TRUTH VISIONS
by ABBE WALLACE

NOTE:—Your question will be answered FREE in this column ONLY when a clipping of this column is enclosed with YOUR QUESTION, YOUR FULL NAME, BIRTHDATE and CORRECT ADDRESS. For PRIVATE REPLY send twenty-five cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope for my NEW ASTROLOGY READING and receive by return mail my FREE ADVICE on THREE QUESTIONS. Send all letters to Abbe Wallace, care of The Omaha Guide, 2418 Grant Street, Omaha, Nebraska.

R. H. T.—I am on the farm this year for the first time and working very hard. Tell me if I will be able to free myself of debt this winter as I expect?
Ans: I feel sure you will. This is going to be about the hardest year's work that you ever did but you can expect returns from same. The coming winter will find you employed, you should be able to get ahead.

E. C.—Everyone tells me to leave my husband as he runs around but we have two children and he is their father and they love him and I don't know what to do. Help me please?
Ans: What on earth could a young woman with two small children do if she did leave a man that provided for her. Stick by him and see if you can't make him so interested in the home, his children and yourself that he will stop this foolishness. He means well but is a bit weak when he sees a "skirt."

F. M. P.—Will I ever prosper at what I am trying to do and if so when?
Ans: A lot of pleasure will be derived from your singing and you should make every effort to take vocal lessons. You are very young and you can't expect too much in the immediate future.

I. E. S.—I am so sick and tired of this brother in law of mine. All the expense he has been to me and as much as I have tried to help him he doesn't appreciate what I have done. Sometime I feel like giving up everything.
Ans: Do give up doing anything else for him. It is a waste of time and money to help anyone who doesn't appreciate your efforts. His case is no doubt one that has received too much outside help and he doesn't know how to get along without it and it makes him angry to have to admit it. Let him shift his own troubles and he will learn how it is done.

P. G. R.—I want peace and happiness in the house. Tell me if I will ever get the place that I want and will conditions change for me?
Ans: If it is possible to convince your son to help you get the home; then it wouldn't be any trouble at all to purchase same. He should become interested in one type of work for as long as he continues as he is now, he will stay dissatisfied. A change is indicated in the near future.

C. L. C.—Is there a chance of my ever walking good again?
Ans: Yes indeed. A good medical doctor should be able to relieve your rheumatic condition so that you could get around good again. Have your teeth examined.

E. M. B.—I am a young woman very attractive but can't hold a job or get a friend to give me money to amount to nothing. Tell me why?
Ans: Do you work hard to hold a job. You must work just as hard trying to please the party you are employed by as you would want someone to please you. Put your heart in the work and you will be able to hold down a job. If you are looking for some friend to press money out on a "silver platter" you are all "set". Why not look for a husband.

SHOPPING FOR BEAUTY

There is no royal road to beauty. It is true that some women are born with beauty but most of the women who are considered pretty, acquire it by persistent effort in living to self-beautification program.

This elusive quality called feminine beauty can be acquired. That woman never lived who does not have qualities of attractiveness. But how many women really understand how to make the most of these redeeming features which belong to them alone.

With our professional guidance the redeeming qualities for attractiveness with which every woman is endowed can be enhanced and transformed into definite charm.

Learn to choose your clothes with an eye to smartness and becomingness as well as quality. It is not always the most expensive gown that looks best when worn. One must know what type of garment best suited to one's personality and transformed into definite charm.

What may be worn well by one woman presents a tragic appearance on another. When you are shopping for clothes, seek advice of a well-trained salesman, one who has a knowledge of what constitutes good grooming and one who is eager to hold you as a customer.

Like wise, when you go shopping for beauty learn to choose your cosmetics with the advice of a beautician who knows your needs best. Don't select a new coiffure because you saw it worn on a movie star in her latest picture. Have your hair styled to complement your individuality.

Don't wait until an appointment book is filled before you call for an appointment for the spring dancing parties.

THIRTY FOR BEAUTY AND CHARM

Women have consistently been against these enemies of beauty, invasive, if not actually untruthful, about telling their correct age, but recently there has been a marked change in the number of years to which they are willing to admit. Heretofore, when it was necessary to make some statement on the subject, they hid behind the "over-twenty-one" alibi. Now many are frankly admitting their years. Some of the most glamorous stars of stage and screen are over forty and may so. Thirty is actually a much more elegant age than the self-conscious teens and pseudo-sophisticated twenties. By thirty a woman has achieved the charm of maturity while still possessing the freshness and vigor of youth. She has enough self-confidence and poise to meet the most difficult situation without flinching. She has lived long enough to have acquired tolerance and understanding. And it is this sympathy and understanding that make for charm. And charm, as we all know, is far more important than beauty and an open door to romance.

Waging War on Wrinkles

The woman of thirty is more likely to have both charm and beauty. She is, or should be, at the very peak of her loveliness, and if, through carelessness, she has lost her beauty, it may be comparatively easy to regain. Her muscles may be sufficiently elastic for her to be able to pull herself back into trim with a few faithfully taken exercises. Her skin will retain the freshness of youth if she observes the simple formula of cleanliness, stimulation and lubrication. Her one great problem, which is often shared by her younger sisters, is that of wrinkles, horrid little crows' feet that will creep up around her eyes, furrows between her brows and deep lines from her nose to the corner of her mouth.

Remember—thirty is the most glorious age of all. Don't let your most beautiful years be marred by unnecessary wrinkles and cross-looking lines.

What are your beauty problems? Write Marie Downing, Larieuse Beauty Foundation, Room 607—511 Locust St., St. Louis, Mo., and she will be glad to answer them. Be sure to enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope.

TESTED RECIPE
By Frances Lee Barton

DON'T you ever succumb to the "sweet tooth" temptation—when all good resolutions about calories and extra ounces fly out the window? When you feel this coming on don't fly to extremes and make a rich desert that only long, lean, lucky people can eat without fear of adding weight. Make this dessert, which will gratify that longing for a sweet, but it won't disturb your conscience unduly.

Orange Tapioca
2 cups water; 4 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca; 1/2 cup sugar; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 4 oranges, sections free from membrane; 1 cup orange juice; 1 1/2 tablespoons lemon juice; 1 tablespoon grated orange rind; 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind.

Place water in top of double boiler and bring to a boil over direct heat. Combine tapioca, sugar, and salt; add gradually to water and bring to a brisk boil, stirring constantly. Place immediately over rapidly boiling water and cook 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cool; mixture clears and thickens as it cools. When slightly cool, add orange sections, orange and lemon juice, and rinds. Chill. Serve in sherbet glasses. Serves 6.
