Styles Beauty

By Hazel L. Griggs for ANP

Accessories were never more important to the fashion picture than they are today. The manufacturers of costume jewelry, bags, gloves, frills and furbelows, are really outdoing themselves in an effort to enhance milady's charm. There's a revival of daguerrotype jewelry, along with daguerrotype fashions, and one finds camcots set on black ribbon bands for the evening, stick half a dozen tiny combs, tipped with ostrich feathers between them to achieve a beautifully colorful effect. Even neck or arms, lapel gadgets, flower-like clusters of stones massed on gilt chains, brooches, pendant necklaces and earrings.

The long pendant necklaces are especially good when they follow the line of a deeply slashed décolletage. Topaz is the stone of the year, but many of the bracelets, pins and pendants are made of brilliantly colored enamel set against gilt backgrounds.

If you're wearing piled-up curls for evening, stick half a dozen tiny combs, tipped with ostrich feathers between the mts to achieve a beautifully colorful effect. Evening bags as well as dresses, are found in slipper satin, sleek and undecorated. Others come in puffed kid, silver or gold, and they are smaller copies of the sculptured bags, featured for daytime use.

Contrasting satin slippers are being used with evening frocks—American beauty red with gray, bright blue, purple or fuchsia with other colors, and evening handkerchiefs, which are stepping to the front again, are matched as a tie-up. They may also be used to protect the curls.

Evening dresses of slipper satin are seen in such old-time colors as mauve, ashes-of-roses, sage green and sprig green, and clusters of matching ostrich feathers, in the hair, accompany them. When this material is used, full skirts are the order of the day.

Dust ruffles, flounces and hoop skirts are a part of the quaint, though modern fashion picture, harking back to young lady fashions of the past, and long lace mitts are often seen with these dresses.

A powder-puff of silver fox slanting down over the eye, and held on by a ribbon band, is the latest whim of a hat, and in intriguing one, if I may say so. This concludes a bird's eye view of the mode for this week, but I'll be back next week with more suggestions and remember, I'd like to hear from you about fashion problems. Address inquiries (with stamped-addressed envelope enclosed) to Hazel L. Griggs, care of the Associated Negro Press, 3507 South Parkway, Chicago, Illinois.

FASHIONS

By JULIA SANFORD

With the holidays just around the corner, you'll want to be glamorously gay. And this seasons frocks do just that to you. There are romantic gowns with wide stand out skirts and also reverting back to grandmothers' day hoops. There are those formals, they have a hint of the gay ninties.

From Thanksgiving until after the New Year there'll be one gay round of parties after another and you will want something that's bewitchingly gay and smart.

This week in the shops there may be seen all kinds of formals, startling in their individuality of design.

There are two frocks which especially catch the eye this week. The first is one of those picture gowns. It is of two-toned aqua-colored moire and has quaintly puffed sleeves. There is a sash of darker aqua combined with the lighter aqua of the dress. There are horizontal bands of darker aqua around the skirt.

The second frock is a more sophisticated version. It is a black crepe, made on slimming princess lines. There is a ruffle of lace around the low cut neckline. The dress is worn under a white beaded jacket with a red velvet belt for a dash of color.

Facial massage is a daily practice with movie stars. This is one of the reasons for their radiant complexions.

Facial massage is truly one of, if not the greatest beauty aids. There are many benefits derived from the various kinds of facial massage.

The plain facial is the foundation of all facial treatment except in case of skin eruptions. Massage rest and quiets the nerves, increases the circulation, freeing the face of muddy sallow complexions. It clears the pores of wash and dirt preventing blackheads and other skin diseases.

WHAT IS PHYSICAL BEAUTY?

Feminine physical beauty is recognized by all mankind. Even civilized man varies in his individual estimates. Those accepted charms of form, face and figure, however, which appeal most to the majority of individuals, may be said to be the nearest approach to an exact standard of beauty we have.

Proportion, color, delicacy, type the flash of the eye, the sweetness of the smile, and a thousand other factors contribute to make a woman beautiful. Every woman has her special individual beauties; some women possess a number in combination. A lovely natural complexion delicately shaped hands, shapely feet and ankles, glorious hair, a noble and alluring figure, all lay a duty upon their possessors—the duty of care and preservation. For beauty, physical as well as mental and moral, it is a virtue. It is as essential to humanity as loyalty and truth. It is, or should be the truth of the physical feminine being, expressed in its most perfect terms.

Woman's face and form are the most exquisite of all that has been created. They combine all the charms of color, harmony, grace, refinement and magnetism. And they reflect the higher attributes of mind and soul. Even the deformed and disfigured may cultivate physical beauty to some degree. Make the most of each and every charm you, individually, may possess.

Before marriage, all girls usually make the most of their physical charms. Beauty is woman's age old and legitimate lure to attract a life companion of the other sex.

Nature helps the young girl with the gift of youth, and as a rule she is willing to aid Nature in making the most of it. But many a young woman, once married, grows careless about the care of her hair, hands skin and figure. She neglects her person and her clothes, and tends to become a lowly household drudge. Now physical beauty is a definite part of the feminine sex appeal. And a happy marriage depends largely on a normal and happy sex on the part of the woman, and corresponding sex interest on the part of the man.

Calvin's Newspaper Service TESTED RECIPE

By Frances Lee Barton

WHEN the chill, shivery days come, how pleasant for the tired home-comers to be greeted by the welcoming savory aroma of hot comforting stew. For when a stew is well and carefully made it's a right, royal winter dish. And when feathery light dumplings are in the stew this good old-fashioned dish becomes something to dream about. But the dumplings must be as light as light can be!

Feather-light Dumplings
1 cup sifted flour; 1 1/2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 1 teaspoon melted butter; 1/2 cup milk.
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Add butter to milk; add to flour and stir carefully until all flour is dampened and soft dough is formed. Drop from teaspoon on boiling stew; cover very tightly and cook, without removing cover, 5 to 7 minutes according to size of dumplings. Serves 6 to 8.

Omaha Public Library

November 13-19 will be National Children's Book Week. The Omaha public library will celebrate the occasion by holding open house in the main children's room, Tuesday, November 15 at 8 P. M. Rabbi David Goldstein will speak on "How Good books influence the level of the community's life."

An organization meeting of a "Friends of the library" group will also be held. "Friends of the library" are those who have grasped the function of the library as a great interpreter of a man to himself; they realize the part the librarians play in that inter-relationship; they know libraries and librarians cannot perform alone this great work. More community, more books, more borrowers, are necessary if the library is to multiply its power to interpret life to the living, to spread the great message of libraries—that life holds far more than which often appears on the surface.

Mrs. David Norton of the Omaha public library board will sponsor the local group. All are cordially invited to attend.

NO MORE BINGO IN DEE CEE
Washington, Nov. (ANP)—Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, has come out against the game of bingo, or any other game that is inconsistent with police regulations. Heretofore the schools have been open to organizations providing bingo as entertainment if such organizations obtained a ruling that their particular game was legal. Dr. Ballou, in writing to Mrs. Elizabeth Peoples on the subject, expressed the opinion that school officials should not put themselves in a position of uncertainty in games of chance.

The Larieuse Beauty Foundation was established by the Godefroy Manufacturing Company to study methods of preserving women's natural beauty, and to make the results of this research available to the public.

This is the season of the year when we are all studying fashion notes and planning that momentous step, the selection of our winter wardrobe. But, unfortunately, there are too many of us who will rush out and buy the latest whim of fashion without taking thought as to whether that particular style will be becoming. We all want to be in style, of course, but it is wise to consider beauty as well. You can be dressed in the height of vogue and still look like a ridiculous caricature of what the well-dressed woman is wearing. Men have a habit, often times justifiable, of making fun of the blind way we follow the dictates of fashion.

Short Girls Get the Breaks
This Year
Everything seems to be on the side of the short girl this season. Shoes with platform soles are designed especially to give her added height. The newest hats have peaks and tall feathers to give her several more inches towards the sky. And then, too, there's the piled up hair-dress to give her the illusion of height. The short girl should have no difficulty keeping up with the style and still looking her loveliest. There are only a few pitfalls which she need watch.

C. L. S.—I wish to know if with the experience I have had, can I make it through nursing school in a year and be successful in a few afterwards or what is best for me?

Ans: Regardless of how much experience you have, it will be necessary for you to spend the limited time in study if you plan to take up a course in nursing. If you finish the course—you will get employment.

W. P.—Will this girl that I have in mind get me into trouble and does she mean me any good?

Ans: The young lady means you no harm—but she isn't in love with you. It would be well for you to choose someone around your own age for a friend as she is much too young to take you seriously. No trouble will arise from your associating with each other.

J. C. W.—My boy friend and I get along terrible. He stays out all hours of the night and never says where and when he goes out and if I go out a while in the day, he gets angry. Tell me if I should stay here and take this stuff or go home?

Ans: Go out and leave him flat. Find you a good paying job and get a boarding place by yourself as you would be better off. Make a visit home if you like, but you will be able to make a better salary right where you are now. In a few months you will meet your ideal mate.

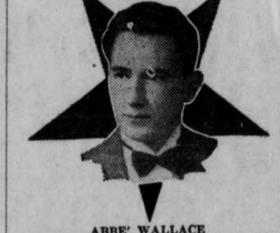

B. W. W.—I am trying very hard to get compensation from my husband's death and wonder what I must do.

Ans: Get in touch with the local American Legion office in your city and ask their help in helping you secure the pension. This matter will be handled through the War Department, Washington, D. C.

CALVIN'S DIGEST

By FLOYD J. CALVIN

Vann Leaps Again
We now have the spectacle of a Negro leader being openly attacked in the white press by so high an official as a United States Senator, and the attack being so vicious as to brand the leader as "careless and dishonest." We doubt seriously however, whether anybody in the Negro group will come to the defense of this leader which only goes to prove the type of leader he is. Ordinarily, no leader in Negro life would be openly attacked by a white man, high or low, without Negroes promptly rallying to the defense of their own; and ordinarily, no white man high or low, would have occasion to attract publicity a leader among Negroes, except on a social question in the deep South.

The fast and loose—even reckless—game played by Robert L. Vann of Pittsburg during the last ten years is now coming to a climax. It is now bearing the fruit that was inevitable that it would bear. Somehow, somewhere Vann got the idea that he could buck white America. Many men in Negro life resent the disabilities under which the race labors, but few are foolish enough to believe that they can do a great deal about self-respect is compromised. Booker T. Washington showed the most
