Uncle Gil's Big Picnic To Be In Elmwood Park August 14th

The Coronation in which King Borealis VII, (Dr. Lennox) and Queen Aurora VII (Miss Celestine Alberta Smith) were enthroned may have been a big event in the lives of the grownups, but the first annual Guidite picnic in Elmwood park on Saturday August 14th will without doubt be the most spectacular and colorful event ever attempted in Omaha for youth. That sounds funny, but preparations are under way to make the first annual Guidite picnic one of mirth, joy and happiness for thousands of boys and girls who are readers of the Omaha Guide and members of the Guidite club.

Free Ice Cream
Of course, there'll be the usual ice cream, lemonade, and candy. All this will be free to the boys and girls who attend the picnic and with them bring a card proving that they have been responsible for the sale of one new three months subscription to The Omaha Guide during the remainder of this month and July. So, hurry boys and girls and urge your parents to help you get one new subscriber so you can get your card for free ICE CREAM, LEMONADE AND CANDY.

Uncle Gil is especially desirous of having out-of-town boys and girls attend this big jubilee. Mr. Gregg Williams and his band will be on hand to furnish rhythm rocking melodies for Uncle Gil's kiddies.

Every week from now until the 14th of August Uncle Gil will tell you something about this coming so be sure to get your copy of THE OMAHA GUIDE every Friday.

Uncle Gil Finds An Interesting Letter

Addressed to the sponsor of the St. John Literary club, Mrs. Christine Althouse.

How is the Literary Society coming along? Have you had your play yet? I have missed you all very much, and if your high tempered secretary will let me know how much dues I owe, I will forward her the money immediately.

What are you doing now? The club probably has got some new members. Who are they? Is Mary Ellen as joking as usual? How is your playmate, Frank? To dear, sincere Tamar I send her my greetings. I'll bet E. Lucky doesn't come any more. How is our married lady, Mrs. Turner? I hope her children don't bake pies like her. Mr. Jewell the quiet contented young man. You tell to stay away from my gorgeous little girl friend Mabel King. Does she still come to Endeavor? And to Ada Lee I still despise her corrections and remarks. She is the meanest girl I have ever had the misfortune to meet. But all in all, she is chubby and adorable. For the new members give them my regards.

Tell your husband and family hello. I am working and making O. K. I do not have any girl friends because I can't get Gertrude off my mind. Della was the sweetheart of the outfit, but she has her career. Must I omit the comedienne (Conwell) you had the last time I was there.

Everything taken into consideration you must have wonderful nerves to stand that group of boys and girls. Of course I never was much trouble to you. I was always so quiet and peaceful. Oh yeah!

Keep the good work going on. I would be glad to hear from anyone in the club. Tell them all hello. will you?

The Guidite World of Music

By Miss Ethel Jones

MUSIC FOR HEALTH

There never has been a time in the history of the world when man has not known music. They have been inseparable companions through joy and sorrow, peace and strife. It is as natural for a man to sing as it is for him to breathe. Everyone knows how easily music can banish the cares of the day. Luther Burbank the noted American naturalist has said it is one of the great sources of life, health, strength and happiness.

Today the world is more music conscious than ever. Musical educators say that we are entertaining an era of music's greatest hour. Factories throughout the country are installing amplifying devices which broadcast music through the shops during certain hours of the day, when the vitality or workers is reputed to be at its lowest ebb. Hospitals and sanitariums have set up such systems as a recognized health aid. Leading university football teams generally take a pianist or accordionist along to entertain the boys and quiet their nerves before the game.

Leading physicians and psychiatrists often prescribe nothing more than the study of a musical instrument for patients with nervous disorders.

The accordion is generally accepted as one of the most ideal instruments to learn to play in connection with this idea because of the ease with which a novice may learn and because of its universal fascination and portability.

A young advertising manager was in a very high strung nervous condition. His physician advised him to learn to play some musical instrument. He chose the accordion and immediately set out to learn to play. He became so fascinated and made such marvelous progress, that in three months he was completely cured, after which he decided to continue his studies. His family enjoyed it and friends insisted on him bringing it whenever he paid them a visit. The playing of the accordion has been beneficial to those afflicted with infantile paralysis, through massage to the muscles afforded by practicing.

So we may indeed hail music as one of our greatest physicians.
