Miss Marshall, who lives with her parents at 26 Spruce street, Passaic, N. J., where she is a favorite in the younger set, is a native of Rutherford, N. J., and graduated from Rutherford High School with honors in '34, winning eight letters in the following events: basketball throw (70'), high jump (4' 8 1/2"), running broad jump (13' 1 inch), dash, and relay, and on winning teams. In '33 she won the Pentathlon for gaining the most points on a field day, and tied with a white girl for the same honor in '34.

Last June Miss Marshall completed the two year post-graduate commercial course at Passaic High School, with an average of 'E' (94-100) in typing, and of 'VG'; (88-93) in shorthand. She took four shorthand speed tests, winning a certificate attesting to her speed of 100 words a minute in the Annual Radio Shorthand Speed Contest of New York City Gregg Shorthand Teachers' Association on May 2, 1931. Miss Marshall also won a Gregg Transcription Test certificate before leaving school for "having written for five minutes at one hundred words a minute, and having transcribed the notes neatly and accurately on the typewriter, is therefore awarded this certificate of proficiency." In all of her high school classes Miss Marshall was the only colored girl, and many times says she was inspired to unusual achievement with the hope of making her race shine among other groups.

MILDAY'S DRESS

Have you seen Mrs. Edna Carr wearing her blue gray Lappin coat with blue-gray accessories? Then please do, or else you are missing something.

Did you know that Miss Celestine Smith was wearing slip-over sweaters and shirts to work these days? The last word in smartness.

Has anyone told you about Miss Lorraine Fletcher's yellow knit sweater? She made it herself and it's right ducky too.

Did you see Mrs. Lavina Scott, Adam's black chiffon tea gown she wore to the Kappa dance? "Lovely" is the only word that will describe it.

Surely you know that Mrs. Lillie Avant Dorsey has a most striking green street ensemble worn with British tan accessories? Looks just like "Vogue."

Is Miss Lucy Mae Stamps the thing in her gray and black sports coat tho? Black is so good this season too, Miss Stamps.

Miss Irene Harrold goes to town when she puts on her little red and white collar and cuff set. But you know how well Miss Harrold sewed?

Miss Marguerite Dickerson set 'em right back on their heels when she came to club meeting last week in her black moire done with green. Very clever Dickie, Zippers and all.

Mrs. Florentine Pinkston wears blue very well doesn't she? Especially blue taffeta and velvet. That's what she made her appearance in at the Kappa dance.

Do you all agree with me that Miss Mary Alice Willis was "hot stuff" in her blue velvet and gold last Saturday night? Were those shoes gold brocade or just gold Mary Alice? Anyway they were lovely.

The new winter coat worn by Miss Mabel King is truly the thing. Burnt orange with the swing time skirt. Very chic and all that sort of thing you know my dear.

Mrs. Constance Adams was a flame of color at the Kappa dance the other night. Someone sad she looked just like Ginger Rogers and we agreed with them too.
