GALENTO WON'T LAST A ROUND--DEMPSEY

Longville, Ky. April 3—Jack Dempsey today predicted Joe Louis would knock out Tony Galento in their first round of their scheduled June title fight.

"It won't last a round," the former titleholder said. "Joe is the greatest living fighter, and the man to beat him probably is in knee pants now. The trouble with Galento is he has too many press agents."

AMBITIONS

(By ANDY RAZAF for ANP)

A cow looked at a bird and said, "Why can't I be like him? I'd give up anything to fly And perch upon a limb."

The bird gazed at the cow and sighed, "Life would be smooth as silk If I could only moo like you And make delicious milk."

A horse in envy, matched a bee And whined, "It may sound funny But how I wish I were like you So I could make honey."

"To be horse I'd give my all," Replied the mournful bee; "Now how could one so strong and tall Want to be small like me?"

A busy ant who overheard Just smiled and shook his head But they ket on with their complaint Till finally he said:

"Life has a purpose for us all But none of us go far Unless we do our best to be The best of what we are!"

NAVAL NOTES

"Motion pictures are an integral part of the recreation program of the United States Navy. The showing of movies is a nightly diversion on shore stations and ships. The Navy is perhaps the world's largest distributor of motion pictures. It maintains 2000 films in circulation and has a nightly attendance of about 100,000 men. 300 to 400 new films are acquired each year. Two schools are maintained where care and operation of projectors and apparatus is taught Naval personnel.

The first large floating drydock of the Navy was the "DEWEY" now at Olongapo, P. I. This dock was towed there from Chesapeake Bay, a distance of 13,000 miles. The passage took 150 days.

The first armed forces of the United States to land in France at the start of the World War were Naval aviators, 7 June 1917 at Bordeaux, and 8 June 1917 at St. Nazaire.

No United States Man-of-War has ever mutinied or been in the hands of mutineers. In some other Navies, whole squadrons and fleets have mutinied.

Seagulls sometimes adopt a ship and follow it from port to port, even on trans-Atlantic trips. At dusk they settle down on the waves and sleep. At daybreak they resume their journey."

DO YOU REMEMBER?

Attention race horse fans! Starting from today on there will be a column every week concerning your favorite sport. The name of this column is Do You Remember?

I am going to put in this column the last year's winners of each race at the Aksarben Race Track just to refresh your memory because it won't be long now before the ponies will be galloping around the oval boys and girls and you will hear that old familiar sound of they're off and what a thrill that is! Your horse breaks on top in a three-quarter race and you hear the old announcer calling your horse at the one-fourth by one, at the half by 2, in the stretch by 2, and the winner. What a grand and glorious feeling and you tell 'em I told you so! Oh boy on the first day of last year's meeting, do you remember the winner? Well here they are:

WORLD'S FAIR VISITORS TO SEE TOPS IN SPORTS WORLD

JOE LOUIS, THE YANKS AND LOU TO BE BIG ATTRACTIONS

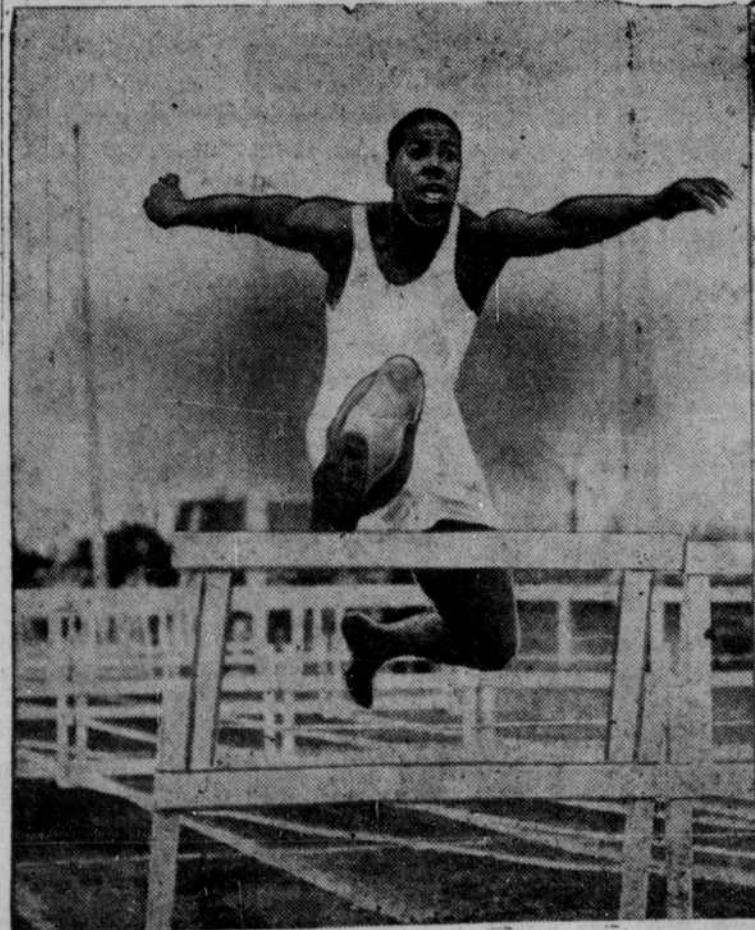

World's Fair time in New York sizes up as a veritable bonanza period for sports enthusiasts, with the tops in every sport slated to appear here.

Both within and without Fair grounds an assemblage of talent that runs from heavyweight champ Joe Louis through the stars of major league baseball, track brilliants and the ranking tennis stars of the world, will perform in scheduled events.

Late June will find Bomber Louis rubbing out the "Beer Barrel" Galento threat in his 15 round appointment at the Yankee Stadium. Stylish Billy Conn takes on Solly Krieger and Melio Betina in Garden scraps in May, and Max Baer meets Lou Nova at the Garden Bowl later that same month, winner to face Louis for the title (a promise or a threat?)

The annual All-Star baseball game, July 11, has been moved here for a repeat performance, so Fair crowds can speak of seeing the individual greats of the game not to mention the all time great team—and we mean the Yankees who will be performing as usual at the Stadium. Oh, yes the Giants and Dodgers play in this town, too.

when the Yanks are travelling.

Track and field fans can hie to Randall's Island for the I-C-4A annual, with most of the track headliners expected to compete. Southern California came from the coast last year to cop the team trophy but Michigan, Pittsburgh, and perhaps some local colleges, may take it back.

Red letter attraction for tennis enthusiasts in the National Singles Championships to be held at Forest Hills, a mile or so from the Fair Amusement area, Sept. 7 to 1. Late in September America's leading women recqueeters defend the Wrightman Cup they won last year against the best that England can muster.

Within the Fair grounds top-notch exhibitions are promised. Joe Louis expects to make the Fair his training camp, and basketball will be demonstrated by the best in the amateur hoop circles.

London Still to Get Welter Fight May 12

Regardless of Armstrongs injuries he will defend his title on May 11th against Ernest Roderick, British champion. His doctors say he will be free from all injuries in a few weeks and he will begin his workouts. Rumors were out before the fight with Day that Homicide Hank was all washed up. Well, I guess there is a different story going around now after Day's fight. Armstrong is the champ of all champs and what a champ.

When Henry returns from London, his next appearance here will be August 9th at the Kankee stadium in New York. Where he will defend his light weight title against Lew Ambers.

Trenholm Still Making Progress at Bama State College

Montgomery Ala. Marc h28 (By E. L. Hercules Calvin Service)—Founded as the Lincoln Normal University in the town of Marion in 1874 the State Teachers College which was at one time also known as "The State Normal School for Colored Students," is today one of the most foremost institutions of higher learning specializing in Teacher-Training for Negroes.

In accordance with numerous progressive phases in the educational program for Negroes in Alabama the institution made certain changes from time to time, which were notable. In 1920, a "Class A" Junior College was added. The year 1929 marked the beginning of the standard four-year teacher training program, with a comprehensive curriculum under the guidance of outstanding educators.

Prof. G. W. Trenholm's Work...The late Prof. George Washington Trenholm who, at one time served as a field representative for the State Department of Education, contributed in no small measure to the expansion of the State Teachers College, and was ably succeeded by his son, President H. Council Trenholm, who has efficiently maintained the high ideals set forth by his predecessor. President Trenholm has directed the affairs of this college for almost fourteen years, and as a graduate of Morehouse College and the University of Chicago, is surrounded by a highly trained faculty representing some of the leading universities in this country and well prepared members of the administrative staff.

Centrally located in the capital city of this industrious state, Teachers College is easily accessible. Here in the midst of a large colored population, a few students of "State" find part-time employment in many Montgomery enterprises, while many are partly employed at the institution. Housed on the large campus of this rapidly growing center of learning, are more than twelve well constructed buildings, each one containing modern conveniences. Now in process of completion is an up to date Science Hall and a magnificent gymnasium, the latter being made possible through the cooperation of the WPA.

Extra-Curricula Activities

The State Teachers College is a member of the South Collegiate Conference. Football games with the leading institutions in this area are held annually. In addition, students participate in such sports as volleyball, track, tennis, basketball and baseball. A well organized debating team is maintained for students interested in oratory. The Male Glee Club and Capella choir are for the benefit of students musically inclined.

There are numerous clubs representing the various departments of "State," including the dramatic club, which functions primarily as a medium for the display of one acting ability. The "Writers of Tomorrow" are actively engaged in journalism, and among the many means by which students receive practical training in this field is participation in the editorial work of the student publications. In addition, many national Greek letter fraternities maintain chapters here.

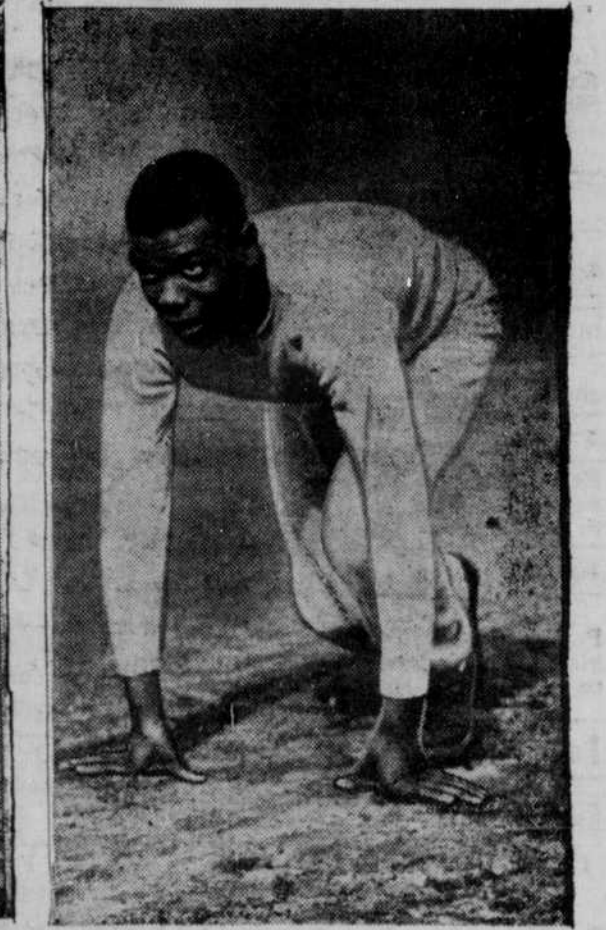

The list of matriculants at more than 1,000 students from all parts of Alabama and the surrounding states. So rapid has been the growth of this institution that in his attempt to further his educational needs of his group, President Trenholm became instrumental in the establishment of an all-year branch Junior College at Mobile in the fall of '27. Classes are conducted there in the Lawrence Street Wing of the Community Center which building was, at one time used by the University of Alabama for its Medical school. At present there are nearly two hundred students at the Mobile unit.

Large Summer School

Said to be one of the largest summer schools in the world, conducted for Negroes, thousands of teachers and regular students are in attendance at the annual sessions. Instruction is offered in various divisions, and in many instances credits earned lead to degrees.

College Serves Need

The State Teachers College is serving a definite need of Negroes in the South. It is the largest Teacher-Training institution in this area, and is the mecca for the training of young people desiring adequate preparation for a type of service in a section of the country that is making evident progress in its educational set-up.
