stitute the Church Membership of the future.

My judgement as to results is based upon the observation of the youth ranging in age from 12 to 18 in a city community. During this period of twenty-five to thirty years, there was a minimum average attendance of thirty in the Junior High and thirty in the High School departments, totalling some 1500 to 2000 youths.

Upon observation, the members of this group who are active in any Protestant Church as regular Church attendants, financial supporters, official members, workers in the church school, to say nothing of the number in full-time Christian service, are small in comparison to the number who are members in good standing of clubs and organizations devoted to selfish pleasures, indulging in the accepted habits of the more worldly friends, smoking, drinking (moderately maybe), amusements such as minor gambling, knowing, telling and acting untruths, swearing that it is not right or Christian, but choosing to take the easy way and not to appear odd or different.

Why do the large majority of youth decide to talk and act the same as youth he have made no profession of being Christians, such as affecting an attitude of insincerity, being snobbish towards those not in their group, choosing to not sing Christian hymns, cheating in school tests, being unkindly in attitude towards backward races and nationalities, accepting the idea of doing whatever they can get by with, with no evident desire to ant to know how they can be a more effective growing Christian?

My observation over these years is that the larger number are not making an effort by frequent contacts with Christ in reading Christian literature, or even listening to the message from their radio, to improve their Christian character that they may be come more unselfish, more kind to the unfortunate and the socially handicapped, more forgiving with a real desire or world-wide brotherhood.

I have talked with workers in other schools of various denominations and they seem to have the same problems and experiences. If this is true then there must be something lacking in our materials, methods or personnel.

The usual reply is that it is due to the influence of the home, the school and our present social-recreational life, coupled with the fact that we have them for such a short period of time. However, we are still faced with the question: Are we focusing our efforts on this one objective—Daily Christ Controlled Lives.

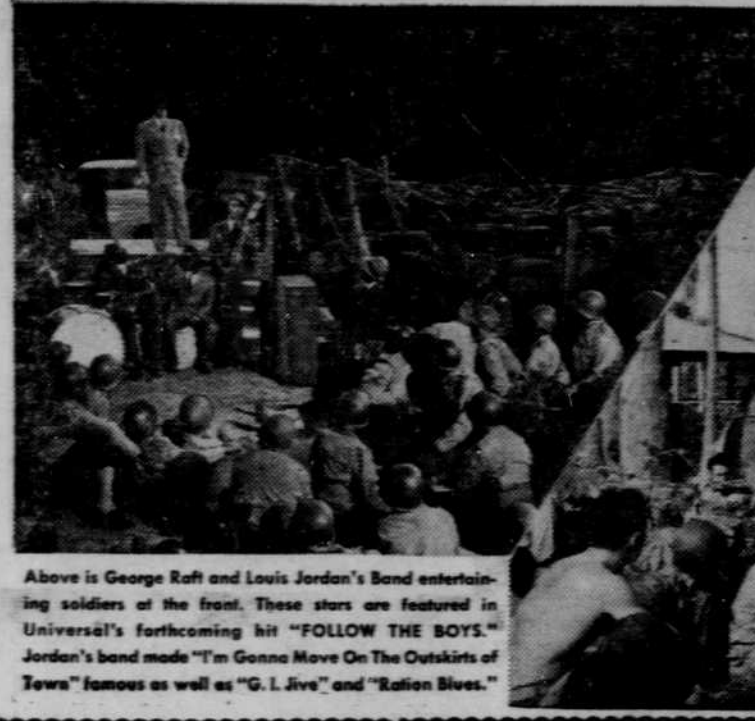

Do we definitely try to create in them a desire to subject every thought

"FOLLOW THE BOYS" FEATURES LOUIS JORDAN'S ORCHESTRA AND THE DELTA RHYTHM BOYS

Above is George Raft and Louis Jordan's Band entertaining soldiers at the front. These stars are featured in Universal's forthcoming hit "FOLLOW THE BOYS." Jordan's band made "I'm Gonna Move On The Outskirts of Town" famous as well as "G. I. Jive" and "Kation Blues."

Below is pictured the "DELTA RHYTHM BOYS," famous quintet entertaining soldiers at the front as depicted in Universal's hit, "FOLLOW THE BOYS." They helped popularize "Travel Light" and "Do Nothing 'Til You Hear From Me." They will do two new songs in "FOLLOW THE BOYS"—namely, "The House I Live In" and "Dry Bones."

word and deed to the mind of Christ, not once a year but at every Sunday devotional and lesson period.

Does the Christian way of life mean more to us than food, clothes and the possession of things? Are we working with God to make His Kingdom a real practical way of life on earth?

The current idea that the boys in the present war will come back with a new determination to live a vital Christian life based on the oft-repeated statement, "That there are no Atheists in the fox-holes," I think is entirely erroneous.

It will, in most instances, take more than a belief in a supreme being, who will by some superhuman means protect their lives, to bring about a growing sense of the presence of God in their daily thinking and living. If personal faith is the basis for their courage, the damage done to their higher and better motives will stunt their spiritual growth for years to come.

Has the Christian message as brought to us in the Bible been a separate part of our lives that it has no practical bearing on our daily living? Are we using the best methods to obtain an honest, definite decision on the part of our youth to do the will of God, as revealed to them through their conscience and the teachings and the life of Christ.

One Christian mother made the statement that in a group of women of her age, who were all the product of our churches and church schools, she was the only one who did not smoke and drink. Did they all have the same high ideals of Christian character when they accepted Christ into their life and joined the church, or did we fail to make it truly a Christ-motivated life?

Is there something lacking in the vitality of our presentation of the Christian way of life that boys generally think it is more manly to act tough, browbeat and push around the weaker or less fortunate, do what other boys do though they know it isn't right. Let us face the following questions honestly: 1. What can we do to improve the product of our schools? 2. Have we been teaching just a highly perfected lesson material? 3. Do we honestly evaluate our results? 4. Have we incorporated Christ into our own lives and teachings? 5. Have we eliminated the emotional element to a fault? 6. Do we meet often enough as a group to improve our work? 7. Is more leadership training the solution? 8. Does the Pastoral Leadership influence the result? 9. Can we improve our results independent of Pastoral leadership? 10. Should we face these problems on a Denominational or Interdenominational basis? DR. R. J. STEARNS, 6149 Florence Blvd., Omaha.

COURT THROWS OUT MOTION TO RESTRAIN "NEGRO SOLDIER" New York—Federal Judge Alfred C. Cox on May 9 tossed out of court the motion for court injunction against the showing of the War department documentary film "The Negro Soldier." The injunction had been sought by The Negro Marches On, Inc., and Jack Goldberg, who claimed that their movie, "We've Come A Long, Long Way" was being injured by the War department film.

The NAACP, through counsel, entered a motion for leave to intervene as amicus curiae on the ground that the widest possible circulation should be given to an official War department film showing the role of the Negro in the war.

The Executive Council of the Racial Assembly of New York issued the following statement on the film: "We have been constantly impressed with the necessity of furnishing adequate and reliable information to all Americans about the military contributions of America's minority groups. Racial and religious prejudices will be minimized by the dissemination of the facts. The Negro Soldier produced by the Signal Corps and approved by the War Department and the Office of War Information as well as by representative Negro groups and leaders, can be an effective instrument in the fight against prejudice, racial tensions and hatred. For these reasons we approve and commend the government policy of showing this photoplay widely and freely through the United States."
