Emmett H. Hilson, John Wainwright, Claude McFall, John McClennon, James Dean, Ike Shine, and Blue, Plaintiffs

Vs
Walter Morris
Nathaniel Thomas, William Cooper, Aluster Harris, Jesse White, and Fred Fort, Defendants.

Doc 346 No. 109

PETITION

Come now the plaintiffs and for their cause of action, allege and say:

1. That all of the plaintiffs and defendants are residents of Omaha, Douglas county Nebraska.
2. That the plaintiff, Emmett H. Hilson is the pastor of Salem Baptist church and as such pastor is ex-officio chairman of all boards of said church, and is charged with general oversight of the spiritual and temporal needs of said church and congregation. That plaintiffs McFall and Wainwright are deacons of said church and plaintiffs Blue, McClennon, Dean and Shine are trustees of said church.
3. That Nathaniel Thomas, William Cooper, Aluster Harris, Walter Morris, Jesse White and Fred Fort are members of said Salem Baptist Church. That Nathaniel Thomas until recently was treasurer of said church and had in his possession all records of monies received and expended by said church, including books of account, check books, cancelled checks, bills, receipts and contracts covering normal operating costs of said Salem Baptist Church and the cost of a new church edifice and parsonage.

4. That on or about the first day of July 1939, Nathaniel Thomas, was removed as treasurer of said church and he was ordered to turn over to the board of trustees all records of his office, and he has failed, neglected and refused so to do.

5. That on or about the middle of July, 1938, plaintiff Emmett H. Hilson was elected pastor of Salem Baptist Church to serve for an indefinite time. That shortly after taking over his office he discovered that certain funds received from the United States Government from the sale of a church property had not been accounted for in full; that he and the plaintiffs in this action have for many months sought an accounting from the said Thomas, and his codefendants and a production of the records relating to said transactions. That these defendants refuse to deliver said records and seek to prevent further investigation of their financial transactions. And in this behalf they have set on foot a conspiracy to have the plaintiff Emmett H. Hilson removed as pastor of said church so as to prevent a completion of the investigation and recovery of money due said church, which defendants withhold.

6. That the defendants are insolvent and if there were a remedy at law, it would be ineffective.

7. That the defendants and each of them threaten to prevent a check of the financial records of said church, which defendants have in their possession, by doing bodily harm to the plaintiffs; by riotous conduct in meetings of the said Salem Baptist Church and boards thereof; that the defendants are spreading false and malicious reports about the work of the plaintiffs and Salem Baptist church and threaten to continue to do so unless restrained and enjoined from so doing; that they have created false accounts against Salem Baptist Church and these plaintiffs, and will continue to do unless restrained therefrom they already having created a two hundred ($200.00) dollar obligation in favor of Harry E. Moore and Son, and seek through removal of the said Emmett H. Hilson and these plaintiffs to escape personal liability for said obligation.

8. That unless these defendants, and each of them is restrained and enjoined from interfering with the plaintiffs in the conduct of the said Salem Baptist Church and the completion of the investigation of its financial affairs and the questionable financial operations of the defendants, will suffer irreparable damage, for which there is no adequate remedy at law. That unless these defendants are restrained from attending all meetings of both church and boards of said church, the plaintiffs will be so hampered as to be deprived of the opportunity to recover the monies withheld by these defendants from them and said church.

WHEREFORE, plaintiffs pray that the defendants and each of them be restrained and enjoined from interfering with the plaintiffs and their conduct of the affairs of Salem Baptist Church; from attending any meetings of the members of said church or its boards of participation in the proceedings of any meetings of any church or board meetings, official meetings, or any meetings of any kind whatsoever; from circulating rumors to the detriment of these plaintiffs and Salem Baptist church; from repeating or executing threats against these plaintiffs or any of them to do them bodily harm; from withholding all property, books, records, receipts, check books, bank books, cancelled checks and all property whatsoever from these plaintiffs and Salem Baptist church; from doing any act in furtherance of an effort to remove Emmett H. Hilson as pastor of Salem Baptist Church so as to prevent unearthing of financial dishonesty of these defendants and keep hidden a fraud against these plaintiffs and Salem Baptist church. That the plaintiffs may have such other and further relief as to the court seem equitable and just. State of Nebraska, County of Douglas.

John Wainwright, of lawful age, being first duly sworn, according to law, deposes and says that he is one of the plaintiffs in the foregoing action; and that he has read the petition herein and understands the contents thereof and that the facts therein stated are true.

Subscribed in my presence and sworn to before me this day of July, 1939. NOTARY PUBLIC.

MAKING MONEY UNDER DIFFICULTIES

By ANN JOYCE

To persons physically handicapped any creative work is inspiring. The feeling of uselessness is deadly. But being able also to earn money by their work is perhaps as valuable as the money.

Nature is a kind mother and generally recompenses her handicapped children by other gifts. While blind persons are given a wonderful sense of touch, deaf people are frequently gifted with unusually acute sight. Reading the lips is a marvelous accomplishment which the deaf can master. They can also earn a fair living in ways in which their poor hearing does not interfere seriously, so being able to lead happy and useful lives.

Blindness is a greater handicap than deafness but fortunately there are societies which teach the blind useful work like rug weaving, chair caning and making baskets. So expert do they become that their work sells readily. Blind men who musically true ears are often fine piano tuners.

Soldiers blinded during the World War have become useful citizens by what they have been taught at Veterans' Hospitals. Blind women can also learn to do various kinds of fancy work—knitting, crocheting and tatting, all of which are saleable.

A home workshop is the greatest comfort to a deaf man, especially if he knows something about hand-dling tools. A profitable line of work is making toys for children. Pieces of wood can be secured from lumber dealers for little or no money. Ducks, dolls, boats or other toys appeal to children. The addition of bright paint adds to the appeal. Several deaf artisans could get together and have a sale of their own before holidays with good results for all.

Music has often proved a great help and comfort to the blind. Adam Gible is a noble example of what a blind musician can do. Any blind men or women who can sing may be trained for positions that pay, either as soloists or quartettes. There is always room on the radio for good singers, with or without normal eyesight.

Deaf persons who have a small home in the country or suburbs are in luck. There are always vegetables to raise for which there is a good market. A small stand at the house entrance with a display of fruit or vegetables or flowers or all three is sure to attract passing motorists. Toward evening electric lights with bright colored bulbs would turn the stand into a picture that could be seen from a distance,
