MUSICIANS' CORNER

"Personalities in The NEWS"

This week our personality spotlight falls on a very brilliant virtuoso, his name is Hiram Webb. Without a question of a doubt we have all heard him tickling the ivories in the (Father Hines) manner. He also plays bass fiddle, (the dog house) and can sing in the most beautiful falsetto voice. It would make the loveliest girl in our community walk into a barbed wire fence (and think nothing of it.) (In his high school years he was very outstanding in all musical activities. While in High school Hiram was featured innumerable times with perhaps the finest swing band ever to venture from High school, Bob Napps orchestra. Today Hiram is still climbing the great ladder of success in music. Some day Hiram...perhaps even sooner than we know, your name will be flickering in lights. Perhaps on Broadway Lennox Ave., or even on Sunset Boulevard in the heart of Hollywood.

Because of the wheel of success, fame and fortune is forever turning and where it next stops may be... nobody knows. So let's hope that it stops at your front door next time... keep up the good work, and so friends I must bring my column to a close for another week-end. Thus, until next week, I shall remain: Forever Yours and With Lotsions of Love.

GIRLS ON THE STREETS....

"When the work is all done, And it's time for play, Come on Kats and Chics, Let's dig the jive away"
—Selected.

Brushing up on the Jive, we'll review the Erskine Hawkins' Dance at Dreamland, 24th and Grant St.

To begin with, you can be knowing that it was an awful drag to Omaha for an orchestra to come all the way from the east to play, and see nothing all night but fights!!! The whole band thought less of our reputation after so many fights!!

The music was fine and the place was packed like solid sardines. Many squares were there from out-of-town.

Mr. Johnny Burden was with his steady girl friend from KC.—Herman Franklin was bugging it out with his old flame—Eloise Framp-ton.—Penn was with his solid Chic—Mary Yancy after going together for many suns and many moons. Doris Pittman and Kenneth Love were together. Little Joyce Luckey was kickin a fog with her friend. Doris Ware was looking fine in a red torso dress, with Eddie Wright. Marjorie Johnson was doing fine as long as she lasted. Willard Morgan, was with a great number of drags during the evening. Master David Hughes was well champanoned—and with Rozella Thomas. Mac Franklin was with Lois Turner most of the evening. Jackquelyn Luckey was with her husband Fred Martin. Willa Mae Ross spent the evening with Pete Allen. Clarice Washington was with her old flame, Johnny Fontaine.

The former Francis Anderson of Sioux City, Iowa was there with her husband Colleen Kincaide with Buddy Kellogg. Jack Hoard got high from a half pint of "Tom Collins".

NAACP URGES STRONG SUPPORT OF SOCIAL SECURITY AMENDMENT
New York—With the announcement that President Roosevelt will submit to Congress within the next two weeks, a proposal for broadening the social security act to include domestic servants, farm laborers and other groups, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People urged its members and other interested persons to send letters to Congressmen recommending swift passage of the proposal.
Because Negroes are heavily represented in domestic service work and in farming, the NAACP, has long insisted that the benefits of the Social Security Act should apply to them. One of the major resolutions at the 32nd annual conference in Houston, Texas, last June included a recommendation that proper action be taken to bring about such a step.
