SOUTHERN MINISTER OBSERVES RACE CONDI- TIONS ON MIDWEST VISIT Claims South Offers Superior Advantages

Two Prominent Omahans Pass

PROMINENT YOUNG OMAHAN PASSES

New Orleans, July 20 (By Leon Lewis for ANP)—Giving what he calls a comparison in the development of the Negro in the North and South based on his observational study of existing conditions, Rev. H. H. Dunn recently returning from the general council of Congregational Christian Churches at Beloit, Wis., places conditions of housing and environment foremost in effect on general racial developments. Rev. Dunn is one of the most active figures in Louisiana's religious and civic work, and is a very familiar with the existences concerning Negroes in this area. He said, "Outward appearance would lead one to believe that Negroes in the North and Middlewest, on a whole enjoy better advantages than those in the South, but a more scrutinizing investigation showed that the Negro is liable to more per capita advantage economically in the South than those of the upper section of the country."

North Pays "Strained Wages

In commenting on the Northern Negroes, he explained that where you see a small percentage of the Negro population drawing salaries equivalent to those of other nationality groups in Chicago and Detroit, especially, the vast majority are drawing "strained wages." He further explained that there is a great tendency on the part of the Northern Negro to live above his income, more so than the South because of the avenues into which he is invited to spend. Briefly, summing up this situation, he said that the difference between the two sections of the country is this: The North offers the Negro unlimited avenues for spending his money, and few for earning it, while the South broadens his avenue of earning, and forces his spending into a narrow channel of business of his own race.

Decries Housing Conditions

Getting back to his most important angle of comparison, the housing situation, living conditions, and environmental effects, he said, "Although you find Negroes living in fine apartments, and few having fine estates and country homes, the vast majority of those who live in the 'black belt' are subjected to housing conditions within these well-constructed buildings that present a slum clearance problem much greater than that of the South."

To substantiate his view, he pointed out that in the South, while we have small cottages and huts and in some instances, no

DO YOU WANT 5 NEW JOBS? THEN VOTE FOR M. L. ENDRES

M. L. Endres has been a friend of the colored people for many years and has recognized them while he held the office of Douglas County Sheriff by appointing Dudley Wright as deputy sheriff. Mr. Endres kept him as deputy for the full four year term of his administration. Prior to that time the colored people had never received such recognition from this office.

Mr. Endres was also instrumental in forming the first Democratic Club on North Twenty-Fourth Street and has helped materially in running and financing the club. He feels that his many friends have not forgotten him and will be out helping nominate him at the primaries August 9th.

Returns from Gettysburg

DR. J. H. GARNETT, distinguished minister and dean of the American Baptist Theological Seminary at Nashville, who has just returned from the 75th anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg, seated with Joe Verplan, white, a fellow veteran. The life story of Dr. Garnet, who is 91 years old, reads like an epic. A slave boy in Georgia, caught up by Union soldiers in Sherman's march to the sea, he was taken to New York where he enlisted under age but fell ill in South Carolina and never was engaged in battle. Thrifty and ambitious he later worked his way through Georgia college securing his A. B. and M. A. degree, with another later from the University of Chicago. His home is in Gary, Ind., where his daughter, Mrs. Ida Guy, is a prominent teacher. Despite his advanced age and his physical condition is excellent and his mind is as keen as that of many men forty years his junior. He reported grand treatment and a wonderful experience at Gettysburg.

Killers Must Stand Trial For Manslaughter

SEEK JAIL FOR — CHICAGO COP WHO KILLED MAN

Chicago, July 28 (CNA)—Prison sentences loomed this week for four suspended white policemen accused of fatally beating John Robinson, 33 year old West Side Negro to death.

Leaders of the West Side Citizen Organization sought indictments for manslaughter against the four officers—John Bowen, Bernard White, Edward Brown and Fred Herman all of Maxwell Street Station after the civil service commission took under advisement charges that the policemen assaulted Robinson on April 2.

The weak defense for the four officers crumbled completely when their attorney, A. L. Marovity, failed to prove a past police record for Robinson before the beating on April 2, and after Dr. Andrew J. Toman, medical supervisor at the House of Correction, testified that Robinson's death might have resulted from injuries inflicted by the Maxwell Street officers.

Eight police squad cars, two ambulances and a police pumper car rushed to the scene and rushed the injured fire fighters to the hospital. A crowd of 3,000 watched firemen fight the blaze, said to have started when park employees failed to turn off an amplifier system after an afternoon dance.

2 Firemen Killed In Crash

Denver, Colo., July 28 (By Alice Lamb for ANP)—Capt. G. W. Brooks, 48, one of the best known officials of the local fire department, and Fireman James E. Simpson were killed and others seriously injured last Friday when two fire trucks collided while answering a call to Blitch's Gardens, Denver amusement park. Both were colored.

Of those reported severely hurt, James E. Harrison, 43, and Sydney Frelow, 28, were also colored. One truck turned over after colliding with a large ladder truck, the crash being described by George Daves, a witness, who said, "Firemen were tumbled from the trucks like tennis."

Eight police squad cars, two ambulances and a police pumper car rushed to the scene and rushed the injured fire fighters to the hospital. A crowd of 3,000 watched firemen fight the blaze, said to have started when park employees failed to turn off an amplifier system after an afternoon dance.

BOSTON CITIZENS DECRY JIM CROW

Boston, July 23 (ANP)—Boston citizens this week made a strong protest to bus line officials when it was learned that colored passengers were segregated in a bus leaving last Saturday night for New York. On arrival of the bus at a midtown station, it was charged that the colored passengers had been "herded" in the rear seats, with white passengers riding up front. It was also said some of the companies mark the tickets by code so that as the passenger enters, drivers can assign colored riders to rear seats.

Joe Louis Breaks Up Ball Game

CAFE MANAGER IS FINED FOR DISCRIMINATION

Boston, July 28 (ANP)—Racial prejudice in Massachusetts was dealt a decisive blow last week when Judge Gershon Hall in First District Court of Barnstable, found Charles R. Plummer, white, manager of Dutchland Farms, Inc., eating place in Hyannis, a suburb, guilty of discrimination for refusing to serve a patron because he was a Negro.

L. Lincoln Mills, Boston resident, represented by Atty. Julian D. Rainey told the court Manager Plummer had informed him, "We do not cater to colored people in our dining room." His testimony was supported by Chief of Police, W. B. Fleming, who, on Hinds' complaint had issued the warrant for the manager. Judge Hall then declared Plummer guilty and assessed the fine.

HARVARD U. TO PUBLISH DOCTOR DEAN'S THESIS

Atlanta, Ga., July 28 (ANP)—Dr. William H. Dean Jr. of the department of economics, Atlanta University has received word that Harvard University Press will publish the 30,000-word thesis for his Ph. D. degree, entitled "The Location of Economic Activities." The book will be limited to classroom use. Dr. Dean won both his M. A. and Ph. D. degrees at Harvard, and is now engaged in research work there under a Rosenwald Fellowship.

Detroit, July 28 (ANP)—Ten thousand people almost mobbed World Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis when he stopped a baseball game here Tuesday afternoon. The champ really broke up the game—not in the same manner, however, in which he breaks up pugilistic hopes and ribs his opponents, but merely with his presence.

The Joe Louis' Brown Bombers, soft ball team, was playing the Black Hawks, representatives of a local beer tavern, at Atkinson field, where 10,000 fans waited for an hour before game time because it had been announced that the champ would play first base for a few innings. Joe sat among his players wearing dark sun glasses and a big le-horn hat turned down and the multitude failed to recognize him. They crowded on the field so close that the outfielders had to play almost on the edge of the diamond and the police failed in their attempts to move the crowd back.

In the fifth inning, when Joe arose, took off his glasses and hat in preparation to play, some one yelled, "There he is!" and the surging mob started running. Some thought he was coming and rushed to the gate to meet him, while the rest swarmed the popular idol and literally rushed him off his feet and swept him on towards the gate instead of on the field. Little children, men and women, white and black tugged at his coat, tried to shake his hand and the poor helpless champion looked bewildered. Police came to the rescue and escorted the fight to his car and the game was over. The Bombers won the abbreviated game 5 to 0.
