SOCIAL WORKERS BAN JIM CROW WASHINGTON FOR 1936 CONVENTION

Schedule 1936 Meeting For Atlantic City As Capital Hotels Refuse To Lower Color Bar

New York, Dec. 14.—(ANP)—After holding annual meetings in such normally prejudiced cities as Memphis and Kansas City, Mo., the National Conference of Social Work will change its 1936 convention from Washington to Atlantic City because of the refusal of hotels in the nation's capital to call a temporary halt to discrimination during the conference. The convention which draws yearly from 4,000 to 7,000 delegates, will be held May 24th to 30th.

Announcement of the change was made last week by the executive committee of the group and issued through Robert F. Keegan, president. It is the first time in the history of the organization that such a step has been necessary.

Musician Praises Spirituals After European Tour

Memphis, Dec. 14, (ANP)—That Negro Spiritualists represented the only contribution America has made to music, was the declaration made by Charles Naegeles, Jr., white pianist before a large audience of whites here Tuesday night.

Naegeles is a native of this city, the son of Charles Neageles, Sr., famous portrait painter and has recently returned from a concert tour in Europe. Appearing in concert here Tuesday night the noted artist who is now making his home in New York City, delivered a discourse on the development of music throughout the world during which he made the statement as to the importance of the Negro spirituals in music, pointing out that:

"From the Negro melodies jazz developed to break down the conventional forms of music in serious compositions. The Spirituals constitute the only real American contribution to music. Throughout the European continent they find favor with music critics and lovers and furnish an outlet from the post-war music as European are again seeking the serious type of music, which expresses the natural feelings of human beings as is found in all folk songs."

whites and permitted to attend all functions, both social and otherwise. For that reason the conference had not been held in Dixie until a few years ago. Memphis hotelmen, however, met all requirements of the organization and the conference met there without trouble. Negro delegates being accommodated with whites at the city's leading hostels.

In 1934 the annual convention was held in Kansas City, Mo., with the hotels again falling in line. One of the features is an annual reception and dance. Although Kansas City is ordinarily as prejudiced as many sections of the South, at this event held in one of the biggest hotels members of the city's aristocracy were in the receiving line to cordially receive all guests, of which seven

New Yorker Scores Nazis But Hits U. S. Jim Crow

New York, Dec. 14.—Pointing out the similarity between Hitler's treatment of the Jews and the treatment of Negroes in the South, Charles A. Smythwick, Jr., has written a scorching letter to the New York WORLD TELEGRAM, in which he declared: "With so much agitation by various groups in the United States and so much propaganda in the press against American participation in the Olympic Games, some instances of racial discrimination here at home are called to mind.

"The activities of the Association Against American Participation in the Olympics, the National Conference of Jews and Christians and the gallant efforts of Jeremiah T. Mahoney, president of the A. A. U., are to be commended.

"But one wonders if, by chance, the next Olympiad were to take place in, let us say, Atlanta, Ga., or almost any one of the states below the Mason and Dixon line, would 'the powers that be' remove signs in the railroad stations reading, 'White on This Side,' 'Colored on That Side?' Would the fine hotels, some of them built especially to accommodate visitors to the games, extend their hospitality to all comers, regardless of race?

"Would all those coming by rail and bus be able to ride in comfort in any seat they should choose, or would some of them be obliged to ride in dilapidated railroad cars and over the rear wheels of the busses? Would the restaurants remove signs stating, 'We Do Not Serve Negroes?' Would the fashionable beaches permit all comers to bathe?

"The greatest argument against American participation in the games is based on the fact that the Nazi state has assumed responsibility for the Olympiad, regardless of statements to the contrary, under the leadership of Adolph Hitler and his dogmas.

"Our great leaders cry out in stentorian voices that the German government has enacted discriminatory laws and permits acts of violence against a minority race. Have they forgotten that discrimination against the Negro in the South is sanctioned by law? Have they ever heard of Jim Crow? How many years will elapse before we will have an anti-lynch law?

"The hardships suffered by the Jews and the acts of violence perpetrated against them in Germany are deplorable and are to be condemned by all humane people. But this is to be remembered by all charitable Americans: 'Clean thine own house before thou cleanest thy neighbors.'"

Says Relief Rolls Have Decreased In The South

Columbia, S. C., Dec. 14, (ANP)—According to a statistical report of the State Emergency Relief Association here Tuesday, there has been only a slight decrease in the number of families on the relief rolls due to the fact that as fast as removals are made through the work relief projects an equal number is enrolled.

Negroes constitute the largest pro-rata due to the lack of interest shown by the directors of the various projects in placing Negroes on the work lists, according to leaders here. This condition has been brought to the attention of the administrators but to date little has been done to remedy it, but those promoting the movement to see that the Negro citizens receive their share of the jobs on the PWA projects are yet hopeful.

OMAHANS CELEBRATE 50TH ANNIVERSARY

Borah Statement Will Lose Votes

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—The belief that Senator William E. Borah's statement that he would veto a federal anti-lynching bill if he were elected President may lose him votes in northern and western states was expressed by G. Gould Lincoln, political writer for the Washington EVENING STAR. Mr. Lincoln also declared that Senator Borah's statement would not gain him any support in the South. His paragraph follows:

"Senator Borah's letter declaring that if he were President and an anti-lynching bill, on the line of the Costigan-Wagner bill, were presented to him he would veto it, may have wide political effect. His flat declaration that he would not approve such a law, on the ground that it was unconstitutional and invaded State's rights, was made to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. It was unequivocal. Considered from a practical political viewpoint, it may cost the Senator delegates in the Republican National Convention next year. It is not likely to get him the support of delegates from the Southern states, and it might lose him delegates in States where the colored vote is considerable and holds a balance of power. In Ohio, for example, the colored vote is to be reckoned with. Mr. Borah's blunt reply on the lynching bill question, courageous as it was, did not have the sound of a man seeking to woo delegates to the national convention."

Torture Case Is Feature In Nation Article

New York, Dec. 14.—The famous Mississippi Torture case in which three colored sharecroppers have been convicted for the murder of a white tenant farmer following brutal torture to secure "confessions" is a feature article in THE NATION for December 11. Robert W. Horton, Washington, D. C. newspaper man is the author of the article and he described in detail the beating of Ed Brown, Yank Ellington and Henry Shields with studded straps with buckles in order to force them to agree to every line of a confession written by the deputy sheriffs.

The lawyer for the three sharecroppers appealed to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People after their conviction in the lower court and their failure to secure a new trial from the Mississippi Supreme Court. The NAACP agreed to finance an appeal to the United States Supreme Court. The appeal is to be heard shortly.

The case has attracted wide attention and is the subject of an editorial in the New York Herald-Tribune for December 6, entitled "The Mob in the Court Room." The NAACP has appealed for funds to meet expenses of arguing the case before the U. S. Supreme Court. Contributions should be sent to 69 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.
