

'REVEALING' YOUR PAST, PRESENT and FUTURE

R. F. C.—I have two things in mind and I do not know which to choose for a career? Please help me to decide this question?

Ans: Take up the PRINTING trade so that you will always have a profession to fall back on. It isn't very easy to get a job as a night club entertainer for so few people are talented, and you will accomplish more to go into the printing business

J. I. B.—Will the man I have in mind mean anything to my future life or is he in the racket like all the rest?

Ans: Just because you receive one tough break from a girl is no reason why you should expect them all to prove false...the girl you inquire about really loves you. It seems to me however that you are not interested in this girl or anyone else.

J. W.—I have one girl and she is 19 years old and is ni-ready for college. Which of the two places I have in mind would be the best place for her to go this next year?

Ans: She would be better off in ST. LOUIS staying in a dormitory than she would be in CHICAGO with your relatives. The surroundings and atmosphere she would be in if she boarded would have as much to do with her making a success of her training as the course itself.

L. B. L.—I am in love with a young lady who just finished school and is now teaching, but I am afraid to trust her. Do you think I should judge her according to the character of her mother?

Ans: Ridiculous...This young lady is a highly respected person and there is nothing wrong with her character. She is honorable and trustworthy and I think you are adopting a rather NARROW MINDED attitude in holding the sins of her family against her.

M. E.—I have a boy who is mean and hard headed. He ran away once and wants to go again? Do you think it wise to let him go?

Ans: You may as well consent to his leaving for he will leave anyway when he makes up his mind. I don't believe you and your husband have tried very hard to understand this boy for an EIGHTEEN YEAR OLD BOY could be encouraged to do the right thing if you went about in the correct way.

L. B. N.—Nobody ever promised to marry me but one man and he is married already. Tell me will he get a divorce and marry me?

Ans: Absolutely not...stop going with him and keep company with single boys in your city.

A. E. Y.—I was in one trade for six years and I gave it up the first of the year and started in another field but it doesn't seem to be a steady income for me. What is best for me to do this winter.

Ans: Go back to your old trade as a BEAUTICIAN before you find yourself in debt. The new trade you took up only provides a good living about two seasons of the year and people patronize beauty parlors the whole year round.

L. W.—I would like to have a nice man friend but men are so tricky now days and I want you to tell me if it will be wise for me to go with this man that has asked me?

Ans: Go with him...but do not take him TOO SERIOUSLY. You will meet a party around the early spring who will play and important part in your future life.

Herndon Wins High Court Review

Washington, Dec. 19 (C)—Angelo Herndon's sentence to a Georgia chaingang on a charge of sedition, will be reviewed by the United States Supreme court, it was announced Monday. The Georgia Supreme court has twice affirmed the sentence. The case came to the U. S. Supreme court once before, but was sent back because it was not referred in the proper constitutional form. Herndon is free in $7,000 bail provided by the International Labor Defence.

A friendly academic race between two brothers ended December 15, when Horace Mann Bond; Dean of Dillard University of New Orleans, received the Ph. D. degree at the University of Chicago.

In April, 1936, J. Max Bond, the winner, took time out from his activities as director of Negro Welfare for the Tennessee Valley Authority to take the Ph. D. degree at the University of Southern California with honors. His thesis dealt with the two century old history of the Negro in Los Angeles. Previously, he graduated from George Williams College of Chicago, and received the A. M. degree from the University of Pittsburgh.

His brother, Horace Mann Bond, completed his undergraduate work at Lincoln University in Pennsylvania, and received the A. M. degree from the University of Chicago in 1926.

Both brothers have contributed extensively to the special literatures of their respective fields, sociology and education. Dr. Horace Bond is author of the book, "The Education of the Negro in the American Social Order."

Rosenwald Fund Sells Negro Books To White Schools

Chicago, Dec. 19 (C)—In its plan to supply low cost school libraries in the south, the Rosenwald Fund is selling to both white and colored schools two sets of books for high schools—"Negroana," books by and about Negroes, $10; books about interesting people, Mexican, Filipinos, Chinese, Japanese, Polynesian, and Negroes, $10. The price represents only two-thirds the actual cost of the libraries, and freight is paid by the Rosenwald Fund.

Tells Preachers To 'Read Books'

Philadelphia, Dec. 19 (C)—R. R. Wright, 3rd, youthful manager of the A.M.E. Book Concern, in an appeal last week, said: "Have you noticed the young preachers who get ahead are those who study and read the most? You can't 'make it' if you don't read. The men who stay in good charges longest are those who study and read most. How many books have you read this year?"
