BOTTOMS UP!

Clothes cover a multitude of sin! But what's the use of trying to kid your waist? You know what's wrong underneath, and the knowledge has a bad psychological effect. It makes you feel "un-glamorous."

You're probably are well acquainted with your face—know all the hills and valleys, blotches and blights, but how about the rest of you?

In this business of being "a joy forever" you have to start from the bottom up—and out! Why not face the naked truth? How can you be a "glamour gal" if you've got lumps in the wrong place? A hump in your back? Legs and arms that look like they belong to somebody else? (Joe Louis, for instance.)

While intensifying my "tan" on the sandy shores one day last summer, I overheard some gentlemen discussing the pros and cons of the bathing beauties who passed them. They all seemed to agree on the following figure faults:

1. The bulging abdomen. (Why is it that girls with this blight on the body will pull belts as tight as possible, and simply refuse to wear girdles?)
2. The hump below the hip. (Girls with this figure fault seem to dote upon standing with one leg thrown out of joint, so that the bulge is even more noticeable.)
3. Shapelessness at the waistline. (Nothing between the breast and the hips—or too much!)

If it's a protruding tummy that you're nursing, wear a girdle with some stiffening in the front. Don't let that stiffening change from a straight line to an obnoxious curve; sit, as well as stand, straight.

Go easy on the liquids. They bloat a sensitive stomach.

For figure fault No. 2, simply lie down on the floor and roll it away. Meanwhile, wear a long girdle (the reducing kind.) You can fool some of the people some of the time about this malady if you'll do this: When standing, tighten the muscles of thighs. It will pull in that hump like anything! Never stand on one foot with the other "at ease," and don't flex the knee nearest the beholder in the knee-posed manner of the movie star posing for fashion pictures. Stand straight and keep the thighs tense.

Stretching will put on or take off, whichever is needed, the nondescript waistline. Stretch down until you reach the floor and stretch up at something that you cannot quite reach. Do this five minutes daily, upon arising and retiring. It will put the right "lumps" in the right places—a panacea!

Believe it or not, swinging your hips in the well-known hula-hula motion is grand for muscular suppleness. Even if you do feel silly, go ahead and do it. You'll "slay 'em" when you walk!

Now that you've courageously faced the sins which your clothes have hypocritically covered, you can repent in haste by disguising them until you've had time to correct them.

Proper use of line and color will work wonders during the transformation!

The Sepia Charm Analysis below was created by cosmeticians, beauticians, and stylists who have studied your problems; short hair, dark skin, flat noses, large mouths, and all—and know the answers.

Wouldn't you like to know what type you are? Which colors to wear? Where to get the proper make-up for your particular complexion? What to do about heavy lips, or too-dark skin?

The Sepia Charm Analysis will tell you, absolutely free! Fill out this form below and send it in today, before your sins find you out!

"Cab's in town"

CAB CALLOWAY, THE POOR BOY WHO MADE GOOD, TO APPEAR IN OMAHA NEXT WEEK

Cab Calloway and his Hi-De-Ho orchestra and "Cotton Club Revue of 1939" which co-stars the sensational Sister Tharpe, colored swinger of Spirituals, take hold of the Paramount theatre stage in Omaha for a six day engagement beginning Friday, December 1st.

The sensational Calloway's beginning was humble. Born of a poor family in Rochester in 1908 Cab's family moved to Baltimore where his father, Cabel Calloway hung out his shingle to practice law.

For a brief period, the Calloway fortunes managed to hold its own with the butcher and the baker. Cab Jr. managed to graduate from High school but any thoughts he had of following his father's footsteps, were dispelled by a sudden falling of the family fortunes.

While attending school, Cab sang in the choir of the local church. Faced with the dismal prospects of having to go out and not only earn his own living but also for his parents, Cab obtained occasional jobs as a singer in small night clubs.

A letter from his sister, Blanche, brought him post haste to Chicago where he obtained a singing spot in a cab show in which she was appearing. When the show folded, and no singing jobs were sighted, he signed on as a drummer with a local five piece band. Soon after he began singing with the band.

A driving ambition to lead his own band soon resulted in an eight piece combination called "Cab Calloway and His Misadventurers."

The combination achieved a fair measure of success in Chicago so the boys jumped at the chance to open in New York's famous "Connie's Inn." Unlike the average success story, the band was a flop from the start. Irving Mills, an enterprising New York theatrical and with keen foresight, placed him in front of an organized orchestra and presto, over night, Calloway's stock mounted in the theatrical firmament. The rest is Broadway history.

The Mound Bayou Murders

A vivid, symbolical oil painting of the Mound Bayou Murders, in the nude, hung in the American Contemporary Arts Building at the New York World's Fair. It aroused a strange, morbid fascination but the truth of it was more sickening than all. It made one feel like slashing it or tearing it from the wall. It was too true! Briefly, it was a story of selfishness, greed and murder.

The slaying of Eugene P. Booze the famed Republican politician of Mississippi, made me think of that picture at the World's Fair. The slaying of Booze's sister-in-law by white peace officers allegedly summoned by Booze, only a month prior to Booze's murder appears to have been an anti-climax to what came later. Booze said before that "political jealousy" caused his assassination.

Both tragic incidents seem to have been the shameful outcome of protracted, fierce hatreds which finally liquidated two of the chief participants. The ramifications and significance of these deaths reach deeply into the Negro character.

On the other hand, fifty-two years of exemplary all-Negro Government of a Mississippi town remains a record of which our race can be proud.

Negro Women Score Highly
Jane Bolin, America's first Negro woman judge, gave supreme lustre to the brilliant meeting of the National Council of Negro Women, Inc., held recently in New York City. Its membership of outstanding feminine lights in many professions revealed the very flower of our accomplished womanhood.

Traditional male dominance of the female is largely responsible for the "career woman," she who seeks thru every channel of human expression to demonstrate woman's equality. The early Christian Church at one time denied that woman had a Soul (her Spirit was declared to be a dependent segment of the male Soul), and all angels were strictly male. Today we recognize God as Father, Mother, and women and men as negative and positive expressions of Divinity, co-equal and mutually dependent.

The year ushered in more than merely "socialist" politics. Regardless of political party, the time was ripe for a great expansion of woman's place in world affairs; this, regardless of race, creed, color or geography. Negro women today recognize no unconquerable barrier to equality of opportunity.

A Plea for College Culture

Rowdiness, according to news reports, broke out among rival factions of the A. and T. College football team in a men's dormitory following a recent game with Hampton Institute. During the free-for-all, one player was dangerously slashed with a razor blade and required 27 stitches.

We are accustomed to think of college men as "gentlemen" (a word of elastic definition these days). No matter how tough, college football players are expected to act like gentlemen, college gentlemen. Invariably they do.

This unhappy expectancy suggests a "harmless" method of allowing young hotheads to fight it out—like gentlemen. Let the two fellows who harbor the major grievance put on boxing gloves and go so many rounds to a decision or a knockout. In the event one of the contestants is unevenly matched, a more suitable opponent shall be selected by mutual agreement. May the best man win, and the losing side take their licking like gentlemen!

A Prominent Business Woman Praises Mme. C. J. Walker's Preparations

"I use Mme. C. J. Walker's preparations exclusively because I get results from them that I am unable to get from any other preparation," stated a well known business woman the other day.

The secret of the remarkable success of Mme. C. J. Walker's preparations is in the fact that they were blended by the late Madam C. J. Walker to reach certain definite conditions of the hair, skin and scalp, and today, after over thirty-five years on the market, they are growing increasingly popular, and notwithstanding the fact that the Company has always refused to reduce the price on these goods, they are still in demand everywhere.

Mme. C. J. Walker's Glossine, although more than thirty-five years on the market, is still the leader in its field. The reason for this is because it not only serves as a scalp oil, but it gives the hair that silky sheen and natural gloss that is the delight of every woman.

Mme. C. J. Walker's Brown Face Powder is not just another Face Powder, but is the result of years of experimenting to produce the perfect blend to impart a velvetlike softness and at the same time cooling and refreshing. Just the thing for these hot days.

The Mme. C. J. Walker's wonderful preparations are sold by Walker Beauticians and Drug Stores everywhere, or you can write The Mme. C. J. Walker Mfg. Company, direct. Address: The Walker Building, Indianapolis, Indiana.
