BAHA'I FAITH

Education has a great effect upon the human race, training does not change the human substance, but it produces marvelous effect, revealing all the latent, virtues in human capacities. No matter how the shell is polished, it can never become the radiant pearl, that is to say children of the same age, family under the tutorage of one teacher differs in their minds and comprehensions. But children trained in the principles of religion, and in sciences, must become the cause of unity and the human race. Please accept an invitation to A Baha'i Fireside Chat, Wed. 8 P. M. 3014 No. 28th Ave.

THE MARCH OF MANY FEET

—By W. L. Moody—
The beginning of the past two weeks have marked the opening of public schools throughout the country. Many boys and girls who have enjoyed the pleasures of the playgrounds, sand lots, Youth camps and vacation trips have found themselves called by either the literal or proverbial school "gong." Instead of applying the Master's words "Come ye apart in a desert place and rest awhile," we are summoned to "Come and learn." We hope each student in all of our institutions, from kindergarten to University will do his or her best that their education may serve its purpose. One prophet said that "knowledge shall increase." This is not only true, but the opportunities for that increase of knowledge has also increased. Every man and woman who desires may learn too. There are various opportunities as those at YWCA, the Urban League and Central High School where every adult who wants to learn may do so. If you feel an urge to answer that old response to the school bell, go to one of the schools and increase your knowledge about worthwhile subjects. Put your two feet in the march with many feet and let us go forward toward the heights of learning. You are never too old to learn, if you feel that way, then you are mentally dead. Don't die before your time comes.
