ST JOHN AME CHURCH
"The Friendly Church"
Dr. R. A. Adams, pastor

The Father's Day Service at St. John were very good. The Sunday school opened with a very good attendance.

The Father's Day Sermon was preached by Rev. Jessie Glover of Los Angeles, Calif. Rev. Glover is an Omaha boy who is making good out on the coast.

He took his text from Luke 5 chapter and 29 verse. The subject was "Am I setting the correct example in my home as a Father?"

His message would make all men of any thought set an example as a father or man, look themselves over to see where their short coming could not be mended.

Rev. Glover's message was so interesting that one did not get tired listening to him. His message was very plain and so clear that anyone could follow it.

Those who have known Rev. Glover since his small boyhood days were greatly encouraged over his improvements that he has made since he left Omaha.

The people of St. John should be proud because he grew up in St. John's Sunday School.

The Men's Day and Father's Day program were very good all day. The men did not yet get to make all their reports as they expected because the rain did not permit them to come to church Sunday night. The rest of the reports will be turned in next Sunday.

The sick of the church are better. Those who are sick are Sister S. M. C. Baker, Louise Strawther,

THIS WEEK IN RELIGION & THOUGHT

by ROBERT L. MOODY

Seeking the Desert Places—

Once again we enjoy vacation season. Thousands of people are going to and fro to various towns and resorts. These are seeking quietness and rest. All of us appreciate the adage: "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." Remember that vacations were designed only for those who work. It is absurd to expect a loafer to be weary and need a vacation. Those who labor and are heavy laden are those who need rest.

Though our Lord was a busy man. He charged his helpers to "come up, depart into a desert place, and rest a while." Many are not fortunate enough to leave the city, but an occasional visit to the parks or lake will soothe the mind and body. Wherever we go let us see that we shall do only those things which are safe for ourselves and others.

There are many youth camps, religious camp meetings, and summer conferences, for young and old. To those who shall go away, we say, "Bon Voyage," and "Be Careful."

CITY UNION OF THE USHERS AND USHERETTES
Jack Hall, reporter
WE. 6421

Due to the rain last Sunday afternoon and night, was unlike the postman delivering mail, one person he hands a long past due bill the other a, small pay check.

Mt. Moriah's Local invited (through the Union) all the locals that cared to participate in a friendly rivalry way to come out and be with him in their church rally during the afternoon and the local having the largest attendance also the one raising the most money in the collection, both would get a prize. Now would you believe it, while Zion and its staff of ushers and usherettes were over to Pilgrim assisting that local in their service, revival you know started there for a week, Salems local reinforced themselves in numbers as well as financially, and under the leadership of their Commander General Mr. Herbert, marched over to Mt. Moriah and there tarried long enough to be counted and make their donation to the collection. After noticing that St. John, Pilgrim, Cleaves, and also Zions local had a small representation, they felt had a chance for one of the prizes, but instead they won both.

Everyone had an enjoyable afternoon and with a pleasant (I say it should have been a pleasant afternoon, they won both prizes, didn't they) big smile on their faces, their good shepherd headed them to greener pastures that they might take time out refresh themselves and chew a little "gum" before service began that night. The Rev. J. D. Condola, of South Africa, lectured on or about his country and its living conditions.

Due to the rain the attendance was small, but for them who heard him, I'm sure they enjoyed it very much.

For myself, I found it very educational which gave food for thought as well as the humorous side of it, especially when he told of the many different ways the Palm-Tree is used for food and other usefull purposes. "All same hog when he take E'm trip to packing house. Use'm all."

Here's hoping to see you real soon. So long till we meet in church.

NOTED CHURCH LEADERS TO CONDUCT SEMINARIES AT TULSA

TO TEACH YOUNG PEOPLE

Tulsa, Okla., June 22 (ANP)—Many ministerial leaders throughout the country are arranging their schedules to attend the Pastors' conference of the Sunday school and BYPU congress which is to assemble at Tulsa, Okla., June 19-25. Rev. B. F. Reid of Cincinnati, Ohio, is the leader of this conference. A large number of ministers from all sections of the country attend this conference each year because of the wide range of discussions and deep spiritual deliveries given by the seminar leaders.

Dr. C. D. Hubert, president of Morehouse college, Atlanta; Dr. J. B. Adams, pastor of Concord Baptist church, Brooklyn, N. Y.; and Dr. J. M. Ellison, professor of sociology, Virginia Union university, Richmond are the noted leaders who will have charge of the three seminars for ministers at this conference. Dr. Hubert will discuss "The Deadly and Insidious World-Trends Facing Protestantism;" Dr. J. B. Adams will discuss "The Prophecy of Amos and Its Implications for our Times;" and Dr. J. M. Ellison "The Church of Our Times and Her Inescapable Challenges." A summarization address will be delivered each day by one of the seminar leaders.

Many other prominent leaders throughout the country will participate in the proceedings of this large gathering of ministers: awards will be given by the congress to those who attend these seminars. One of the greatest features of the entire delegation to the congress will be the court trial in which the youth of our land will indict the adults for negligence in their home training and in neglecting to provide for their economic security. This trial is to be an event of great interest to youth. More than 3,000 of them are expected to attend the congress. Dr. William H. Jernagin, Washington, D. C., is the president, and Dr. A. M. Townsend, Nashville, is director general.

ALABAMA FOUR-H GIRLS PRESENT COTTON PAGEANT

Union Springs, Ala., June 22—(ANP)—"Cotton on Parade," a pageant to demonstrate wider uses of cotton, was recently presented here at First Baptist church by Negro 4-H Club girls of Bullock county. State effects, dialogue, Negro spirituals and demonstration were effectively interspersed as the narrative reader traced the story of cotton from its introduction in America to the economic crash in 1929.

One of the very impressive demonstrations was the making of a bed by two girls who estimated the pounds of cotton used in making each article for the bed. First the mattress which was made by an adult member, was shown to contain 50 pounds of cotton, then in succession sheets, quilts, the spread, pillows, and pillow cases were shown and their cotton weights given. This demonstration closed with an estimate that 3,000 bales of cotton could be used to provide bed articles for the families of Bullock county.
