* That good advice comes straight from Santa Claus himself-and he ought to know. He's visited hundreds upon hundreds of homes for a good many years . . . but he reports there are still some that need good eyesight protection more than anything else.

Eyes are not only precious—they're irreplaceable! That's why it's so important to give them the right light. And here's a grand opportunity to do that in your own home—a chance for you to take Santa's good advice and help protect the precious eyesight of your family.

Merry Christmas and good light in 1942! Check your home now and then just drop the hint to Santa.
