

Dr. Lin . . .

(continued from page 1) As Lin Yutang paced the floor of his beautiful duplex apartment overlooking the East River at 84th St., he seemed to forget the subtle humor and satirical style that pervades his great writings. He seemed to be getting something off his chest. He continued: "Our idea of racial prejudice is as unscientific as Hitler's Aryanism. It has never been proved that the Negro is mentally inferior to the white man. That is something hard for the white man to swallow. That is a fact. If you say you dislike Negroes, that is your private opinion. But if you say the Negro is mentally inferior to you, that is an untruth. No one has a right to condemn Hitler's race arrogance if that one shares it himself."

'SCRAP IS BADLY NEEDED!'

be enjoyed by all regardless of race or religion?" His first remark to this question was: "It should never have to be brought up. I think this question was settled some 70 years ago. No one questions it on paper." YOU CAN'T FIGHT FOR FREEDOM AND IMPERIALISM BOTH "Will the liberation of China and the freedom of India benefit the subjugated people of the Asiatic and African colonies?" I asked Dr. Lin. "That is natural and inevitable. That is why the imperialists are scared and confused now. If imperialism cracks in one corner of the world it will crack in another. But the issue is inevitable. You've got to make up your mind either to fight for imperialism or fight for freedom, because you cannot fight for both at the same time. Because we refuse to face the issue squarely, we are thrown into confusion about our post-war aims in fact certain powers are already beginning to be scared of the Atlantic Charter and regard the occasion of its application as "dangerous."

Dad and the Boys Get in the Scrap

Heavy scrap from America's farms is still vitally necessary to beat the enemy. Now that good weather makes it easy to locate scrap iron, every farm can help supply the materials that make guns and ammunition.

As the call comes to Nebraskans to enter the third scrap gathering campaign, the question might arise in some peoples' minds as to just how badly this scrap is needed. At some points in the state scrap piles have been but partially removed. These are few but they undoubtedly give the impression locally that scrap is not a serious problem. Various reasons can be pointed out for this condition, but that which covers most cases is that dealers have gone out of business, or have been called into the service. To point out the true scrap picture, we quote from an editorial of the "Waste Trade Journal," addressed to dealers: "This is no time for complacency and there would be none if the public were made aware of the seriousness of the situation; if it were made to realize that substantially as much scrap will be needed in 1943 as was the case last year, and unless proper safeguards are taken the scrap supply is likely to prove a greater headache this year than it did in 1942. "It is conservatively estimated that the steel industry will consume approximately 2 million net tons of purchased scrap each month this year, or a total of 24 million net tons. It is important to bear in mind that this is purchased scrap; scrap that must come from households, from automobile graveyards, from industrial plants, from farms and from highways and byways of the nation. "The scrap supply problem is something that cannot be gambled with. The safety of the nation and the lives of millions of our own and of our allied soldiers depend upon the steel mills delivering the implements of war when and where needed. Scrap must not be permitted to become a bottleneck. It will be far safer to have too much rather than too little. We certainly cannot risk a recurrence of the shortage that developed last year. "No one knows how long the war will last. We must prepare for any eventualities. The only insurance against a scrap iron shortage is to build up an adequate reserve. Unless this is done and done quickly, and unless the appropriate machinery is put into immediate motion to assure this stockpile, the consequences may be disastrous. This is no time to engage in wishful thinking or to take chances."

FLOODED AREA BASEMENTS REFILL FROM SEEPAGE AFTER BEING PUMPED OUT

With more than three-fourths of the forty basements that were pumped out last Saturday and Sunday again full of water, Jack Varde Water, chief mechanic of the auxiliary firemen in charge of the pumps, agreed Friday to make a survey with City Engineer E. W. Woodbridge to determine whether it would be worthwhile to continue pumping this week end.

SEEK SPACE TO HOUSE PUMP AND SKID MOUNT UNITS

Space in private garages or gasoline filling stations closed because of gasoline rationing is being sought by Fire Chief O'Connor, chairman of the civilian defense council's fire and rescue service, to store the 48 trailer and skid mount pump units the auxiliary firemen's organization now has on hand.

NEW EQUIPMENT RECEIVED FOR OCD CORPS

With 345 firemen's coats received Thursday and 19,200 feet of 2 1/2 inch fire hose arriving earlier this week, property valued at about $100,000 is now on hand for use of the Omaha civilian defense corps, P. K. Walsh, local property officer, estimated.

EDUCATION AFTER THE WAR WE INSTRUCT THE AXIS

No less a person than Henry Wallace vice-President of the United States has asserted that the United Nations must undertake the re-education of Germany after the war so that never again will that country disturb the peace of the world. This is a highly interesting proposal to say the least. It presupposes that the United States of America and the British Empire will perhaps supply teachers or establish the curricula for the schools and colleges of Germany and Japan. There will be difficulties of language of course but they can be overcome. But there are other difficulties which might prove embarrassing—say for instance when the American or English professor opens his seminar he will say in Berlin or Tokyo and begins to inculcate the great principles of democracy into the minds of the misguided young Aryans of Germany or the stubborn little Mongolians of Japan. We can imagine the following scene in a classroom: American Professor: "The idea of a superior race is wrong, Jefferson, the author of the American Declaration of Independence pronounced the only true principle of human relationship. "All men are created equal and endowed by their creator with certain inalienable rights, and among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness!" Student: Does this include the Hindus and the Negroes too? Professor: This includes every human being on the face of the earth. Student: Is this the policy that the great democracies follow? Professor: Err, Yes, This is the principle which guides them and which must guide you in the future. Student: I once read a book by an American called "The Rising Tide of Color" and if I recall correctly the author advocated the suppression of the aspiration of the colored peoples in India and Africa, even in Japan, as defense for the preservation of white civilization. Professor: This idea has now been discredited and the theory abandoned for the most part. as headquarters of the auxiliary fire and rescue corps. A loud speaker, ticker an siren alarm systems are being installed. Evidence that the lock on the building was tampered with Sunday night prompted Walsh to warn that this property is protected under federal law with severe penalties for theft or property damage.

Student: Thank you sir. Professor: Do the Negroes in America have these rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness? Professor: In the main—yes. Of course there are some maladjustments which still exist but— Student: Do the Hindus—and the Africans now possess these rights? Professor: There are some people of the less advanced groups of humanity who are not yet ready for complete equality. But when they are ready they will receive it. Student: How will they know when they are ready? Professor: We will tell them. Student: What does the word "lynching" mean Professor? Professor: Lynching—ahem means taking a person's life, without due process of law by the action of a mob. Student: Do they still have lynchings in America? Professor: That is not the subject of today's discussion. We are dealing with principles. Student: Is the Negro really equal to the white man? Professor: In a way—physically I would say there is little difference—but intellectually I believe mental tests and history will show that the Negro is an inferior race. Student: (cautiously)—Then you believe in racial superiority? Professor: Of course, we of the white race are superior to the Negro, but that does not justify oppression or exploitation. Student: Has the Negro really contributed anything to civilization? Professor: In America quite a few Negroes have distinguished themselves in various fields of endeavor, because of our democratic way of life. Student: Are they not mulattos for the most part—mixed bloods?
