when this was said the soldiers at the front were using molasses for sweetening coffee, the sugar having disappeared somewhere between the people and the soldiers.

In order to win the war, officials must be honest with the public. They give out long statements about price control; that they are going to do this and that about rising prices, but prices continue to rise. Indeed, they have been rising in this area ever since our allies entered the war.

We must make a united effort and all artificial hindrances must be swept away. STARK REALISM must prevail, if we mean to beat Germany and Japan.

THE ELDRIDGE CASE

The more we probe this Eldridge case, the more we are convinced that Mrs. Eldridge has been greatly wronged in the recent case, but was grievously wronged in another case, about which the city Prosecutor threatened to expose her during the trial involving Sergeant Graham.

In connection with this case at the Police Station Mrs. Eldridge was finger printed and photographed and copies of these records presumably sent to the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Eldridge was without counsel in the case in the Police Court, however, she appealed her case after being fined $50.00 by Judge O'Brien and she was found not guilty in the District Court by Judge Frank M. Dineen.

Perhaps, you can tell me something about some of these people I met. C. C. "Judge" H. J. Pinkett; (All I can hear him talk about is something down at the City Council and some Sgt. Graham and a Mrs. Eldridge, I believe. What's it all about C. C.?)

Met a Rev. C. C. Petties, of 1411 North 25th street. He says he's been here twenty years. Was formerly pastor of the Salem Baptist Church, but now has a pastorate at Clarinda, Iowa.

BURMA, THE ROAD TO INDIA Burma, taken of ancient India, is rapidly being taken over by the Japanese, the natives of Burma aiding Japan against the British, writing in this way another chapter of the failure of British Colonial Policy in the Far East.

The white Europeans have been in India for four hundred years. During all these years they sowed DRAGON'S TEETH: now they are reaping the WHIRLWIND of defeat and disaster.

Civilized men everywhere regret that this question had to be submitted to the arbitration of war for settlement. BUT "THE JUDGMENTS OF THE LORD ARE TRUE AND RIGHTEOUS ALTOGETHER."

The people of the United States need to re-examine their actions toward the American Negro in the light of their professions. They need to re-read a few of the sayings of Thomas Jefferson. One applies here—During his public life, the Armenians were persecuting the Greeks, and a neighbor said to Jefferson, "How I pity the poor Greeks!"

Let's Get Org'nized

On Thursday, April 16, three Negro girls went to work at Swift and Company's packing plant located here in Omaha.

The girls are Pauline Cochrane, Mary Jones and Laura Averett—the first Negro women to be hired at this plant in the 54 years it has been operating here.

A great deal of credit for breaking down this barrier must be given to a young Negro led, one J. C. Harment, who is carrying on a very militant struggle for his people in the packing workers' union at the Swift plant.

company will extend this time, attempting to answer calls, received up to noon one day, some time during the day following. Calls received after noon will be serviced the second day following.

This system will permit the Nebraska Power Company to combine calls of various localities, and will materially help cut down mileage an d wear on tires. It will also help make it possible for the company to continue good service to all electric customers during the war.

The new time allocation will apply to: 1. Service calls of all kinds. 2. Connect orders. 3. Disconnect orders. 4. Special delivery orders (if any) In making this announcement Mr. Page said that while some customers might forget to call at first until they needed service, the company felt the public would appreciate the necessity for this step and make every effort to cooperate.

Oh, say C. C. I almost forgot to tell you that a Mrs. Jones of 2365 Grant Street, phoned up and said that last week you had it in the GUIDE that she is the proud mother of a baby girl. She phoned to say that not only was that statement premature but actually there is not even a basis or suspicion, of fact to the statement. What are you trying to do, C. C.? Maybe you directed the stork to the wrong place.

Perhaps, you can tell me something about some of these people I met. C. C. "Judge" H. J. Pinkett; (All I can hear him talk about is something down at the City Council and some Sgt. Graham and a Mrs. Eldridge, I believe. What's it all about C. C.?)

Clarke Griffin of the 10th Cavalry, Fort Riley, who delivered a sermon on "All-Out for God." Chaplain Griffin is from Washington, D. C. you know.

By the way, C. C. what happened to the upper part of the church building? It reminded me of many of the churches and other buildings I used to see down in the West Indies after a tropical hurricane. I enjoyed the choir music so well that when the announcement was made about the Good Will Singers in the City Auditorium I determined to spend the afternoon there.

I don't have to tell you about the Good Will Singers program at the City Auditorium, C. C. for surely you were there. At least several thousand other Omahans, and many other out-of-town visitors, were there. In Omaha was represented weren't they? All under the immediate direction of Booker T. Washington, I believe. (By the way I met Mr. Washington later in the evening.) And wasn't the military touch added by the Firt Riley soldiers "step-by-step"? Their songs went over, too. What was the hostess' name that directed the soldiers? She's from Omaha. Wasn't it Mrs. Mabel A. Grant? If it was her she certainly introduced Chaplain Griffin wholeheartedly, didn't she? I understand that these Good Will Singers have a yearly mass program and that Sunday's was the eighth. The Spring Musicale is the big name for it, isn't it?

I met the president of the Omaha Chapter of the NAACP, Arthur B. McCaw. Also, his wife, Valarie McCaw, who seems all excited about her new house, or at least the remodeling she is doing. Isn't she the same one whose picture I once saw in the GUIDE who was (and possibly is) such a good illustrator and cartoonist? She took up painting in a serious way, didn't she? I believe she said she is having a studio built in her home.

Oh, say C. C. I almost forgot to tell you that a Mrs. Jones of 2365 Grant Street, phoned up and said that last week you had it in the GUIDE that she is the proud mother of a baby girl. SAVE YOUR TIRES Akron, Ohio—Pixpage—With a total war here, with its attendant restrictions and with rationing of automobile tires, every automobile driver is vitally concerned with conserving the tires he now has on his automobile. If simple rules, such as those outlined above are followed, tire "health" can be preserved and thousands of tons of rubber saved annually, according to engineers of The B. F. Goodrich Company. Every time a motorist drives with under-inflated or out of line tires takes curves too fast, drives at high speed for long distances, slams tires to a sharp stop, or bumps curbs, tires are being damaged or destroyed and tires worn out prematurely.
