to the party when this impression is removed; and that one of the best ways in which to remove this impression is by naming a candidate whose estimate of a citizen is not his color but his character and ability."

Mr. Howard does not believe that Roosevelt has made good. He charges: "Now just as we predicted Mr. Roosevelt has not only failed the country but he has failed the Negro in that he has done nothing that he promised to do. This is felt very keenly by the colored leaders who supported him vigorously and these were disappointed because they were overlooked in appointments and the few appointments of colored people made by the President have been largely some of the Psalm-singing Roosevelt workers."

Italy Denied Credit

London, Eng., Aug. 7, (ANP)—Refusal of British concerns which have been selling supplies to Italy to extend further credit, brought assurance from the Italian government Tuesday that an Anglo-Italian exchange agreement will be effected. Delays in payments for shipments are said to have caused some concerns, especially coal companies, to refuse further sales until old accounts were settled.

Lessons From The Fenians

By R. A. Adams (For The Literary Service Bureau)

The Fenians were members of an organization formed in New York in 1857. Their objective was the freedom of Ireland from subjection to England. These people were opposed, they were ridiculed; they were made martyrs; many of them died for the cause which they counted to be dearer than life itself; but Ireland is free!

Lessons taught by the Fenians are: perseverance, loyalty to principle, and the ultimate triumph of the right. Comparable to the Fenians were the anti-slavery advocates and the members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, as these loyal souls fought for years, the one for the freedom of the slaves and the others for the freedom of the nation from the curse of rum.

Among Negroes are many who are faint-hearted, impatient for results and who are inclined to made surrendere to circumstances when stubbornly opposed in their efforts. They are inclined to cry discouragingly, "There's a lion in the way." Such "fearful and unbelieving souls" are urged to emulate the unyielding, indefatigable spirit of the intrepid Fenians—and never give up. A good motto would be "Labor and perseverance conquer all things."

What Is Success?

By R. A. Adams (For The Literary Service Bureau)

Success is measured not by gain—Silver and gold, houses and lands—But won by suffering and pain, And honest toil with calloused hands.

Success consisteth not of fame, Not high estate and great renown, Not boasting an illustrious name, Nor even wearing victor's crown.

'Tis not in knowledge great acquired; Not boastful, foolish pedantry; Not having "all that heart desired," Nor what men count prosperity.

But true success, (bear this in mind), Assayed by the supremest test, Is serving well our fellowkind; And, blessing thus, we shall be blessed.

Virgin Islands To Hear Clarence Cameron White in October

Boston, Mass., Aug. 7, (By E. W. Clark for ANP)—The recent announcement of the closing of the School of Music at Hampton institute and the resignation from the faculty of Dr. Clarence Cameron White and his return to permanent residence here, is of more than passing interest to the music loving public at large and to the host of friends and admirers of this concert violinist and composer.

It evidently means the return to the concert field and to creative work of Dr. White, who has long held an enviable position in American music circles. The Demeter Zacheroff Concert management of 25 Huntington avenue, has just issued a formal announcement that they have contracted with Dr. White for a transcontinental recital tour beginning in November, 1935, and extending through May, 1936. In October he had been engaged by the government to give eight recitals in the Virgin Islands.

Dr. White's early training was begun at Oberlin Conservatory and supplemented by study in London and Paris. Upon his return to America three years ago, he brought with him the completed opera score "Ouanga" for which he was awarded the "David Bispham Memorial Medal" by the American Opera Society of Chicago. In 1928 Dr. White was honored with the first award of four hundred dollars and a gold medal by the Harmon Foundation of New York for outstanding achievement as a violinist and composer.

In 1929 Dr. White visited Haiti where he made a study of native music and appeared in recital. The recital appearances during the coming season of "our Kreisler" will be a musical event, for as one metropolitan critic says—"The career of Clarence White reveals a life of inspired achievement. His supremacy is the natural reward of true genius—the result of great things actually accomplished."

"REVEALING" YOUR PAST, PRESENT and FUTURE.. by ABBE WALLACE

L. D. S.—Please tell me if my ambition will ever be realized?

Ans: No—I cannot contact you as ever JOINING THE ARMY for it seems to me that you have tried THREE TIMES without success. Do not let this disappointment worry you for it seems to me that you will become vastly interested in a job that you will secure in August of this year and will enjoy the work immensely.

A. T. D.—Will the operation that I am planning on going through with help me?

Ans: You have nothing to fear—You will get along well during the ABDOMINAL OPERATION that you are contemplating. Within the next two years you will be blessed with a very handsome YOUNG SON.

L. K. C.—Why is my home unpleasant?

Ans: There are two many RELATIVES living in the same house—and this is not at all fair to your husband. Although he has not said a word, you should see that your relatives find them a home of their own for your husband will get tired if they continue to stay there a d fuss all the time. See o tis at once as your husband has been patient already.

R. P.—Do you think that the person I have in mind is in love with me and will he marry me?

Ans: The DOCTOR that you are taking treatment under is IN LOVE with you but I do not contact marriage between you two. It is my opinion that this man cares more for you than you do for him. You will choose your future mate the early part of next year.

M. A. B.—What is wrong with my father? Has he been tricked or is he just plain mean?

Ans: Your father is not at all well and you should take him immediately to a doctor as he seems to be suffering from a BRAIN DISEASE. With perfect, quiet and careful nursing your father will get well but this treatment should begin at once and you should not excite your father. He will do many queer things but you will have to expect this so cooperate with the doctor.

C.—Do you see my father receiving any money this month?

Ans: Yes—your father will receive a sum of money from out of the City—it is his BACK SALARY. The people that employed your father did not intend to have to hold up his salary but circumstances arose that could not be helped and they were forced to hold part of his salary. He will get the money around the first of July.

S. G.—Should I take C. C. with me on this trip?

Ans: By all means NO—This would probably end in trouble if you did, as she is only SEVENTEEN YEARS OLD.

J. H. T.—Does the girl I go with really care for me and will she make me the kind of wife I want?

Ans: Your girl friend cares for you and she is exceptionally fond of the very generous FINANCIAL FAVORS that you have shown her for about three years. It might be a good idea for you to stop the fi-

Ans: Yes he will get a job along the WATER FRONT of Virginia. His work will be on and around beets. I do not see a change of jobs for him in the future for it seems that he will be very fond of this kind of work.
