MEN'S DAY PROGRAM AT CLAIR CHAPEL SUNDAY

Men's Day will be observed at Clair Chapel Methodist Church on Sunday March 17. At 11 a. m. the pastor will preach the Palm Sunday sermon and will baptize any children and adults who may be candidates for baptism.

Special features will be an instrumental solo by Mr. Boker Washington and selections by the Johnson quartette and the Mysterious Five of the Omaha Star.

Mr. Elias Hunter and Mr. J. C. Bailey Jr., will be in charge of the finance. At 3 p. m. Rev. F. C. Williams pastor of Zion Baptist church will preach and music will be furnished by the Gateway and Zion Quartette. Also Mr. L. Vann will play a trumpet solo.

Short talks will be made by Mr. Faulkner and E. Edward Gilbert. Every man of Clair Chapel is expected to attend these services and the public is also invited to share these services with us. Rev. J. E. Wade, Mr. Samuel Grievous and Mr. John Davis are captains for the Men and they are looking for YOU next Sunday.

CHRIST TEMPLE CHURCH

"Holiness Unto the Lord" Rev. L. M. Ref, Pastor Bertha Mallory, Reporter Sunday school 9:30 a. m. Morning Worship 11:30 a. m. HYPY. 6 p. m. Evening worship 7:30 p. m. Bible Study, Tuesday night, Prayer and Praise Service Friday night.

Owing to the sudden illness of our pastor's wife, he was not able to worship with us Sunday. He left Saturday night for Chicago.

Services were conducted by our assistant pastor, Rev. G. W. Goodwin.

The Scripture less Mark 1:1-20 was read by Rev. Severs. The sermon was preached by Rev. Goodwin. His text was taken from Mark 38th chapter, subject "There fore Came I Forth." The Junior Choir sang.

The evening message was brot to us by Rev. F. H. Hunley in his own way. Many good points were brought out in the message.

Sunday March 17 at 3 p. m. the Men's Club of this church will render an unusual program. Come out and be with us.

BEAUTY AND ROMANCE
SPONSORED BY
LARIUSE BEAUTY FOUNDATION

The Lariuse Beauty Foundation was established by the Godefroy Manufacturing Company to study methods of preserving women's natural beauty, and to make the results of this research available to the public.

For some foolish reason, too many of us associate beauty and romance with youth. It is true, of course, that the girl in her teens and early twenties has the advantage of a fresh complexion, lissom figure and unending vitality but there is no reason why the woman of thirty, forty or even fifty should sit back and let the younger girl take all the laurels.

The older woman has the advantage of experience and, if she is willing to devote a little time and trouble to her appearance, she can out-distance her younger, less sophisticated competitors. She has poise that will make the younger girl seem awkward by comparison and an ability to meet and deal with people which gives her a running start from the first "how-do-you-do."

So even though you are not as young as you'd like to be, there's no reason to feel that you are out of the race. Here are a few hints which will make you look younger, feel gay and probably carry off the prize the younger girls covet.

Keep Supple
First of all, you must give added care to your figure. After thirty a woman's figure has a tendency to thicken, especially around the waist. But a series of setting-up exercises, rigidly adhered to, should take care of that problem in short order. Remember that your posture, too, is important in giving you a youthful appearance.

Hold your shoulders back and your head up if you would avoid the dowager hump. And pull in your tummy—don't rely entirely on your girdle to do this chore for you. And try to take at least a half-hour's walk in the fresh air every day to tone up your muscles and put a glint in your eye. Watch your diet, too. Concentrate on simple, easily-digested food, plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables, and very small portions of sweets and starches.

Soft Make-Up Most Flattering
Your make-up is of utmost importance if you are to run competition with youth. Soft shades that harmonize with your skin tone are more flattering than the harder, brighter effects. Choose shades with a little warmth and be sure that your rouge and lipstick is carefully blended. The younger girl can get by with a more "slap-stick" appearance than the mature woman.

Older skin, too, has a tendency to dryness which in turn encourages wrinkles. The wise woman will make it a practice to cleanse her face at least once a day with cream and to apply a rich night cream before retiring.

And if your hair is streaked and graying or has lost some of its youthful sheen, remember that it can be tinted to its rich natural looking color by the application of efficient modern preparations. Gray hair is a give-away. Gleaming, satiny hair is an accepted symbol of youth. Don't overlook that important feature.

As I said in an earlier column, this is leap year. Don't let the years handicap you. Follow these simple suggestions; get in there and pitch and you'll carry off the honors because you are old enough and clever enough to know what it's all about.

What are your beauty problems? Write Marie Downing, Lariuse Beauty Foundation, Room 521—319 North Fourth St., St. Louis, Mo., and she will be glad to answer them. Be sure to enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope.

We (humanly) consider the crucifixion as the world's greatest tragedy, but the real tragedy would have happened if Christ had not died. Our days are truly perilous but they would be more dangerous if the power of the crucified Christ did not control the hearts of some men and women.

Thank God for the Cross and seek the Spirit of the Christ because without it we are "none of His."

DEAN PICKENS BREAKS RACIAL BARRIERS

Okahoma City, March 15 (ANP) William Pickens set a precedent last week when he led the forum meeting at the University of Okahoma at Norman, a town near here where Negroes are not allowed to live, and several years ago, "dared not be seen after dark."

Declaring that "anthropology is almost as big a liar as history" Dean Pickens talked on all phases of the race problem from lynching to racial intermarriage, and was applauded for his remarks. In his talk he referred to the Marion An-

Vegetable Laxative Makes Happy Friends
Here's a laxative that usually acts thoroughly as harsher ones but is a gentle persuader for intestines when used this way: A quarter to a half-teaspoonful of spicy, aromatic BLACK-DRAUGHT on your tongue tonight; a drink of water. There's usually time for a good night's rest; with a gentle, thorough action next morning relieving constipation's headaches, biliousness, sour stomach, bad breath. BLACK-DRAUGHT is a splendid combination of vegetable ingredients, chief of which is an "intestinal tonic-laxative" that helps in part time to lazy bowel muscles. It's economical. 25 to 40 doses: 25c

Chas. J. Warner

Warner Is Vindicated

—The Greater Nebraskan
His Position on Major Issues in His Campaign for Governor in 1938 Fully Vindicated by the 1939 Legislature

Friends of Hon. Chas. J. Warner all over Nebraska are getting a lot of satisfaction in the triumphant vindication of his position on the major issues of the campaign of 1938, in the light of the way those issues were dealt with in the 1939 legislative session, including some rather vibrant echoes of those issues in the special session that has just closed.

The shifting position of Nebraska's present governor on the extra one cent per gallon in the gas tax, in contrast to the consistent position of Mr. Warner on that issue, is interesting to notice. It will be recalled that the governor has had three separate and distinct positions on that issue in as many legislative sessions. Starting with the legislature of 1935, one full cent per gallon was added to the gas tax, all of which with the approval of the governor, was to be applied to the old age assistance program. In the 1937 legislative session, he recommended cutting off three-fifths of this extra cent and applying it to the road program. This split in the gas tax brought on an acrimonious debate in the legislature with the result that a 50-50 split in the extra cent was finally arrived at as a compromise. The governor's next move in the 1939 legislative session, was to voluntarily repudiate his previous position on the application of the extra cent in the gas tax, by recommending that three-fourths of the cent be applied to the assistance program, but the legislature went him one better by putting the full extra cent of the gas tax on the assistance fund, as it was back in 1935 before Cochran started tampering with it.

Charlie Warner's position in this matter has remained unchanged and consistent throughout. He favored the full cent when he was a member of the senate in the last bicameral session and supported the full cent when he was speaker in the first unicameral session in 1937. He also strongly emphasized the restoration of the full cent of the gas tax for old age assistance when he was campaigning for the governorship in 1938 and the legislature of 1939 vindicated that position by a unanimous vote less than a year ago and he carried an overwhelming number of counties in the state where he explained his position on that issue in the 1938 campaign.

Considering the fact that there were three candidates for governor in the field in 1938, Cochran was a minority choice to the tune of nearly 60,000 votes, even though he was elected by a small plurality. This situation when read between the lines, doubtless explains why the governor has developed this sudden anxiety to "do something" for the old people at this time and hence this grand gesture of convening the legislature in special session on the unique discovery that there is a large "estimated" balance available for appropriation to supplement the assistance fund. Just how much this will turn out to be, is a growing question, but these old age recipients of assistance cast many thousands of votes in Nebraska and it goes without saying that in the April primary, Cochran will be sorely in need of those votes.

The present questionable tactics of playing hide and seek with the old age assistance vote would hardly be employed as an expedient at this time if the sage advice of veteran legislators like Charles J. Warner had been followed.
