

MORNING STAR

Sunday school opened at 9 o'clock, with Superintendent Mrs. Johnson, in charge. The pastor preached two wonderful sermons. At night services the subject was "A Fixed Heart". All clubs and auxiliaries are progressing fine. The Tom Thumb wedding that was sponsored by the Willing Workers was a great success.

Mrs. G. W. Stromile, Rep.
Rev. F. B. Banks, pastor.

The Third Seventh Adventist church, 2760 Lake will have as its topic for Sunday, Sept. 15, at 8 p.m., "A Cure for the World". George Anderson, local elder.

SALEM BAPTIST CHURCH

With Evangelist and Pastor M. B. Billbrew, of Dallas, Texas, in charge for 8 days, Salem was in high gear Sunday, having 3 new additions and will continue through the 15th. A

ALTA VESTA
A GIRL'S PROBLEMS

By Vidette Ish
(For the Literary Service Bureau)

From Alta Vesta to Her Father—No. 14

Dearest Father: Your letter made me so sad, not because I can't go with these girls and help them to be good. It is because I think of my own dear good father and what you and Aunt Cornelius told me of my dear Mother, and when I think of this I pity these girls and wish they all had good fathers and mothers like mine, and good and kind Aunt Cornelias like mine.

Now, Daddy dear, I will do just what you say. I always want to do what you say because you always know what is right and because I love you so much that I don't want ever to make you mad at me. That would nearly kill me. But, Father, I don't have to speak to these girls and be mean to them, do I?

Now, for Easter, I want a new dress, new shoes, new hat and gloves. Other girls of our neighbors will have new things and I know you don't want your little girl to be laughed at because she won't have no new Easter things. Love and kisses to you, Daddy.

Your loving,
Alta Vesta

Ethical Funda-mentalism

By R. A. Adams
(For the Literary Service Bureau)

Now, we read of "The New Morality"; "Changing Morals", and of new ethical standards to take the place of those "which have outlived their day", and are fit for nothing but the ethical dump yard. But, to the more conservative of us, these things seem to be a terrible and dangerous diversion from things which are right and ways that have proved to be save—the safest of all human construction.

The proponents of these new ethical theories tell us that we are far behind, but we of the slower speed contend that while customs and even standards change fundamentals are external.

Our ethical degeneracy people compliment when dishonesty is used. Individuals in high civic positions openly break the Commandments and loudly confess it. Society now sanctions divorce for just any cause, and enters no condemnation against multiplicity of marriages. In these respects customs and standards have changed and people have changed their attitude toward these serious departures. But the fundamental principles of truth, honor, honesty, justice, equity and sex purity are unchanged. And they will not change. More, both culpability and responsibility are to be reckoned with by those who surrender to the spirit of the times and turn away from ethical standards.

Distinguished
Cleveland Guest
Visits In Omaha

Mr. J. C. Carter of Cleveland, Ohio, was the guest of Mrs. Martha Smith, 2211 Ohio street, for about ten days. Taking his departure last Saturday for his home Mr. Carter is an employee of the Cleveland City Chamber of Commerce, where he has been in a responsible position for seven years, commanding the highest respect of the leading business and professional men of that city. Mr. Carter expects to return to Omaha in the very near future to make it's permanent residence. Wedding bells will ring.

power in the ministry and a chance in a lifetime to get your hungry souls spiritually revived.

Wm. Cooper, Rep.

Metropolitan Spiritual Church
1818 N. 24th Street

Rev. R. W. Johnson, pastor
Mrs. Georgia Peoples, Rep.

Sunday school opened at its usual time, Sunday, with the President Mrs. Arnold in charge. Rev. Johnson preached a very interesting sermon Sunday morning, St. John, 5 chapter, 4 verse, text, "Wilt thou be made whole". Sunday night text, Daniel, 5 chapter, 27 verse, text, "Thou art weighed in the balance". Everybody welcome to visit our church.

Bishop R. Taylor of Kansas City, Missouri, and Rev. Woodson from Los Angeles, California, were with us September 2. We were very glad to have them with us. We enjoyed the lesson very much, and we hope they will return again soon.

Sioux Falls South Dakota News

By Vidette Ish

From Alta Vesta to Her Father—No. 14

Dearest Father: Your letter made me so sad, not because I can't go with these girls and help them to be good. It is because I think of my own dear good father and what you and Aunt Cornelius told me of my dear Mother, and when I think of this I pity these girls and wish they all had good fathers and mothers like mine, and good and kind Aunt Cornelias like mine.

Now, Daddy dear, I will do just what you say. I always want to do what you say because you always know what is right and because I love you so much that I don't want ever to make you mad at me. That would nearly kill me. But, Father, I don't have to speak to these girls and be mean to them, do I?

Now, for Easter, I want a new dress, new shoes, new hat and gloves. Other girls of our neighbors will have new things and I know you don't want your little girl to be laughed at because she won't have no new Easter things. Love and kisses to you, Daddy.

Your loving,
Alta Vesta

Ethical Funda-mentalism

By R. A. Adams
(For the Literary Service Bureau)

Now, we read of "The New Morality"; "Changing Morals", and of new ethical standards to take the place of those "which have outlived their day", and are fit for nothing but the ethical dump yard. But, to the more conservative of us, these things seem to be a terrible and dangerous diversion from things which are right and ways that have proved to be save—the safest of all human construction.

The proponents of these new ethical theories tell us that we are far behind, but we of the slower speed contend that while customs and even standards change fundamentals are external.

Our ethical degeneracy people compliment when dishonesty is used. Individuals in high civic positions openly break the Commandments and loudly confess it. Society now sanctions divorce for just any cause, and enters no condemnation against multiplicity of marriages. In these respects customs and standards have changed and people have changed their attitude toward these serious departures. But the fundamental principles of truth, honor, honesty, justice, equity and sex purity are unchanged. And they will not change. More, both culpability and responsibility are to be reckoned with by those who surrender to the spirit of the times and turn away from ethical standards.

Mrs. J. C. Parker Honors Miss Seay At a Breakfast

Mrs. J. C. Parker was hostess at her home at a breakfast honoring Miss Ruth Seay, Friday, August 23. Those enjoying the delightful affair were Mesdames Dorsey, Laurie, Miss Jennie Robinson and the guest of honor.

Miss Seay left Friday for Muskogee, Oklahoma, to resume her school duties as instructor in Latin, French, and Spanish in the Muskogee high school. She spent three weeks in the city as the house guest of Mrs. S. H. Dorsey, 3717 Parker.

President of Mills College Visits In Omaha

Mr. B. Dickens, president of the Mills Memorial College, of Birmingham, Alabama, was in Omaha for a few days. He motored up with Mr. and Mrs. Bradford, Mrs. Bradford was the former Miss Grayce Adams. The Bradfords have decided to take up their residence in Omaha.

Mr. Dickens will leave Thursday. A stag was held in his honor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Adams, 2527 Maple street.

Planning Ahead For Virginia State Alumni Meeting

Chicago, Sept. 11, (ANP)—At a conference here Friday evening, attended by M. T. Bailey, president of the Virginia State College Alumni Association, Dr. Charles H. Carroll, Pittsburgh, Pa., Lowell P. Johnson, and Reid Thomas, plans were made for the 1936 meeting of the Virginia State Alumni Association, which will be held at the college, Petersburg, Va. One thousand graduates are expected according to the statement of the committee at the close of the meeting and one of the features of the 1936 program will be memorial exercises for the late James Hugo Johnston, president of the institution.

DALLAS DENTIST ENDS LIFE

(Continued from Page 1) land, No. 198400 issued to E. A. Ewing, 620 Leoward street, St. Louis, which was the redemption for ticket No. 6617 purchased at Dallas and redeemed at the Greyhound terminal in St. Louis.

He also had a passenger's duplicate baggage check issued by the Greyhound lines from St. Louis to New York.

Dr. Ewing took a taxicab early Sunday, September 1, and got out in the center of the municipal bridge where he was last seen. A passing motorist, Louis Stewart, 3330 Giles avenue, Chicago, reported to police that he saw a man in dark clothes wearing a black hat jump from the bridge about 100 feet west of the cast toll station.

Tried To Find Wife

It is believed that he registered at a white hotel during his stay in the city.

Dr. Ewing had been trying to locate his estranged wife, Mrs. Agatha McCullough Ewing, of Springfield, Mo., who had been separated from him for some time. According to Mrs. R. W. Johnson, 6100 Colorado street, aunt of the dead man, aunt of Mrs. Ewing, the widow of the dead man was in the city shortly before Labor Day and was on her way to Chicago. It was not determined if Mrs. Ewing has returned to her home in Springfield, Mo., or not.

His marriage to Miss McCullough was sudden, taking place during a visit of the Springfield young woman to Dallas.

Ewing was a graduate of Morehouse college and finished dentistry at Meharry Medical college in 1933.

The body was sent to his home in Dallas, Tuesday evening, accompanied by John W. Davis, local attorney, and friend of the family, W. C. Gordon undertaking company had charge of the body.

Proud Parents

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Stallworth wish to announce the arrival of their fine 7 pound and 3 ounce baby girl, Sylvia Annetta, on August 27. Both baby and mother are getting along fine. Mrs. Stallworth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Pharr, of 2733 Second street, and is a graduate of Central high school. She attended the Alabama State Teacher's College and received her certificate for teaching at this college.

Mr. and Mrs. James Crowder and Ida Maxley have returned from a trip to Minneapolis, Minn. Send all news to Francis Anderson, 305 W. Bailey street, Sioux Falls, South Dakota.

Mrs. J. C. Parker Honors Miss Seay At a Breakfast

Mrs. J. C. Parker was hostess at her home at a breakfast honoring Miss Ruth Seay, Friday, August 23. Those enjoying the delightful affair were Mesdames Dorsey, Laurie, Miss Jennie Robinson and the guest of honor.

Miss Seay left Friday for Muskogee, Oklahoma, to resume her school duties as instructor in Latin, French, and Spanish in the Muskogee high school. She spent three weeks in the city as the house guest of Mrs. S. H. Dorsey, 3717 Parker.

President of Mills College Visits In Omaha

Mr. B. Dickens, president of the Mills Memorial College, of Birmingham, Alabama, was in Omaha for a few days. He motored up with Mr. and Mrs. Bradford, Mrs. Bradford was the former Miss Grayce Adams. The Bradfords have decided to take up their residence in Omaha.

Mr. Dickens will leave Thursday. A stag was held in his honor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Adams, 2527 Maple street.

Planning Ahead For Virginia State Alumni Meeting

Mr. John C. Williams, 2708 Erie street, left on Wednesday, September 11, for Lincoln, to attend the University of Nebraska. Mr. Williams was formerly a student of the Hampton Institute in Hampton, Virginia.

Pretty Young Matron Returns

Mrs. Margarite Metoyer, 2220 No. 25th street, returned home Saturday, September 7, for a vacation in New Orleans, Alexander, Louisiana, and Pensacola, Florida, visiting with relatives and friends. She was gone two months.

Mother's Let your boys be Guide newsboys. Send them to the Omaha Guide Office, 2418-20 Grant Street.

Railroad Waiters Look AskneAt A. F. of L.

Chicago, Sept. 11, (ANP)—Considerable uneasiness exists in the ranks of the dining car waiters of this railroad center as they speculate upon the final results of the drive being made by the American Federation of Labor to organize dining car waiters and cooks.

Waiters who form a more or less preferred class of railroad employees have been organized for years, first in locals upon the various roads whose terminals are here and secondly in the National Brotherhood of Dining Car Employees. Both working conditions and salaries have been notably improved by the efforts of the waiters' organizations which in every case have been headed by colored men.

In fact, in some instances, as in the case of the Northwestern railroad, for example, where white cooks were employed, the colored representative of the waiters represented the white cooks in negotiations with railroad officials.

When the railway labor act was passed, the A. F. of L. notably prejudiced the interest of Negro workers except in those crafts where the colored men are in a majority, seeing a field for additional memberships, established an offshoot of their Hotel Alliance and Bartender's International, which they called their Dining Car Division.

Chicago waiters declare that while this is in effect a Jim Crow Division, the white cooks immediately assumed a strong position in its makeup. When the New York Central committee was made up, there were four white men and two colored.

W. L. Wilson, general chairman of the Northwestern Railroad Dining Car Men, and Joel Miles, secretary of the Rock Island men and acting secretary of the National Brotherhood of Dining Car Employees, were outspoken in their condemnation of the A. F. of L. and its tactics.

They charge the white labor organization of flooding Chicago with white organizers who have gone among the colored men spreading false reports and making promises which they declare will not be fulfilled.

Already, the Federation has invaded the ranks of employees on one major railroad, the New York Central, and wrested control of the union away from colored hands, defeating Rienzi Lemus, president of the Dining Car Waiters Brotherhood, which operates in the East, and who sought to take over the company union when the new railway labor act left the way open.

While there she met her husband, Mr. Floyd Stallworth, who is a prosperous farmer. Mrs. Stallworth has spent a four months visit with her mother, bringing her little son, Floyd Isaac, aged 2, with her. She plans to return home about the 25th of October.

Mrs. Julia Pharr, the grandmother, is so proud that you have to get a step ladder to speak to her. Mrs. Pharr is planning to return south with her daughter for a stay of about 30 or 60 days.

Mrs. Martha Taylor Smith Honor Fiancee

Last Friday night Mrs. Martha Smith was hostess to a sixsome at a pretty dinner party at her beautiful home honoring her fiancee, Mr. J. C. Carter of Cleveland, Ohio, who left Saturday for his home. The menu was superb and the table was most attractive with its pretty decorations. Mrs. Smith had a few of her most intimate friends present.

Mr. Carter won the admiration of all who met him during his brief stay, and will be a great acquisition to Omaha when he takes up his residence here.

John Williams Leaves For School

Mr. John C. Williams, 2708 Erie street, left on Wednesday, September 11, for Lincoln, to attend the University of Nebraska. Mr. Williams was formerly a student of the Hampton Institute in Hampton, Virginia.

Pretty Young Matron Returns

Mrs. Margarite Metoyer, 2220 No. 25th street, returned home Saturday, September 7, for a vacation in New Orleans, Alexander, Louisiana, and Pensacola, Florida, visiting with relatives and friends. She was gone two months.

Mother's Let your boys be Guide newsboys. Send them to the Omaha Guide Office, 2418-20 Grant Street.

Joe Lewis Trains For Max Baer

(Continued from Page 1) ing his hapless spar mates into insensitivity, Louis confined his activities for the afternoon to boxing, giving one of the best exhibitions seen at the camp since his arrival more than a week ago to prepare for his fight with Maxie Baer.

It was with Paul Cavalier, white of Patterson, N. J., that Joe made the best showing, Cavalier, who has worked with Baer, and other outstanding heavyweights, is considered by many as one of the smartest and cleverest boxers in the heavyweight division.

Louis shook Cavalier up with a couple of stiff rights and lefts, but Cavalier was also able to get some timely blows. The Brown Bomber was out front on points when the bell closed the bout.

Louis boxed two rounds with Lou (Tiger) Flowers, two with George Glover, and one with Roy Williams. Williams also stepped up the pace with the Tan Thundrebolt.

Newsreel Cameras Set Up

Roused to anger because of the inferiority of his sparring mates, Louis belted Bobbie Dean and Tiger Flowers into unconsciousness in his work-out Saturday.

A flock of newsreel cameras were set up on the lot to get Louis in his workout. The forms of his hapless spar mates recumbent on the floor of the ring was the proper climax for the camera men.

Louis was the recipient of an honor which seldom, if ever, falls to the lot of prize fighters.

This honor was in the form of an endorsement by a large delegation of delegates to the National Baptist Convention which closed in sessions in New York last week. The delegation, consisting of more than 200 ministers and laymen, visited the camp Saturday afternoon to pay homage to Louis.

The Rev. T. S. Harten, pastor of Holy Trinity Baptist church in Brooklyn, N. Y., headed the delegation which arrived in two buses. They were accorded all the privileges of the camp as guests of Louis and his managers.

Group Marvels at 'Bomber'