Entertainment Whirl

By Ken Jessamy

Plans are underfoot to feature Duke Ellington, Cab Calloway and Bill Robinson in an English production for London Films, Ltd. The producer of the film will be Alexander Korda and the direction will be handled by Ernest Lubchenco. Calloway, because of his contract with the Cotton Club, may be unable to participate in the movie. Freddie Taylor, who used to be billed as a snakehip dancer, and who went to Europe with Lucky Millinder and his orchestra, is now a competent trumpeter and is leading an orchestra. He has made a fine record of the old favorite, "The Chick of Araby."

English music publishers have changed the title of "Satan Takes a Holiday" to "Spooky Takes a Holiday" rather than these Britishers. Duke Ellington, the Aristocrat of Jazz, returns to his old stomping grounds, the Apollo theatre for one week soon. Phil Scott not only produced the new Plantation Club revue, but also starred in the production. The other members of the company include Amy Spencer and Henri Wessels.

The Cotton Club opened its new revue this week. Avis Andrews plus a choir are the new attractions.

The Harlem Uproar House also debuted with Erskine Hawkins and his Bama State Collegians getting the feature billing. Clark Monroe's Uptown House on 134th St. near Seventh Ave. is getting quite a play from those who stay up late nights. It's the hangout for the theatrical stars. Drop in sometime and meet Monroe. He's a grand person. Out of towners especially will appreciate his ability to make you feel at home and welcome.

The Oriental theatre in Chicago is contemplating staging a battle of swing between Earl Hines and Clyde McCoy's orchestras. The show should go in about the 28th. The Joe Louis-Tommy Farr fight pictures have been going great in England. They have been booked so far into 1,500 theatres, setting a record. Stuff Smith has been given from the Local Musicians Union, goes the report. No sound reason has yet been given. Mac Johnson, the Cotton Club's eye-fall and Harlem's No. 1 strip teaser, dropped her suit against Dr. Clarence "Shag" Hogans, prominent Harlem doctor. Several sports figures are listed in the "Big City," a Metro Goldwyn production. The sport celebs include, George Godfrey, Jack Dempsey, Bull Montana and Snowy Baker.

Chick Webb's orchestra with Ella Fitzgerald, played a return date at the Loew's State theatre, New York's big time vaude house. Chuck and Chuckles finished their turn at the Palace theatre in Chicago last week.

The Ubangi Club in Philadelphia, features in its floorshow, Mac Burnham and Scott, Lethia Hill, alda Hatton, Donnie Lyons, Bernice Douglas, Jack and Jill, and Derby Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Giles of Chicago, Ill., were the honored guests at a bridge party given in their honor at the home of Mrs. Mable Fields, 2807 Wirt street, Thursday evening. The following persons enjoyed a delightful evening of bridge. Mesdames Bessie Preston, Harry Leland, A. L. Hawkins, Mammie Long, Yancy, Hazel Griffin, Gertrude Evans, Rufus Long, Elminie Johnson, Mary Davis, Ida Giles, S. E. Gilbert, Misses Audrey Preston, Charlotte Preston, Messrs. Davis of Chicago, and S. Edward Gilbert. Those winning prizes were Dr. and Mrs. Hawkins, high score. Mrs. Albert Giles, guest prize, S. Edward Gilbert, booby prize. A very delightful sea food repast was served appropriately embellished with cocktails in the wee hours of the morning.
