Mr. P. Hieronymous, one of Omaha's largest Negro transfer company owners, has come forward and offered Uncle Gil the service of his fleet of trucks to transfer the hundreds of boys and girls to Elmwood Park for the Guidite Club Picnic, Saturday.

To assure plenty of refreshments for the kiddies Mr. Drum of the Fontenelle Brewery has promised to play the part of a good Samaritan by seeing to it that the kiddies have plenty of orangeade to keep them cool while they play. Uncle Gil will need many autos and trucks for the transportation of kiddies to and from the park, so if you want to do your bit to help Uncle Gil and his kiddies. Lend us a car and a truck.

Parents are urged to accompany their children and enjoy a day of fun.

Free Ice Cream

Of course, there'll be the usual ice cream, lemonade, and candy. All this will be free to the boys and girls who attend the picnic and with them bring a card proving that they have been responsible for the sale of one new three months subscription to The Omaha Guide during the remainder of this month and July. So, hurry boys and girls and urge your parents to help you get one new subscriber so you can get your card for free ICE CREAM,

LEMONADE AND CANDY. Uncle Gil is especially desirous of having out-of-town boys and girls attend this big jubilee. Mr. Gregg Williams and his band will be on hand to furnish rhythmic rocking melodies for Uncle Gil's kiddies. All ready another fine young father has offered to supply the Guidite Picnic with candy.

ANSWERS TO LAST WEEK

1. Though the ancients were sufficiently impressed by the damage done to horses hoofs to devise certain forms of covering for them (in the shop of socks and sandals, the practice of nailing iron plates or rim shoes to the hoof does not appear to have been introduced earlier than the second century, B. C. and was not commonly known till the close of the fifth century, A. D., or in regular use till the middle ages. The evidence for the earlier date depends on the doubtful interpretations of designs or coins, etc., As time went on, however, the profession of the farrier, and the art of the show smith gradually grew in importance.

Jokes

MAMMA SPANK!

Mrs. B. dropped in for a chat, accompanied by the 3 year old angel. While we talked the cherub grabbed a couple of books from the end table and started tearing out the pages. I said nothing, the crumpled pages were scattered all over the floor. When they were leaving, Mrs. B. said: "Ha, ha! Baby has torn some pages from your books, but you can paste them back easily." "Ha, ha! yourself," said I. "These are the books you loaned me from your new edition the other night." Mrs. B. with angel fled in haste and minutes later came sounds next door that brought joy to waiting ears. Angel was getting spanked.

BUSINESS CALL

Mrs. B. was in an automobile accident. After she regained consciousness, her husband came to bedside at the hospital. "Careless of you," he growled, "getting yourself nicely planted here in a fine soft bed while I cook the meals for myself and the kids!" "If you feel that way," she said weakly, "why did you come see me?" "I just wanted to know what you did with that fifty cents you had when you left home."

Each kidney contains between one million and four million inches of fiber chambers each with two inches of microscopic tubing.

Earn Extra Money

School days have come to an end, which means boys and girls everywhere have the opportunity to make merry during the three months vacation. Here's hoping that a majority of the Guidites especially the boys will find jobs and earn money so as to help their parents defray expenses at home. While we're on the subject of working, perhaps it wouldn't be a bad idea if those of you desiring to earn some money during your spare time, would sell copies of THE OMAHA GUIDE.

The Guidite World of Music

By Miss Ethel Jones

The Public Appearance

The success of a public performance depends upon more than being able to play or sing a selection well. We must remember that those attending a concert see as well as hear. Therefore, good platform manners are very necessary and increase the pleasure of the audience. If a performer greets his audience with a pleasing personality, they respond encouragingly.

A natural spontaneous smile and the announcing of one's selection in a clear natural tone of voice at once places an audience in a receptive mood.

A short time ago, I attended a program given by an amateur music and dramatic club. A middle-aged bass singer, with a conceited, and a poker face and none too well groomed, slowly importantly made his way to the platform. He announced his selection in the same conceited manner. As I glanced over the crowd during his rendition the majority looked bored. Being just an ordinary loud singer with little or no training his singing received but the average polite applause.

At another time a young lady whose playing was no better than the average little high school girl won her audience completely. With a bright smile and a pleasing personality, she gave a lovely description of the number she was about to play, and the title and the composer. As she finished play the audience not only gave her plenty of applause but called her back for an encore.

The cause for the different reception is plainly evident. Summing up then, the successful public appearance is made up of three basic elements:

1. Confidence which comes from much practice and through knowledge of the piece to be played.
2. A pleasing personality, and
3. Being able to put the audience in a receptive mood.
