THIS WEEK IN RELIGION & THOUGHT by ROBERT L. MOODY
What Price Vengeance?—All of our sympathy has been touched and many dear hearts have been broken by the wreck of the train "City of San Francisco." Many times we carelessly use the word "hate" without thinking about the depth of its meaning. But now with the alleged cause, being sabotage, we face the grim results of one or more hateful hearts.

The Good Book tells us that "Whosoever hateth his brother is a murderer." Describe the condition of the heart or hearts that would plan such a scheme which ignored the value of innocent lives that were lost and injured. The more optimistic minds hope that sabotage was not the real cause but if so, we hope that all involved shall be brought to justice.

We may now learn a great lesson about the cost of revenge. Dollars cannot express the value and loss and injury from this wreck, and all because it is believed that someone was small (low down) enough to hold hate in his heart and seek to express it in this cruel manner. That lithe malice that you may have should be destroyed because it may magnify itself to an uncontrollable degree.

The Funeral of Leon Moore was Saturday Aug. 19th at Zion Baptist Church of which he was a former member. Scripture lesson was from the 1st Psalms of David of which was Mr. Moore's last reading he'd before leaving for his duty on his trip. He never forgot God. He always put him first in every thing. Song by the choir, Abide with Me. Invocation by Rev. Hancock of Clair Chapel. Song by the choir. The Lord is my Shepard. Mr. William Kyles of Mt Calvary Church sang a solo. Condolence and resolution from Zion Baptist Church. Mount Pleasant of which he was a member. Porter and waiters union, firemen, wife and mother, sisters, of the dining car porters Local 465. Solo Mrs. Irene Motton. Mr. Moore was survived by his father, and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Moore of 2302 N. 27th Avenue, his wife Mrs. Jewell Moore daughter, Elmer Moore and 5 brothers, Paul, Frank, Kenneth, Delroy, Milton and two sisters, Mrs. Lucille Gustin, and Mercedes. There was a large number of railroad officials who attended the funeral. There were many resolutions coming in from out of town and in the city. The funeral was utilized by Rev. F. C. Williams. This was one of the largest floral offerings and many paid their respect to this wonderful bereaved family funeral. Director, Myers, interment at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

The funeral service of Burl Bowens was Monday afternoon at two o'clock from the Pilgrim Baptist Church. Choir sang "Asleep in Jesus. Invocation by Rev. Pruitt. Solo by Mrs. Robinson, "I Sang My Song." Scripture lesson by Rev. Hancock of Clair Chapel, 14 chapter of Job, Resolution from Pilgrim Baptist Church. Sleeping Car Porters, Dining Car Porters, and wife, mother and daughter of Dining Car porter 465. Telegram from Green River Wym., Ogden, Utah. Solo by Mrs. Young, "Some Day I'll Understand."

Reading of the obituary by Mr. Foster Goodlett. Mr. Burl Bowen was one of the men who was killed in the wreck. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dock Bowens of 2535 Hamilton St. He also leaves two dear little children, Allen and Burl Jr., and Aunt, grandmother, and cousin and other relatives and friends. Rev. Adams of Paradise made some fine remarks in regards of the deceased. He was converted at the age of 18 years and united with Pilgrim Baptist. Solo by Mrs. Downing, "Precious Lord." Rev. Goodlett delivered a wonderful heart stirring sermon.

Solo by Mr. William Kyles "My Loves Are Waiting for Me." There were many sad hearts and a large floral offering. Funeral director, Myers, interment at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

NATIONAL BAPTIST "REST HOME" PLANS DEVELOP

This site which the National Baptist Convention owns at Mizpah, N. J., upon which the proposed Baptist Rest Home will be constructed is located in one of the most advancing and thriving communities of this age.

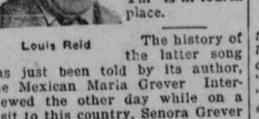

Mizpah is located within 20 miles of Atlantic City, the playground of the world, and is only 40 miles from Philadelphia the third largest city in the United States. It is bounded by the Harding Highway on one side and the Black Horse Pike on the other and the two are connected by a State Highway running through the town of Mizpah.

While Mizpah is universally known for its rich loamy soil which is considered of excellent quality for truck farming it also has the many features of a rapidly expanding city. The many edifices which are raised in Mizpah find a ready market in the large cities such as Atlantic City, Philadelphia and New York.

WORDS WITHOUT MUSIC

By LOUIS REID

AFTER leading the list of the country's popular hits for five successive weeks, "Ti-Pi-Tin" has given way to other tunes. "Please Be Kind" is No. 1 now, followed by "How'd You Like To Love Me?" and "You're an Educator." "Ti-Pi-Tin" is in fourth place.

The history of the latter song has just been told by its author, the Mexican Maria Grever. Interviewed the other day while on a visit to this country, Senora Grever said that "Ti-Pi-Tin" was written in four minutes, confessed frankly that she had taken its melody from a Viennese waltz and a Spanish (street song) she, herself, published the Mexican version of the song.

Her formula for successful song-writing: "You must make music which makes you jump out of your seat. It must have life, death, love, hate. In fact, it must have everything." Maria Grever has written many songs, is a member of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.

"Jitterbugs" American ingenuity in slang-making is manifested most recently in the term "jitterbug" to describe the more irrepressible addicts of swing. The true "jitterbug" is one who, oblivious of his or her surroundings, goes into frenzied agitation when Goodman or Dorsey or other swing virtuosi strike up their bands.

Ray Noble, Britain's most gifted sentimental pleader in fox trot time, has ended his long silence with a new song, "I Hadn't Anyone Till You." Perhaps the title explains the delay Noble, who has taken out his first citizenship papers, is best known as the writer of those memorable marshmelodies, "Goodnight Sweetheart" and "Love Is the Sweetest Thing."

Benny Goodman also has a band-leading brother, Freddy Goodman. Can't get the phrase, "I'm Tyrone Shapiro, the gay caballero" out of our head... Paul Whiteman has the honor of being the first Mizpah also has its schools, churches and factories, electric lights, social and civic organizations and a railroad passing thru the town.

It is the aim of the National Baptist Convention to raise sufficient funds by taking advantage of the gift of the unnamed Philadelphia by disposing of 2,500 lots at the coming September session of the Convention to construct the Rest Room. Dr. L. K. Williams, president of the National Baptist Convention, should be highly commended for his vision and prompt action in rendering his approval of the gift by the philanthropist, as it is a form of guarantee that the Rest room will be constructed.

These homes sites have been selected by the Rest Room Home Project Committee from the section where prices range from $150 Drive during the Convention set to $200 per lot and for the Special sion they will be offered for as low as $30 per lot, on monthly installments. They are 25 by 100 feet, thus containing 2,500 square feet of ground and each home site faces a 50 foot street. The agreement between the donor and the Rest Home Project Committee of the National Baptist Convention provides for the delivery of a warrant deed to the purchaser without any additional charge.

Purchase applications and booklets giving all details and information about Mizpah may be had without charge by writing Rev. L.

bandman to play from the New York World's Fair site and a George Gershwin song, just discovered among the late composer's effects, has been officially selected as the World's Fair anthem. Ira Gershwin has written the words. Wonder if there is any minstrel show now trouping up and down the country! Tuneman Walter Donaldson isn't idle long. He has just come forward with "Why'd Ya Make Me Fall in Love?"

A peculiarity of songwriters is their fondness for colloquial English. They like to use "Ya" in place of "you". They frequently contract "going to" to "gonna", "want to" to "wanna", "got to" to "gotta". The contractions, of course, are more singable.

Vincent Lopez, orchestra leader who operates a musical service bureau on the side at 580 Fifth Ave. New York, is aiding U. S. Army officers in the recruiting of musicians for various regimental bands. An Army musician is awarded a minimum pay of $30.00 a month

In addition he has free food, housing, clothing, medical and dental attention, and opportunity for travel

Most famous musician in the history of American military service was, of course, John Philip Sousa. It was during his conductorship of the U. S. Marine Band that Sousa composed most of his great marches

Though the weather has been a traditional topic with songwriters for generations, no melody man has until now combined both rain and sunshine in the title of a tune. It has remained for George Meyer to correct this oversight. Meyer has done so with a ditty called "It's Raining Sunshine." Top ranking vocalists and bandmen are already beginning to gang up on the lumber,
