Council Bluffs Couple Celebrate Their 53rd Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Herndon, celebrated their 53rd anniversary November 6th at their home, 2032 8th avenue, Council Bluffs, Ia.

Having spent nine years in slavery, Mr. Herndon, who is now 81 years of age, upon being granted his freedom was joined in happy matrimony, with Mrs. Herndon, who is now 76, in the state of Missouri, within the vicinity of their birthplace which was 10 miles from Moberly, Mo.

Upon interviewing this happy couple, it was learned that together they romped the plains of Missouri as childhood playmates, an association that culminated in holy wedlock.

As this lovely couple sat down to a beautiful decorated table on November 6th, the center was embellished with a magnificent cake, supporting 53 candles, symbolic of 53 years of perfect union. Celebrating this noteworthy occasion, were four of the six children in the persons of Mrs. J. S. Means, Mr. R. E. Herndon, Mrs. Viola Stewart, Mrs. C. E. Herndon, 12 grand children and 3 great grand children.

So unique was the occasion that the Continental Bakery became interested in the couple and sought them out as their honored guest for Wednesday evening, November 17th, at the Omaha Guide Food Show. Upon interviewing the representative of the Continental Baking Company, they spoke in the highest praise of this grand old couple, and marvelled at the ability of Mrs. Herndon, who is blind, to make the 1, 2, 3 test on the quality of bread. Mrs. Herndon made the following statement: "We people who are blind, must judge the quality of any article by feel, taste and smell. Imagine my surprise when I made the famous 1, 2, 3, comparison test, and found Wonder bread feels smoother, tastes sweeter, and the aroma is more pleasing than any of the other breads. It's Slo baked Wonder Bread for my family from now on," states Mrs. Herndon.

Chest Drive Opens Tuesdav, Nov. 16

An army of men and women who will accept gifts from those who have to help those who have not, are now actively engaged in making plans for the most extensive and intensive Community Chest campaign in the history of Omaha. The goal set for the campaign which will open with a city wide sweep November 16th, is $577,739.10. The amount is 9 per cent over the money actually collected last year but the increase is necessary to meet the growing demand for care of dependent children and families, according to a careful survey compiled by the Chest based on reports from the 29 affiliated agencies.

President J. L. Haugh of the Chest and Roy L. Page, general chairman, have joined hands in the drive with men and women in all sections and walks of life in the city to bring the campaign this year to a successful conclusion.

For days now the personal and industrial solicitation has been underway. The solicitation of personal contributions began Monday morning following a meeting Sunday at the Paxton hotel. Victor B. Smith, chairman of this division, presided and gave final instructions to the more than 100 men volunteers.

J. M. Harding, head of the industrial division, with 450 captains in charge of other hundreds of workers, have been quietly canvassing for large contributions from industry.

Meanwhile an auxiliary army of 1,300 women is being carefully organized and trained for the city wide, house to house canvassing, which will begin November 16th and continue to the end of the drive, November 27th. These women are in the residential division and led by Mrs. Earl C. Sage. In preparation for this drive 15 meetings are being conducted this week where the women are expertly schooled in the work being done by the Community Chest in Omaha so they may tell the real story of social service when they call on the people.

So that all of the people of Omaha may be accurately informed of the far reaching activities of the Community Chest and the work it does through the affiliated agencies a speakers' bureau is carrying on an educational program. This bureau is headed by Walter L. Pierpoint and Farrar Newberry, newspapers, radio stations, theaters and many other institutions and organizations are cooperating.

Motorcycle Police Saves Man's Life

Columbia, S. C., Nov. 11 (ANP)—Prompt and heroic action Tuesday on the part of Motorcycle Officer D. E. McCravery doubtless saved the life of Samuel Boston, colored resident of Charleston, when the latter's car caught fire and sprayed him with gasoline.

Boston, accompanied by several relatives, had been to State Park hospital to visit his sister, a patient, and on the return to Charleston trouble developed in the fuel pump of his car, which he stopped to repair. When he again started the motor, the carburetor caught fire, sprayed Boston's clothing, which soon became a mass of flames.

Adding to his danger, Boston started to run, and at that moment Motorcycle Policeman McCravery drove up. Grabbing the fire extinguisher from his motorcycle he caught up with the fleeing fire victim and put out the flames, after which he rushed him to Columbia hospital, where he was found to be seriously burned about both arms and shoulders. He is expected to recover. None other was injured, but all agreed that had not McCravery arrived when he did, Boston would have burned to death.

Armistice Day

Through the width and breadth of the world Thursday, November 11th echoed the sound of a salute and taps commemorating the signing of a document 19 years ago, that caused a wave of joy to sweep around the world, causing soldiers to dance jigs of wild delight in the trenches and millions of mothers to weep for sheer gladness, for the long torment of fear had ended.

The world was happy that the greatest and most terrible was over. A war that had taken the lives of 126,000 American dough boys and lamed nearly twice that number, had cost the world 400 billion dollars a debt that no nation is yet through paying.

Yet as Roosevelt Post No. 30 joined other American Legion or organizations through the country in celebrating Armistice Day, civil and international wars again rage. Tragic as they are, they give a special meaning to America's celebration of Armistice Day. They make plain that war does not end war, that peace founded on violence breeds further violence, that what is achieved by force will be overthrown by force.

Truly, the American doughboys who gave their lives on Europe's battlefields will not have died in vain, so long as we remember that lesson. On Armistice day the Omaha Guide saluted peace, and the men who fought to achieve it.

Protests Delay Of Anti-Lynch Bill

Following is a copy of a telegram sent President Roosevelt by Walter White, secretary of the NAACP, protesting further delay of action on the Federal Anti-Lynching Bill.

"Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt, The White House, Washington, D. C. Supporters of the anti-lynching bill are astonished and disturbed at statement of Senator James F. Byrnes on leaving White House yesterday that attempts will be made to make the Government reorganization bill the first order of business of the Senate if the Farm bill is not ready and this in spite of unequivocal special order voted August 12th by two-thirds Senate to make anti-lynching bill the second order of business of the next session. Supporters of the anti-lynching bill would appreciate assurance from you that any and all efforts to circumvent this special order do not meet with your approval."

Add your approval to his action by writing or wiring your representatives in Congress.

Pleads Guilty To Relief Forgeries

Cleveland, O., Nov. 11 (ANP)—Leslie H. Engram, 40, a social worker, formerly employed as an investigator by federal relief offices here, pleaded guilty to charges of forgery in connection with manipulation of food orders of relief clients before Judge David Ralph Hertz a week ago.

When the case broke last week, friends of Engram were astounded since he had been one of the oldest workers in the city in tenure of service, and one of the most trusted. According to the indictment returned following a complete investigation, Engram was charged with forging the name of a relief client, Noah Gordan, to a relief order amounting to $16.25. At the time of this disclosure, officers discovered that this case was only one of many similar ones that had been perpetrated during a long period of time.

Relief officers discovered that the checks had been issued to suspected cases' on relief, which necessitated that the checks be delivered directly to the client by the worker. By an arrangement with one Ben Shulman, a grocer, Engram is charged with forging the order with the client's name, receiving the merchandise and disposing of it with another grocer, Adolph Goodman. This arrangement is said to have been responsible for the loss of some $5,000 to relief clients. Engram received half the money, while the two grocers divided the remaining half, according to charges.

Only the merest accident was responsible for the disclosure. Engram who had considered his scheme 'fool proof', went away on a vacation after removing all incriminating evidence for the relief office files and taking it to his home. During his absence, a client, Noan Gordan, came into the relief office and asked to be put back on relief.

Judge Rules Same Law Must Apply To All Local Clubs

A court is an institution or an instrument through which justice is to be administered in accordance to the word of the law.

Monday, Judge O'Brien, while sitting for the hearing of a charge of keeping a disorderly house against James Glenn, who at the time of the arrest, was in charge of the Maint Event Social club, an organization which has been granted a charter for operation by the Secretary of State, made the following assertion directed to the arresting officers, after having listened attentively to the alleged charge of arresting officer in which it was pointed out that the buzzer, introduced as evidence, was being used at the club in question to notify patrons as to the arrival of officers, and had personally scrutinized the charter and club register upon which the name of members were enrolled which is in accordance with the law, that the Main Event club, had complied with the law of the state of Nebraska, and is entitled to the same legal courtesies as is accorded the Amaha Athletic club, Omaha Club, Happy Hollow club or any other such club operating under a charter granting them the right to be immuned from raids unless a warrant has been issued and is in the possession of the arresting officer.

Following the above assertion, Judge O'Brien dismissed the case.

Judge O'Brien is commended for having adhered to the law upon which such a case is to be judged. We take off our hats to any court who administers justice according to the letter of the law.

If guilty, and the law calls for the perpetrator to be punished, let the law take its course. If the alleged persons or persons are found, not guilty, according to the law, let them be exonerated.
