C. C. Galloway Named State Director Colored Division Republican State Committee

C. C. Galloway, Republican State Chairman

Mr. Kenneth Wherry announces the appointment of Mr. C. C. Galloway as Director, Colored Division, Republican State Committee in Nebraska.

Mr. Galloway has been for many years the directing force in the founding and development of The Omaha Guide Printing and Publishing Company which for the past fourteen years has printed and published The Omaha Guide. During this period there has been developed a printing establishment which represents a large capital investment.

Aside from his business interests Mr. Galloway has been one of the few men who has been active in every civic effort for the advancement of the Colored People and the community. He is not a politician and has no flair for it, but has accepted the post as Director, Colored Division of the Republican organization, as a patriotic duty to his country and his race. W. RITCHIE SLAYER GIVEN THE CHAIR

(BY BILLY DAVIS)
JURY FINDS ROGERS GUILTY
AFTER TWO HOURS DELIBERATION

Twenty two year old John Rogers, who was born in Star City, Mo was found guilty of first degree murder by the jury on October 16, of Wallace Ritchie, former chauffeur of Mr. Fred Hovey, King of Ak Sar Ben. Rogers attorney, John Baldwin put up an excellent plea for Rogers. He tried to convince the jurors to give Rogers life in the penitentiary, but his plea was in vain according to the decision of the jurors.

Rogers admitted the killing of Ritchie when he took the stand. He admitted the same thing that he said when he gave his statement to the police dept.

After twelve witnesses gave their statements and left the stand Rogers was put on the stand by his attorney and he gave the same statement that he previously had given the arresting officers. He didn't deny one thing that he had told the officers after they arrested him.

Rogers was very cool and calm all during the trial with no emotional display at all.

The prosecuting attorney, Mr. Teusser put up a very stiff plea to the jury demanding the death penalty followed by the brilliant County Attorney Mr. English in his closing argument.

The defendant John Rogers said that he called Ritchie from the drug store at 24th and Lake about 8:15 p. m. on August 15th to take him to South Omaha but instead of having Ritchie to pick him up at 24th and Lake, he told him to pick him up at 25th and Lake. Then he told Ritchie to drive him to South Omaha to see a friend of his. After they got to South Omaha, he told Ritchie to drive him to Ralston to see another friend. After they had gotten out away, Rogers said that he stuck a gun

Scores Belated New Deal Repudiation of "Smear Willkie Circular"

Lamar Perkins, former Assemblyman and chief of the Colored Division of the Republican State Committee, in a statement today (Monday) scored "belated New Deal repudiation of the "Smear Willkie" circular distributed by the Colored Division of the National Democratic Committee," and declared "the action of the New Deal high command in pinning the blame for this disgraceful campaign blunder upon Roosevelt colored workers is a graphic illustration of the administration's treatment of the colored people of America."

The statement of the former legislator, made at Republican State Committee headquarters, 41 East 42nd street, follows:

"Edward J. Flynn, Chairman of the National Democratic Committee, has now made belated repudiation of the 'Smear Willkie' circular—a disgraceful piece of New Deal propaganda reflecting upon the German ancestry of Mr. Willkie, his wife, and both their families."

"Mr. Flynn's repudiation comes too late to be convincing. It is marked by tongue in cheek piety, and it is of a pattern in purpose and phraseology, with New Deal smear statements made public these last eight years. And to those who deny this assertion, I urge they examine the back files of the newspapers since Mr. Roosevelt first took Presidential office. These files show that every single person of sufficient consequence to have his or her anti-New Deal views published in the press has been smeared by the New Deal's propaganda machine."

"Let those who doubt the accuracy of my assertion consider the attempts to smear former Governor Al Smith, Raymond Moley Dr.

Tugwell, Lewis W. Douglas, Dr. Stanley High and John J. Raskob, to mention but a few of those assailed.

"Let them consider the purge of Representative John J. O'Connor, and the attempts to purge Senator George and other duly elected representatives of the people who refused to become legislative pawns in the hands of Mr. Roosevelt."

"Let them consider the New
