Rev. O. J. Burckhardt, President Emeritus of the Middle Western Diocese of the Church of Christ "Holiness", was requested by Bishop Wm A. Washington of the Western Diocese with headquarters at Los Angeles, to be in Omaha Sunday, January 11th to substitute for him in presenting to the church, their new Pastor in the person of Rev. Oda Askernese, who comes to us highly recommended by Bishop W. H. Durn of the Eastern Diocese with headquarters at Norfolk, Va. Rev. Relf after four years of earnest an incessant labor at said church, is turning to Rev. Askernese a church organization, both as to spirit and denominational loyalty, that bespeaks for itself, as to the great sacrifice that was made by this consecrated man of God. For the church and the organization it represents. Rev. Relf came to Omaha from Chicago where he had a short while before receiving this appointment, married one of the leading school teachers of Chicago.

Hence Rev. Relf thought it would not be wisdom on his part to request his young bride to give up her school work, and accompany him to his new field of labor, knowing that a Minister who stands for the fundamentals of Christianity is confronted with these days of skepticism and modernism. Hence Sister Relf agreed with him to make the sacrifice. She said that he might take over his new field of labor, but that she would remain in Chicago and continue in her school work. And for four long years as a bride she made the sacrifice to allow her husband to give his service, not only to his own denomination but to the church welfare of the city of Omaha at large. Rev. Relf was loved and respected by the ministers of Omaha and their members, and while we all regret to see him leave the city, we feel however that Rep Askernese will make a fine substitute for him. For he comes to us so highly recommended by the former churches which he has pastored and the different organizations with which he has been active.
