

Navy's Automatic Unwrapper For Tojo

Official Navy Composite Photos

Somewhere In The Pacific — A Navy flyer plummets his dive bomber in near vertical descent, briefly racing his own bomb toward targets such as this Jap cruiser our flyers bombed, burned and sank off the Marshall Islands.

Navy bombs are equipped with delicate automatic fuses which have little propellers that start whirling when the bomb is dropped. After falling about 500 feet it unscrews the mechanism and a plunger falls into firing position ready to explode the bomb when it hits the target.

Foretelling bad news for the Japs, bomb fuses of this type have secretly been in mass production by Nash-Kelvinator Corporation since March, 1942, it was recently disclosed in a Navy approved statement announcing completion of the big contract "on schedule".

Acting under strict military censorship, Nash-Kelvinator became one of the world's largest manufacturers of bomb fuses, producing three types for Navy bombs ranging from 100 pounds up to Atoll-Buster size.

Manufacture of these bomb fuses has been proceeding along with the company's mass production of 2000 HP aircraft engines, hydromatic propellers, propeller governors, and large scale manufacture of essential parts for jeeps, seeps, tanks and trucks, and parts for submarines and ships.

The bomb fuses, none of which have been seen by the public, have established an outstanding record in the Pacific. Larger size Navy bombs carry two of these propeller-type fuses to make doubly sure a bomb will explode — one in the nose and one in the tail. None of these bombs has ever been known to fall on the target a "dud".

Charter Amendment Would Raise Taxes

Tuesday, when you go to the polls, you will be handed a special ballot for a charter amendment to add another two-mill levy to your already overburdened taxes. On the face of it, this added tax levy is supposedly to provide funds for pay raises promised Omaha police and firemen, and to take care of needs of the fire and police pension fund. However, unless you defeat this charter amendment proposal you may be letting yourself in for DOUBLE TAXING.

"All necessary money for fire and police raises . . . as well as funds for Omaha teachers, other city employees, and other important needs WILL BE RAISED through scientific appraisal and reassessment of all property in Omaha . . . real state and personal," says W. O. Larson, President of the Omaha

VOTE NO—Stop Needless Tax Raise! WARNING!

This is the Ballot that Means HIGHER TAXES on your Home, Car and Other Property. Watch for it...

- Unless you do your part and vote NO at the April 11 Primaries, you will have a new permanent tax levy of two mills. THERE IS NO NEED FOR THIS RAISE IN THE TAX LEVY.
- Money to provide pay raises for firemen, policemen, and all other purposes WILL BE RAISED by an equalized scientific appraisal of all property. Unless you kill the levy raise, you may get a DOUBLE TAXING.
- Every important organization in the city urges you to PROTECT YOURSELF and vote NO on the charter amendment that would raise your tax levy. The Parent-Teachers association, Omaha Board of Realtors, all taxpaying bodies oppose raising your tax levy.
- There is no objection to raising pay of police and firemen. But the coming EQUALIZED ASSESSMENT will provide that money. DON'T BE DOUBLE-TAXED.

HALT THE RISING TAX LEVY!
