North Carolina Governor To Push Lynching Probe

No Credence Put in Report That Negroes Were in Mob

Raleigh, N. C., Aug 8, (ANP)—A reward of $400 has been offered by Governor Ehringhaus for the arrest and conviction of parties responsible for the lynching of Govan Ward, who ran amok at Louisburg, N. C., and killed a 67-year-old white farmer. In the meantime the chief executive of the State is trying to ascertain just why the officers of Franklin county were so dilatory in requesting help to prevent mob violence and why it was impossible to recognize any of the members of the mob, although they were unmasked.

The governor learned of the lynching through Associated Press reports and immediately dispatched troops to the scene but they arrived too late to deter the lynchers. They found the body of the lynched man suspended from an oak tree and a crowd of men and women milling about the body, expressing approval of the action of the mob and some cutting off toes and other parts of the body for souvenirs. In the crowd were many young women who apparently found much pleasure in viewing the gruesome spectacle and in praising the "heroism" of the lynchers.

When the lynching was first reported it was said that Negroes were numbered among the mob, but little credence is being put in the story and Negro leaders themselves are pointing to the fact that Negroes are law-abiding and are willing at all times to let the law take its course and to the fact that it was due to the act of a Negro that the man, who has been declared insane, was placed under arrest.

Some of the facts relative to the lynching that are causing much comment include:

1. That although it was common knowledge that mob violence was in the making, one sheriff and two deputies attempted to take the prisoner to another county for safe-keeping.
2. That the prisoner was beaten over the head with a blackjack by one of the officers who attempted to kill him by placing a gun to his head and pulling the trigger. His gun had been unbreached when discharged from the holster during a struggle with the manacled prisoner and the bullets emptied on the floor of the car, hence it did not fire, and this officer declared: "I wanted to kill him then and there but the others would not let me."
3. That the officers did not observe or attempt to get the numbers of licenses on any of the cars, carrying lynchers.
4. That the governor was not notified by the officers but instead a band of 30 special deputies were assigned the task of rounding up the lynchers.

Governor Issues Statement

In discussing the outrage, Governor Ehringhaus issued the following statement: "Two horrible crimes have been committed in Franklin county today. The first by an apparently crazed and degenerate individual, the second by a mob of supposedly responsible citizens. The first intimation of either occurrence came to the Governor's office, not through officers of the law but through the Associated Press and this was to the effect that the wretched defendant had already been taken from the officers by the mob. "Immediately the Highway Patrol and the National Guard received orders to do all possible to avert a lynching. Both acted with the utmost promptness and dispatch and both were on the scene within a remarkably brief time, but too late to prevent the last crime. This office also with the Sheriff of Franklin county immediately sought to get in touch by long distance but could not do so. Chief of Police of Louisburg and The Governor also called upon the Sheriff of Vance county and urged that they offer every possible assistance to prevent lynching or disorder. No report of the first crime or of any danger or threat of trouble was made to this office by any officer of the law of Franklin county and no request came for assistance. Had we received an intimation that the transfer of the prisoner for safe-keeping was contemplated and there was any danger of disorder we could have rendered prompt and constructive assistance, but no such information or request was forthcoming.

"Offense Against Decency" "I deplore, of course, the original crime, horrible in its details, but I deplore also the second offense against the laws of North Carolina and public decency and feel keenly the shame and reflection which it has cast upon our good name and our reputation for orderly administration of justice."

The crime for which Ward was lynched was the decapitating of an aged white man who attempted to stop him from beating his (Ward's) sister with a bottle. Ward was insane at the time and had attacked two others before he killed Charles G. Stokes, the 67 year old white farmer. An ax was the weapon used by the killer.

Uses Education Methods To Stop Drinking Moonshine

New Bern, N. C., Aug. 8, (ANP)—Believing that no one who saw how moonshine liquor was made and the unsanitary conditions around a still would ever drink the liquor, Sheriff R. E. Lane, of Craven county has issued a standing invitation to the public to accompany officers when a raid is being conducted. "I do not believe," said the sheriff, "that any men or woman who ever saw the filth, the vermin and what-not around one of these moonshine stills could ever stomach the liquor again so I am issuing this invitation. We raided a still last week and the place was infested with roaches, rats and snakes presenting one of the most terrible and nauseating sights I have ever seen."

Summer Heat

Too many cautions cannot be printed against sunburn. No matter how much is said or written, no matter what one's past experience may have been, the majority of people show unreasonable haste in acquiring a sunburn. "I'm going to be tanned like an Indian," they say, forgetting that the Indian's red-brown skin is natural. Children are in danger, because they don't know there is any danger. In the summer, they have all day for play. The release from school is tempting, with so many things to do. If parents aren't mindful and watching, the first day or two in the summer sun may bring a serious burn. Then a week of suffering, often confined to bed.

And it isn't always as simple as that. Burn from the sun is no different from any burn. It isn't confined to a sore skin. Poisons, or body toxins, are formed. The child may be feverish and nauseated. In attempting to throw off the poisons, the kidneys may be injured. Sometimes severe prostration results. In all cases of sunburn, it is advisable to place a child in a physician's care. Wise treatment will prevent the complications. But the greatest wisdom is shown at the beginning. Take the sunburn gradually, a little each day. Give the skin a chance to tan painlessly.

Are you making your child's life a nightmare by insisting on regular promotion at school? Don't miss Dr. Ireland's next article.
