TUSKEGEE FIELD REPRESENTATIVES OF THE SERVICE TRAINING DEPARTMENT IN OMAHA

Mr. Ernest E. Bridges and Mr. James W. Turner, members of the Service Training Department of Tuskegee Institute, of Tuskegee, Alabama, arrived in Omaha on June 4th, and expect to spend about three weeks in the city in the interest of the Service Course of that school. While in the city they are lecturing at the various institutions in the city which employ Negroes as porters, cooks, waiters, maids, etc.

The course was first suggested by the Southern Hotel Association because of the difficulty in securing capable colored workers, and has been offered since 1936. During the past four years Mr. Bridges has visited approximately 5,000 institutions where Negroes are employed in the service work, in conjunction with the regular course which is offered at the school. While on their tour of the country, Mr. Bridges and his assistant Mr. Turner, have been distributing copies of the Service Journal, which is published at their school. Their mission is an attempt to elevate the service field, and to get workers in this field to realize that such a profession is not a disgrace.

The two travel in a trailer which is one of the three sent out by the school. In all there are ten representatives for the Service Training Course.

The trailer is located in the rear of Johnson's Drug store at 2306 North 24th Street.

ONCE AGAIN COLORED FIGHTERS COVER RETREAT OF WHITE BRITISH FORCES

(Cairo, Egypt, NNS)—Special to Negro News Syndicate)—The official statement of the British War Office in regards to the recent debacle in Crete, runs tersely to the effect that: "After twelve days of what was undoubtedly the fiercest fighting in this war, it was decided to withdraw our forces from Crete. Some 15,000 troops have been withdrawn to Egypt, but it must be admitted that our losses have been severe."

What this bleak announcement fails to include, however, is the all-important fact that in the main it was only because of the intense bravery and courage of colored troops, mostly Maoris from New Zealand, fighting for the British Empire that enabled 15,000 troops (mostly white) to escape. This was a repetition of the British retreat from Greece, where also it was the colored fighters who held off the Nazis parachute troops while the white soldiers were being evacuated.

Eyewitness accounts of the last days of fierce fighting in Crete are filled with ghostly details. German planes dropped parachute troops by the thousands—men whose hands and faces were stained the same green as their uniforms. Against the rain of Green Hornets the morale of the white troops was shattered. Inefficiency by the commanding officers and inadequate advance preparation for the long-expected Nazi invasion only aided to the disastrous confusion.

In this dire hour of grisly horror it was the Maori warriors who proved themselves the better fighters. As the green clad Nazi troops dropped like hail from the skies, the Maori ran to meet them brandishing bayonets and knives. A captured German prisoner later told this reporter:

"If England had had a major army made up of those brown boys, Hitler would long since have lost this war."

To date, that is almost the only praise heard for these stalwart fighters, who sacrificed their lives. There has been no official word from the British War office praising them.

It may well be that the British command is reluctant to call attention to the one-time size of their colored contingent, for too ors in June 1940. Miss Bush is a product of Sumner High school, St. Louis, Missouri, from which school she was graduated as valedictorian of her class in 1935. to Our Expected Subscribers

My Dear Reader of The Omaha Guide:

We are happy to announce to you that we, the Omaha Guide are ready to give you a full newspaper service again. No doubt you remember we had a disastrous fire on December 23, 1939 which destroyed our building inside and put our machinery out of working order. We have remodelled our building and have put our machinery back in good condition. On May 31, 1941 we began serving you again with an 8 page paper, full of local and national up to the minute news, properly edited.

We most certainly want to thank you for your kind consideration, given us during our remodeling period. We are indeed thankful to you for your patience. We do hereby now extend to you an invitation to stop by and see our new $60,000 newspaper plant. It is without a doubt the showplace of Omaha. When you have visitors in our city, we will be glad for you to bring them in and show them through our plant. I am sure that they will leave Omaha with an expression of appreciation to you. We are indeed anxious to give you the kind of service you want a newspaper to give. Therefore, we ask you to fill out the printed coupon herein at the end of this letter. We will be thankful to you indeed if you will fill out the same and deposit it in the mail. Remember, we want to give you the kind of a paper you want. Unless we know the service you want, we cannot do this. So, please do us this small favor by filling out the printed coupon herein, and mailing same, and thanks a million.

In a few days a representative of our firm will call on you for a friendly chat and for some local news. We will appreciate it very much if you will give them a few moments of your valuable time.

Maybe you would like to write us a letter and tell us more about the service you want your paper to give this community—more than you can get on the coupon. If so, please feel free to do so and we will appreciate the same. If you would like for someone to call on you to go over this matter with you, please give us a ring WE. 1517.

We are now entering into our 15th year Scholarship Campaign for 6,000 new and renewed subscribers in this area. May we be favored by your filling out the printed Subscription coupon and sending it to us by return mail. Let us get together on the past at some future date. Let us start today on the new subscription account.

The following few lines are something for you to give your serious consideration. Your community newspaper is the only medium you have to call on when an error has been made or when you have been mistreated civically, economically, or criminally. No group of people or organization can correct these community evils as your community newspaper can. So, my friend, let us start today on the new subscription account, so you will be informed of the various activities of your community up-to-date. Remember our representative will be perfectly agreeable when he calls in adjusting our past relationship.

Again we wish to thank you for your loyal support in the efforts we are now putting forth for the benefit of the community as a whole and individually. Do you want new avenues of employment opened up to your family? We have the medium which you should be willing to support to do the job. Do you want justice in the law department of your city, county, and state governments? Again, we say, we have the medium by which to get justice. Do you want your civic organizations to function properly in the interest of the whole and not for the individual? If you do we have the medium to help get it through.

Did you know you are entitled to $367,000 in new jobs in the city, county and state and from the various political positions that you are taxed to pay, and from the corporations which, by right of their franchise, receive your enforced support. We know how to promote an educational program to bring about the desired results to you and yours to get your share of this $367,000 that is now going into the pockets of other groups, and which rightfully belong to you.

All we need is your loyal support as a subscriber, and your moral support in helping us to educate the rest of the above mentioned concerns—What you are entitled to and what you expect to do about it.

FAITH FOR TOMORROW (by RUTH TAYLOR)

In this day of crisis when pessimism hangs like a murky pall over so much of our daily life and conversation—it behooves us to stop and consider—not the tribulations of the moment, but the long range view of eternity.

Is this overwhelming thing that is happening to us a calamity which is ours alone to face—or are we going through one of the great cycles of history through which countless others before us have passed?

Whatever it is, we should in time of trouble get back to first things and contemplate the eternal goodness. In Whitier's poem on this subject he states his faith thus:

"Yet, in the maddening maze of things, And tossed by storm and flood To one fixed trust my spirit clings, I know that God is good.

I know not what the future hath Of marvel or surprise Assured alone, that life or death His mercy underlies."

If we hold fast to this we can say with the Psalmist David —"Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I shall fear no evil, for Thou art with me. Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me." Once we can arrive at this state of trust, then we are able to face all problems with the proper courage and perspective.

And above all, we can go about our daily life, and carry on our daily tasks as we should—with high morale and even with a modicum of happiness. We have much for which to be thankful. The rest of the world has been at war for nearly two long years. We have had peace at home. We have free speech, a free press, uncensored discussion, and all the rights guaranteed under the Constitution. We have a chance to live and work and learn according to our talents.

Yes, we must face the grave conditions confronting us. But we must not darken our lives by constant harping on our troubles—we must face them and continue
