

CHICAGO STOCKYARDS WORKERS CHOOSE CIO AS BARGAINING AGENT

Chicago, Dec. 7 (ANP)—Last

Tuesday, at an all day election, sponsored and directed by the National Labor Relations Board at the packing plant of Armour and company, the Packinghouse

Workers' Organizing Committee, affiliated with the Congress of Industrial Organizations, was selected by the workers as the agency to represent them in collective bargaining.

Two other choices were given the employees: to vote for Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of America, an American Federation of Labor affiliate, or to vote against being represented by either union. Of the 7,253 workers eligible to vote, about one third are colored and the balloting was the one big topic of discussion during the day throughout the stockyards area.

In the election, 6,307 ballots were certified as valid and the workers voted as follows: for the CIO, 4,006; for AFL, 1,047; against Union representation, 1,254. A total of 785 did not vote and 161 other ballots were disqualified. No note of disorder marked the balloting. Armour and company cooperated fully by providing polling places and sending workers to vote by departments.

After the polls had closed and the workers' choice made known Don Harris, national director of the Packinghouse Workers' Organizing committee, said: "The victory constitutes not only a fitting answer by the Armour workers to the Red baiting campaign of the combined forces of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters Armour and Congressman Dies, but is also a clear mandate to the PWOC to continue full steam ahead in its campaign for wage increases and better working conditions under an Armour contract."

YOUTH COMMISSION FEARS WAR ENTRY UNLESS JOBS FOR YOUNG PROVIDED

Washington, Dec. 7 (ANP)—Gloomy indeed is the picture painted by the American Youth Commission, a non-governmental organization of industrialists and educators headed by Owen D. Young, in the report just released to the American public.

Warning that continued unemployment during a war boom may lead to involvement in the European war, the commission recommends that the federal government inaugurate a special program of public works for 4,000,000 jobless youth.

"Not even a war boom," says the report, "can supply jobs vitally needed for the nation's vast reservoir of unemployed youth."

The report urged the government to assist those who do not desire to continue school but who are unable to find jobs in private industry.

"Some action is imperative for the national welfare," continued the report, "because of the dangerous effect on American youth of prolonged and widespread unemployment plus the strain of the present war crisis."

"The continued pressure of unemployment on youth, in the midst of a war boom, will add to the danger of drifting into active participation in the war," the commission added.

The commission which has conducted a four year study of youth problems declares that it had been hoped that war orders in the country would create between 2 and 3,000,000 new jobs. Youth unemployment, it added, approximates 4,000,000 young people between 15 and 24, or one-third of the nation's unemployed.

The commission proposed that the special works program provide employment for youths in conservation activities similar to the OCC program and in the construction of useful public buildings.

It also proposes projects that would afford young persons an opportunity to produce goods and services to supply their own needs. Such work, it added, would not compete with private industry and would be preferable to "the levels of taxation necessary to support a decent level of subsistence for those in need if they are to be allowed to do anything for themselves."

While this and other proposals call for an increase in federal expenditures, it is said in other circles that the president is being advised to not make any additional expenditures in order to cut down the public debt and to work out some plans whereby the present heavy tax load will be decreased.

What Do You Know About Health?

By FISHER BROWN and NAT FALK

1. WHO IS OTTO MEYERHOF?

2. WHAT IS NARCOLEPSY?

3. WHY ARE GRANDSTANDS CONSTRUCTED SO THAT EACH SEAT WILL SUSTAIN 300 POUNDS?

Answers: 1. Awarded Nobel prize in 1922 with A. V. Hill. They made it possible for doctors to understand how muscles work in carrying on their activities. Their studies have been of the greatest importance to our understanding of fatigue and effort. 2. A strange nervous disorder characterized by sudden and irresistible attacks of sleep. More than a hundred cases have been reported in the United States since 1918 in which the sufferers fell asleep, for example while shopping, swimming, telephoning, and even driving in traffic. Victims of this ailment are now being relieved by a drug.

3. When a man arises suddenly from a sitting position, the additional weight momentarily created by the action nearly equals his normal weight. Therefore, grandstands and stadiums are usually constructed so that each seat and the standing space in front of it will sustain a load of at least 300 pounds.
