Churches Show Enthusiasm Preparing May Day Festival

Parade To Be Prelude To May Day Festival

Eleven Churches Represented In First Rehearsal

300 Youths to Sing in Unison

The May Day Festival scheduled for May 22 at Zion Baptist church under the auspices of the Omaha Youth Council will have as its prelude a mammoth parade of youth comprising some 700 boys and girls.

This colorful display of Youth promises to eclipse all other such demonstration ever staged in Omaha. The setting will be as follows: As the mammoth parade moves up 24th street; police escorted followed in line by a beautifully decorated float carrying the reigning May Day Queen 1938, with boy scouts acting as guards of honor, next in line will be the sponsors and directors followed by the Negro WPA band, after which will come visiting queens followed by the queens of the various churches of the city and their choirs. The sponsors and directors will ride with their respective queens and attendants.

All queens will ride in decorated floats, thus in order to move on time all sponsors are urged to have their floats, queens and attendants with choirs at 24th and Parker not later than 1:45 p. m. The parade will move from that point at exactly 2:30 p. m. Turning out of Parker onto 24th street and up 24th street to Lake, over Lake to 22nd and down 22nd to Grant and thence to Zion Baptist church, where you will be directed to the basement preparatory to the procession up the steps and into the auditorium where it is expected that nearly 2,000 persons will be awaiting the ringing out of 300 youth in song.

Special numbers will be rendered by junior choirs from the following churches with more yet to fall in line: Pilgrim Baptist, Bethel A.M.E., Metropolitan, Bethel Baptist, Christ Temple, Pleasant Green Baptist, St. John A.M.E., Salem Baptist, Zion Baptist, Seventh Day Adventist, Clair Chapel M.E., Los Cantores Choir, Junior Clature Girls and Boys, Saturday Music Club.

It is expected that the special event department of radio station WOV, under the direction of Foster May, will cover the program and send out over the ether a vivid description of this cultural developing program.

The Finger Bridges Cover The Keyboard

Marvin's lesson was going along in "tip top" shape. Well almost anyway; Marvin was just a little worried. The week before his teacher had reminded him that he should keep his fingers curved and his hands "arched," but it was hard to keep his fingers curved when there were so many other things like fingering, counting and sharps and flats to remember. He thought maybe his teacher would not notice his hands this once.

He had just gotten to a spot where his hands flopped and flattened out terribly, when his teacher stooped over and looked along the keyboard.

"What's he doing? Marvin thought. He became so excited that it was hard to keep on playing.

My goodness, your bridges have fallen down! his teacher exclaimed. Marvin suddenly stopped playing. "What do you mean?" He looked puzzled.

"When I was a boy," his teacher began, "I used to pretend that my hands were two little bridges. I kept my fingers curved so that the bridges could not fall down into the keyboard river. My little finger had to be watched the closest because it liked to sort of straighten out and tip the whole bridge over sideways.

Marvin could hardly wait to put his hands on the keys to see if they really looked like bridges sure enough. First he looked at his right hand, then at the left. He could see the keyboard river flowing clear to the ends of the piano.

When he practiced the next week he began by curving his fingers and arching the finger bridges over the keys before he began to play.

Every few minutes he bent down to see if the bridges were still up. A week passed quickly by, and it was really fun to build and watch the keyboard bridges! Try it for yourself.

Festival Highlights

All girl choruses are quite popular this year. Christ Temple, Metropolitan and Clair Chapel are expecting to give us a real treat they say.

Judging from the rainy weather, the spring storms have come a bit early. Let us hope they will have on their best company manners on May 22.

Booker Washington and Celestine Lightner, pupils of Cecil Berryman, have a surprise in store for us. Guess what it is?

We are receiving letters from Iowa, Kansas, Missouri and Illinois asking for the date of the May Day Festival.

A group of May maidens meet every Tuesday with the Festival director to twine garlands.

Bernard Grice our young Festival trumpeter will be on hand to herald the May queens agin this year.

The May Queen contest will be hotter than ever this year. Pilgrim says they are going to show Bethel Baptist church something. Zion says they are going to show Pilgrim something. St. John A.M.E. says, "Just watch us," while Metropolitan Spiritual says, "The crown is as good as ours." Well we will see. Pleasant Green, Clarinda, Iowa and Salem smile mysteriously but won't say a thing.

Council Bluffs promises to follow their queen in mass.

Mr. L. L. McVay, founder of the Goodwill Spring Musical, featuring the senior choirs of the city is sponsoring the St. John A.M.E. Junior choir and with Mrs. Alyce Wilson serving as director, promises the public a real treat.

GAMES

What Am I?

This game is played by having several pictures cut out of a magazine or newspaper and pinned on a person's back. He is then told that he is to guess what he represents by suggestions given by the audience, these suggestions relating in some definite way to the pictures pinned on his back. The one from whom he gets his suggestion must take his place for the next game.

Observation

Place from one dozen to twenty small articles on a platter and pass around the room, giving each person about ten seconds in which to "observe." Then let each one write on a slip of paper the names of the articles as far as remember ed. A few simple prizes may be given to the ones able to name the largest number of articles, also a "booby" prize.

THE QUEEN SONG

We are waiting for you love—
As the sweet May breezes blow—
Watching shadows of the river—
As they flit both to and fro,
We have come to see th' lovelight—
Dancing in your eyes anew,
And to hear you sweetly saying,
That you will ever be true.

*Tru-la-la la la
Tru-la-la la la
Tru-la-la la la*

Chorus
Tru-la-la la la
The sun looks down upon our happiness scene—
Tru-la-la la la
We shall be here before thee, Oh our radiant queen,
Tru-la-la la la
More love than ours for thee, th' Tru-la-la la la
Tru-la-la la la
The world has ever seen.

Tru-la-la la la our radiant queen

THE YOUTH BEHIND

Someone will take your place when you are gone,
Will come as you to face the morning mail,
Hear the small talk and bear the burden on,
And to keep ever the venture will not fail.

You may be brave and wise and quick and strong,
You may command with courage and with awe,
But one shall come when you have passed along,
And serve with equal splendor in your place.

And she may see what you have never seen,
May find new ways your feet have never trod,
And she may go where you have never been,
For, after all, the greatest of us plod.

In all the throng you may not see her face,
Secure you seem and all your prospects fair,
But one there is who waits to take your place,
Just when you meet her there.

May Festival Songs

VOICES OF THE WOODS

Welcome, sweet springtime!
We greet thee in song,
Murmurs of gladness, fall on the ear
Voices long hushed, now their full notes prolong.
Echoing far and near
"Balmy and life breathing breezes are blowing
Swiftly to nature, new vigor bestowing.

Ah, now my heart beats with rapture anew
As earth's fairest beauties again meet my view.

Chorus
Sing, then ye birds, raise your voices on high,
Flowers awake ye, burst into bloom
Springtime is come and sweet summer is nigh.
Sing, then ye birds, oh, sing!

Verse II

Sunshine now wakes all the flowers from sleep.
Joy, giving incense floats on the air,
Snowdrop and primrose both timidly peep.
Paling the glad new year,
Now nature love thee, each glad voice discloses.
Herald thou art of the time of roses.

Oh, how my heart beats with rapture anew
As earth's fairest beauties again meet my view.

Chorus
Same as above.

Prevention of Disease

BY DR. G. B. LENNOX

Children who enjoy privacy in their homes and are then thrown in large crowds, such as schools and church and by playing with other, are susceptible to a certain amount of communicable diseases. Thus by handling articles and putting the fingers into the outh, by using the same drinking cup, sitting in congested room with little ventilation, etc., they throw open the door for the spread of disease. Great precaution should be taken to prevent the contraction of such diseases as small pox, scarlet fever, typhoid fever, diphtheria, measles, whooping cough and the common cold which might later develop into pneumonia. To help prevent these, children must use private drinking cups, bathe regularly, never over eat, and eat regularly the foods which are easily digested. A sufficient amount of rest answers for the same purpose as good food. Keep the body warm and prevent chilling. If the child is not immune to these diseases or his not been vaccinated, have it done at once to safeguard against these contagious diseases and thereby help ward off other diseases. If your child should fall a victim to any disease call your family doctor at once and he will help you check any condition. Remember a teaspoon full of precaution is worth a barrel full of cure. Their lives are worth the price.
You will hear from me later.

VERSE TO A BUSINESS MAN

Sock him on the kisser, put him on the pan,
Roll him in the gutter—He's a business man.
Pillory the sucker, poke him in the eye.
Jump upon his torso—He's a business guy!
Has he built a business to enormous heights?
Brand him as a cheater—Never mind his rights!
Does he give employment? Is the payroll big?
Put the bum in irons! Toss him in the brig!
Why, the dirty reptile should be paying more!
Blast him in the headlines charge some crooked acts,
Let this be your slogan: "Anything but facts!"
Has he made some money? Get his scalp today!
See, where does he think he's living, anyway?
