

M. A. B.—Will the mortgage be paid off on my house?

Ans: Your children will consent to have the mortgage transferred to their name and they will pay off for you. This property is worth too much for you to lose it.

H. M. D.—Should I do as my sister has asked me or did she do it just because she thought it would please me?

Ans: Your sister really wants you to come WEST and live with her. You need not worry about her husband disagreeing with her about you coming for he is just as anxious as she. She will see that you are established in a good business.

E. S. J.—What does my friend intend to do?

Ans: I don't believe that he will ask you to BECOME HIS BRIDE. It is my impression that he will leave the city within the next few weeks. If this is the way he plays—you wouldn't want him if he did decide to make you his wife.

E. A. Y.—Should I make the change that I have in mind to make?

Ans: Yes—go to the SEASIDE and get the job that has been offered you for it seems to me this job is a YEAR ROUND position. You have until LABOR DAY before the business slacks up and then you will be able to make a go of it through the winter.

P. M. D.—Where will I find my desired happiness and success?

Ans: Your ambitions and plans concerning the WORK that you are interested in will bring you the desired happiness that you are seeking. This business will prove successful and your income will also increase within the near future.

A. D. H.—What shall I do as I am treated like a baby by the boys and girls I go around with. The boys do not ask me to dances and go places either. What is wrong?

Ans: Nothing is wrong with you but you are going around with a group of young people just a little older than yourself and they consider you an outsider. You are too young to associate with these people and be included in their fun. Drop them quietly and go with people your own age.

M. L. S.—Should I quit my boy friend or try to prove my innocence?

Ans: Do not even try to prove your innocence for he knows that you are NOT GUILTY of the things that he accuses you of. He never thinks about you cheating until he gets SLOPPY DRUNK and then he isn't altogether responsible for what he says. Until he stops getting drunk let him alone.

A. V. W.—Should I do what I have planned or do as my mother says?

Ans: Your mother had rather you carry out her plans than for you to GO AWAY. You could be just as happy if you did so too. If you desire to write me privately you may send a quarter at any time. See the Special Notice attached to this column for more detailed information.

I. P.—Why did my wife take a sudden notion to come home? How will this affair end?

Ans: She found out that you had become interested in another woman and she suddenly realized that she still LOVED YOU. You two will go back together and try it all over again.

R. H.—Do you think I will get a job this winter?

Ans: You will become employed as a CHAUFFEUR for a very wealthy family in PHILADELPHIA, PA. You will get employment around the middle of October of this year.

A. L. M.—Please tell me what on earth is the trouble here?

Ans: You have allowed members of your household to keep in a constant uproar and confusion until it goes on all the time. It is time that you put your foot down on some of this disturbance and the quicker you do it the better off everyone concerned will be.

Anti-Red Law Challenged By Dothan Writer

Dothan, Ala., Sept. 5.—The Dothan Eagle, edited by former State Senator Julian Hall, today carried a front page editorial ridiculing the anti-secession bill, which Gov. Graves vetoed a day too late to make his veto effective, and offered to make a test of its constitutionality by declaring for "violent" overthrow of the State government.

In a mocking article under the caption, "Rally Round, Comrades! Let's H'st the Red Flag," the editor of The Eagle says:

"Because Gov. Graves waited one day too long to veto the anti-secession bill, it automatically becomes the law of Alabama.

"Thus it is now a misdemeanor for any citizen to advocate the overthrow of the government by violence, or who possesses more than one copy of a publication, cut or cartoon advocating the overthrow of the government by violence.

"As a newspaper believing implicitly in the fundamental importance of free speech and a free press, The Eagle is interested in testing this drastic and unwholly unnecessary law.

"Therefore we advocate the overthrow of Alabama's government by violence. We urge the citizens to arm themselves with shillalohs, set out for Montgomery and whale Hell out of the members of the Alabama Legislature who voted for the anti-secession bill. We advocate that they also be kicked swiftly in the after deck of the pantaloon. We advocate that they be chased out of the historic and chagrined old Capitol and back to the doghills of their barnyards...!"

Roosevelt Supplied With Louisburg Lynching Facts

New York, August 28.—Calling his attention to the fact that Senator Josiah W. Bailey, a member of his party, and a leader in the filibuster against the Costigan-Wagner bill, has threatened that he will filibuster against the Costigan-Wagner anti-lynching bill whenever it is brought up, President Roosevelt was today supplied by the N. A. A. C. P. with the facts of the lynching of Govan Ward at Louisburg, N. C., on July 30th.

The President is asked by Walter White, Secretary of the N. A. A. C. P. "What steps will you as President and your administration take in the next session of the Seventy-fourth Congress to insure a vote upon the Costigan-Wagner bill?"

Sharecroppers Strike To Shake Cotton Belt

Cotton Pickers Demand Hike in Pay, Less Hours

Relief Situation Wretched

DADEVILLE, Ala.—(CNA)—The greatest strike movement in the history of the cotton belt was predicted by the 35 delegates to the 3-county convention of the Sharecroppers Union, held here recently, Tallapoosa, Chambers and Lee counties were represented. Each report emphasized the determination of the masses of the wagehands, croppers the strike, to win their demands, and relief workers, solidly behind.

Preparations for the strike included not only raising funds for strike relief and preparing for terror and evictions, but also forming United Front with churches, community clubs, and fraternal societies which are represented on the strike committees and on the plantations. The Union is appealing to the small farmers for support in the strike. Dissatisfaction With Rehabilitation

Farms

Wide-spread dissatisfaction with Rehabilitation Farms was expressed. One delegate said, "I have been on a Steer Farm for 2 years and I would rather be in the penitentiary." Another delegate said, "the government cleans the cribs cleaner than the landlords."

A "Steer" farmer reported that he received relief checks of $14 a month for January and February, $12 a month from March through June and $10 for July. He had 14 in the family and had to feed a mule out of this check too. When the mule died this spring the government accused him of starving the mule to death and forced him to pay 75 for it.

Others reported that the landlords who rent the land to the government for "Steer farms," try to force the "Steer" farmers to work out the rent by day labor on the plantations. When the farmers refuse to do this, the landlords go to the Relief station and have the rent cut out of the relief.

The Government is the Landlord

R. K. Greene, Rehabilitation chief in Alabama, states that it cost an average "Steer" farm family $95 for everything, and that 86 percent of the money advanced by the government had been repaid. This is reflected in the poverty-stricken conditions of these farmers. Delegates reported that the government took ALL the peas and fodder and MOST of the corn they had raised, and that it is greedily awaiting the sale of cotton from the 7 acres allowed each farmer to collect "other debts." These farmers will be evicted if they don't sign the papers binding them to another year of slavery by August 1st. These "papers," signed trustingly by the farmers, at first, have turned out to back-fire with all sorts of bills of which the farmers know nothing.

Direct Relief Stopped and Projects Cut Down

The Relief Station has been moved miles away to Montgomery; and all relief has been withdrawn.

The demand for 20c an hour, 40 hours a week, pay in cash, is being pushed as a strike demand. Also, a demand for return of the Relief Station to every County seat and direct relief at the rate of $6 cash weekly for the head of a family plus $1 for each dependent. This demand will also apply to those held prisoner on "Steer" farms.

A strong fight for the right of croppers and tenants to receive gin certificates, AAA land rent checks and parity premiums is being made with successes in many places. The meeting also decided to wage a real struggle for rent reduction of 25 percent this year. The issue of 8 months school, free books, free school buses and free hot lunches will also be raised.

Alabama Landlords Frantic Over "Black Belt" Cotton Strike

SELMA, Ala.—(CNA)—"Road Tax" law that was abolished several years ago in Dallas county, is being revived and the officials are trying to force young Negro workers out on the roads to work out their "tax." No white workers have been bothered at all, nor the older Negro workers. 100 Negro youth that have been summoned have refused to work. More than five have been arrested in an attempt to force them to do road work.

This is a direct blow at the Cotton Pickers strike in that most of these youth are cotton pickers and they are being terrorized into doing this work to break up the preparations for the strike.

The Way Out

By Loren Miller (Special to Crusader News Agency)

POLITICAL SEASON

At the risk of brining up an unpleasant subject, I am duty bound to report that the political season is open again. I found it out when I went to a tennis tournament not long ago. Activities were interrupted while the master of ceremonies presented an assemblyman. The so-called representative didn't have anything to say but he did beam on the crowd for a full minute.

I was alarmed at the time but my alarm turned to panic when I got home and read the evening paper. Right there just as big as life was a picture of Mr. Roosevelt shaking hands with an assortment of Negro Elks. I knew then that my suspicions had been confirmed and I have settled down to a long siege that won't end until the last ballot is counted in 1936.

HAPPY DAYS

Mr. Roosevelt looked happy too, just as happy as he did the time he dashed down to Warm Springs, Georgia and lowered the relief wages for the benefit of the cotton growers, and, if I must mention it, to the detriment of the Negro workers. I suppose it is a gift and I wouldn't be at all surprised to learn that the president is able to smile right through the bitterest poverty—our poverty, not his, you understand.

It may be that it was the novelty of the occasion that put the smile on the president's face. I remember as if it were yesterday that Negro newspapers were complaining of the fact that he had consented to be photographed with everybody but Negroes. But time works wonderful changes and time also brings elections closer.

NOTHING NEW

Of course, the gag isn't new. It is a time honored device, this business of the president, any president, having his picture taken with Negroes for campaign purposes. The amazing thing is that it works. The procedure is pointed to by campaign orators—for the proper fee—to prove that the head of the nation is just one of the boys and that he hasn't got a prejudiced bone in his body.

Unhappily, nothing ever comes of the whole business and the president, any president, goes right on his merry way. It has been happening for years and our condition has been growing worse during the whole time. Negroes remain at the bottom of the heap.

WHAT A PAL

Back of the whole picture taking idea is the theory that Negroes are inferior. Subtly, or not so subtly, Negroes are made to believe that the whole group has been honored when the president is willing to be seen with one of their number in public. There is always a nice business of selecting the proper Negroes to be photographed with.

It's safe to be photographed with members of fraternal orders. On the other hand Mr. Roosevelt has made many trips down south during his term in office. Warm Springs is one of his hobbies. It's a resort for the cure of infantile paralysis to which white children only are admitted. I wonder whether or not Mr. Roosevelt would be willing to be photographed with a little crippled Negro child at Warm Springs while he uttered some word of condemnation of the system that exclude them from the resort. Or do you think that he will have his picture taken with one of the Scottsboro mothers next week? As I said in the beginning, the political season is on.

University of Maryland Raises Sex Issue

Annapolis, Aug. 23.—The University of Maryland has raised the sex issue in its formal application to advance the hearing of its appeal against the writ of mandamus issued by the Baltimore City Court, June 25, 1935, ordering the University to admit Donald Gaines Murray to its School of Law. The Maryland Court of Appeals is not scheduled to convene until October, about one week after the University of Maryland opens its fall term. Under ordinary procedure, Murray would be already matriculated in the School of Law when his appeal would be heard but in an effort to keep him entirely out of the University of Maryland has asked that the hearing on the appeal be advanced to the last part of August or the first of September so that a decision by the Court of Appeals can be rendered prior to the opening of the school.

The petition recites that since the writ of Mandamus in Murray's case several other Negroes have applied for admission to the School of Law, the Pharmacist's School and the under-graduate college; that there are 2,000 students in the University of whom 500 are females, and H. C. Bird, Acting President of the University, states that he will not be responsible for what happens in case Negro students actually are admitted to the University. The petition sets forth a letter from a white man, one George M. Quirk, a resident in Washington, D. C., who writes to inquire whether Negroes are to be admitted and states that he has three daughters enrolled in the University whom he wishes to remove from the University if Negroes are to be admitted. The University claims that it is threatened with extensive loss of students and that the consequent loss of income will seriously curtail its educational program.

It further states that separate schools as the traditional policy of Maryland and that separate schools have "undoubtedly been a leading cause of the present amicable and cooperative relations which exist in this State between the two races."

The answer of the N. A. A. C. P. raises no objections to having the case advanced but protests the attempt to befuddle the issue of constitutional rights; It points out that there is nothing special to be gained by rushing the appeal because both sides have indicated they are going to carry the case to the United States Supreme Court. The answer states that the issue of constitutional rights is a personal issue which cannot be measured in dollars and cents and that the state cannot withhold the benefits of law from one citizen simply because other citizens may object. The answer further points out the illegality and inconsistency of the University's attitude which would exclude Murray, a bona fide citizen and resident of Maryland who happens to be a Negro, in order that the white daughters of a white non-resident of the state may receive education in the University which Murray's family help to keep up by the payment of taxes. It states that the University can hardly expect Murray to purchase amicable relations by the surrender of his constitutional rights. It further alleges that the Acting President raised the sex issue to camouflage a deliberate attempt to deprive Murray of his rights.

Nudism Is Rightly Named

By R. A. Adams (For the Literary Service Bureau)

The term "nude" means naked; bare; without concealment; and it is rightly named. The foolish nudists go naked, claiming they are "going back to nature." And they are going back to nature in more ways than one. They are turning away from the progress of the years which has brought men from nakedness and ignorance to this period of civilization. These misguided people make bare their lack of common sense and of common decency, resorting to this practice to attract attention and win notoriety, these fanatics expose their superlative folly. Happiness, and life itself depend on moderation. Excess in eating and drinking and indulgence in exhausting pleasures are manifestly detrimental to human well-being. The most disastrous of these are sexual excesses; and nudism greatly contributes to this whatever may be the claims of its votaries.

While believing in personal liberty and freedom of action, one cannot escape the conclusion that nudism strains personal freedom to its breaking point, and that it should be restrained.

By many it is contended that civilization has reached its zenith; that moral retrogression is now in progress; that sex laxity threatens the collapse of the superstructure of our social system for which so much has been sacrificed. And nudism is indeed confirmatory of this contention.

Man Made Love to a Girl then Married Her Sister—Wants to Get a Divorce and Marry the Discarded One—No, Ruth Ann, He's a Jumping-Jack and Would Jump Away From You Again—Let Him Alone and Make Him Let You Alone. Maxie Miller:—Here is a sad case for you. I had a boy friend. We had talked of getting married. I went off to school and while I was gone he married my sister. They have a baby, now. The trouble is that this boy says his old love for me has revived. He is dissatisfied and wants to get a divorce and marry me. I think I love him some still, but I don't want to hurt my sister. She thinks something because she says he's been different since I came home. Sometimes I think she took him from me, so it would serve her right if I'd take him from her. How about it?—Ruth Ann.

Ruth Ann:—You are wrong. This sister didn't marry the boy without his consent, so she didn't "take him" from you. Then that could not have been the case because you had no claim on him. You do not claim you were engaged to be married. This fellow is unstable and dangerous. His duty is to his wife and child, and your duty is to let him alone and make him let you alone. He's a jumping-jack and would almost certainly jump away from you again. Better let him alone, Ruth Ann.—Maxie Miller.

Canada Honeycombed With Race Discrimination

Youth Called "Insane" When They Apply For Jobs

TORONTO, Canada.—(CNA)—Canada is literally honeycombed with race discrimination, according to an interview with J. Spencer Pitts, prominent attorney and cultural leader of the Negro people here. From the government departments and city councils down to the most menial employments the doors are closed to the Negroes.

Threatened with Lynching If a Negro youth applies at a big department store for such an unpretentious job as a porter, the manager of the store would look upon him as being "insane." In the words of Mr. Pitts, "they would almost have him burnt."

Negro girls are regularly and systematically denied jobs as maids or cooks, but when they do happen to find a job, they are paid miserably low wages—much lower than the "gentle" sums paid to white girls. "Socially Ostracized"

Negroes are not only barred from jobs, but they are treated as "untouchables" socially. Negro girls cannot swim in the YWCA swimming pools. Negroes cannot eat in restaurants nor dance in public dance halls, according to the rigid system of Jim Crow which pervades all Canada.

Mr. Pitt declared that "we common people of Canada must all unite against this brutal system that fosters minority race prejudices and us on to war and fascist reaction."
