

Victory-Garden Stories will Replace Fish, Golf Tales

The crop of fishing and golf stories promises to reach a new low in the spring of 1943. But in their place will be the tales of the Victory gardeners.

This swapping of experiences can be of great benefit to the new gardener. Among his best sources of information are his long-time gardening friends and neighbors since even the most complete gardening book cannot take the place of experience. For example, planting time will vary according to the weather. Early spring plantings should take place about 4 to 6 weeks before the frost-free date. And this planting will include such vegetables as cabbage, lettuce, onions, peas, potatoes, spinach and turnips. Around 2 weeks later, beets, carrots, chard, lettuce, mustard, parsnips and radishes should be planted. Some varieties of beans, beets, sweet corn, squashes, and tomatoes may follow after another 2 week period. However, if it suits the gardener's convenience, many of these vegetables may be planted as late as 8 weeks before the fall freeze date.

The Victory gardener's work has only begun when the seeds are sown and plants are set. Weeds must be kept under control by thorough shallow cultivation or hoeing. Vegetable crops should not be cultivated deeply because danger to the roots that grow near the surface. Weeds that take root again readily after pulling should be carried out of the garden. The garden should be cultivated as soon as the soil is dry enough after each rain or irrigation and as often in addition as is necessary to keep the weeds down.

One way to keep down weeds is mulching. This strewing of straw lawn clippings, leaves or similar material between the rows will also serve to conserve moisture. Gardeners frequently make the mistake of too frequent and too light sprinklings. The garden should be thoroughly and deeply soaked as if by a fairly heavy rain and it should be watered again only when the soil shows signs of becoming dry.

A new gardener should make every effort to secure complete and accurate information so that he will not waste time and seed. State Agricultural College bulletins and agencies' pamphlets will be especially helpful because they are adapted closely to local conditions. And a wealth of valuable information also can be obtained from the publications of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. These include: Victory Gardens, The City Home Garden, The Farm Garden, Diseases and Insects of Garden Vegetables, Disease-resistant Varieties of Vegetable for the Home Garden, Hotbeds and Coldframes, and The Home Fruit Garden. Any of these bulletins may be obtained by writing to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, DC.

MITCHELL OF NORTH CAROLINA GETS PIERCE POST

BECOMES FIELD AGENT FOR EXTENSION SERVICE IN UPPER SOUTH; HEADQUARTERS AT HAMPTON
Greensboro, N. C., March 18 (A.P.) John W. Mitchell, state leader of Negro agricultural agents for North Carolina, was notified last week by Dr. M. L. Wilson of Washington, director of the U. S. Extension service, that he had been appointed field agent for the Upper South. Mitchell succeeds the late John B. Pierce who until his death last fall had served 35 years in the service sharing with Thomas M. Campbell of Tuskegee the distinction of being the first Negroes admitted to this work. Mr. Mitchell will have supervision over agents in Virginia, North Carolina, Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia and Arkansas.

Entering the service in 1917 as a temporary war employe, Mitchell served during the first World War. He was a county agent for 11 years, a district agent for 12 years and three years ago was made state agent. His future headquarters will be at Hampton Institute. Mr. Mitchell holds an A. M. degree from Central university of Indiana. He has been active in civic affairs here in Greensboro and throughout the state.

N. C.—Should I stay on the farm with my dad and mother or try to get me a defense job?
Ans: You already have a defense job. You can do more for your country helping dad and mother produce a big crop this year than you can away from home. In the meantime...keep on studying and trying to improve yourself so your "friend" in the service will be proud of you when he comes back home.

K. M. J.—It is an old man in love with me and wants to marry me. Should I marry him or wait on this other boy?
Ans: Why waste the best years of your life on this old man when you know in your heart that you do not love him. His love for you is based on "false notions" and physical attraction. There is no happiness for either of you in such love. The other boy wouldn't have you because he knows that you and he do not have the same code of morals. You're alright to go on a "party" with, but in his opinion not what he wants for a wife. What you need is a steady job....not a man.

A. M.—My mind is on leaving where I am staying and going back where I came from. I am trying very hard to get me a Beauty Parlor opened up here, but look like his hard for me to do it by myself. I used to work for some people and they want me to come where they are at. I have been anxious to go up north too. Will I ever amount to anything in a business. What's in my mind.
Ans: The trouble is that you have too many things on your mind, you're too changeable. To-

S. A.—Will I succeed in getting a nice job without having to wash and iron all day for the rest of my life. I seem to be in a deep rut and stuck down so deeply I ain't able to get out.
Ans: You're not stuck that deep but you sure are mixed up. There is a way out of your difficulties but it will mean changing your way of living slightly. You must get a grip on yourself and MAKE UP YOUR MIND THAT YOU MUST GET ANOTHER JOB...or a job doing the kind of work you like. There are such jobs, but they don't pass them around...you have to go look for them. Write privately for job hunting instructions.

said yes. We went out 3 times. He even asked me to marry him. Should I? Or, is he acting smart?
Ans: A man who is brazen enough to accept a young girl on the street and proposition her for a date...is not to be trusted too far. You had no business encouraging his friendship. What proof do you have that he isn't a family man? When you associate with a stranger, especially when you are in a strange city alone, you are only inviting trouble. Be more careful in picking your friends.

LEGION NEWS
(by JULIUS E. HILL)
(Post Publicity Officer)
As it draws nearer the time for them to move to their new quarters, members of Roosevelt Post No. 30 American Legion are putting forth an even greater effort to secure new members.
It should be the desire and pride of every veteran to belong to a legion post. For it opens avenues for him that might stay closed were it not for this connection.
Having served the colors, having risked his life in defense of his country, the sight of the legion button on his coat lapel and the mere presenting of his membership card can work wonders in securing for him considerations that otherwise might be denied him.
Furthermore a legion post is more than just a pleasure loving organization. Rather it is an organization that carries a great civic and benevolent responsibility on its shoulders as well as having a political potency so great candidates dare not ignore it when seeking election to some local, state or national office. Therefore being a member of a legion post really means something to a veteran.
So join up now and help Roosevelt Post reach this year's goal in its membership drive. Be among the members who will help celebrate the opening of the post's new headquarters at 24th and Park.

But hurry as there is but little time left.
If you served in World War I join the American Legion NOW!
LEGION JIVE
Yeah I know I suggested the organizing of a club for the half wits in the post; but I had nothing to do with the motin made to elect me its president for life.
Miss Manhater, if, as you say—all men are crooked and utterly no good, then why is it you always have one in tow?
Well doc, if you prefer THAT kind of women then why don't you get yourself one and leave MY kind alone—or would you?
