

GIRLS ON THE STREETS....

Soon, very soon, the cats, garters and so on will pack up their troubles in an old kit bag, return from vacations and once again return back to their schooling. I'm knowing those Coed studs will fall in line with their fine draped rags, and those who have their last years wardrobe are tossing those styles back and getting their '41 wardrobe in season. Then my dears, those most fortunate cats and chicks will aurto on to colleges, and universities and they shall endeavor to engage their minds to a mos' higher knowledge, for a better education.

Birthplace of Japan

According to the oldest historical chronicle, the Nihon Shoki, the earthly history of Japan began near the picturesque place shown above. It was known in ancient times as the Land of Hyuga, on the Pacific shores of the present Miyazaki Prefecture. H.I.M. Jimmu Tenno, Japan's First Emperor, started from this point to unify all Japan. Shinto priests are shown on the stone steps leading to Udo Shrine, sacred to the memory of the first Emperor.

TO SIX LICKS AND A DRAG

Last week in "Six Licks and A Drag" an untrue statement was made concerning the Cyclops. I will quote what this columnist wrote—"They said last but not forgotten. Lost but not found, saw but not seen her majesty, the Grand Duchess, Cyclops was seen strolling through lovers lane with a number of lowly characters. Be cause it is a practice of ours not to reveal names for a personal reason, mainly liable suits. We will not reveal our lucky boys but in order to be a true columnist a pure-soul of the type and honest to goodness copywrite, we hardly thinking it is fitting and proper to be seen in a drabable position."

The above statement which I have just quoted evidently was supposed to be a lick to me. I question the above quotation very much. First I wish to thank the columnist for the new title that has been bestowed upon me. I would like to ask this columnist when I was seen in lover's lane? However I have never been seen with lowly characters. I confine myself to the best Class of people. And to this fact I have never been in a drabable position.—And since you claim to be a true columnist and a pure soul of type and honest to goodness copywrite I think it would be fitting and proper for you who claim to be honest, to print the truth. I hope you learn in writing your column to print the best things about people. Do not try to drag other columnists. It will make you appear ridiculous in the site of the public.

FASHION PARADE
Miss Rozella Thomas who is strictly on the draped side. Wore a lovely new dark blue coat dress with stripes of many colors on the collar and pockets. She carried a dark blue purse and white gloves, and she wore a white hat and dark shoes.
Miss Delores Williams was seen wearing a complete blue outfit.
GLAMOUR GIRL OF WEEK
Ruth Blanton.
I am so sorry that I didn't have

YOU CAN BE ATTRACTIVE

This week we are going to discuss your skin. Your skin is your autobiography. It is the tell-tale of your physical and emotional stamblin. It is exceedingly responsive to internal changes, functioning somewhat like the kidneys and throws off 70 percent of the body's waste. Your skin depends largely for its beauty on internal regularity, but it must be kept externally clean, softened and protected. Keeping externally skin clean is the most important of the three rules. Soap and water can do a good cleansing job, but it cannot remove very well your lipstick, rouge and eye shadow. A cleansing cream is absolutely essential. The ideal arrangement is to use soap only once a day and precede it with a cleansing cream. People with oily skin should use the liquidifying type of cream. Those who have dry skin should use the heavier type of cream.

a longer column for this week but six licks and a drag gave me a new name. I believe they called me the "Grand Duchess". This was supposed to be a lick, but it was quite a surprise. I was so elated and amped. I was surprised to write much this week. I'll be watching you til' next week—"The Cyclops" or shall I say "The Grand Duchess"
