URBAN LEAGUE ENTERTAINS 300 YOUNGSTERS

Approximately 300 grade school children attended a Halloween party at the Urban League, October 30 from 7-10 pm. Those present enjoyed a group of educational fun and horror pictures which kept everyone on the edge of his seat.

Four closely contested boxing matches were the highlight of the evening's entertainment. Bobby Battles and Richard Matlock boxed to a draw. Charles Watkins defeated Richard Curry in a regular slugfest. Clifford Triggs drew with Darrell Wightman and Donald Wiley drew with Jimmy Williams in a bout that brought the only knockdown of the matches. Williams caught Wiley off balance with a straight left jab that dropped him for no count.

Doughnuts and punch was served for refreshments and everyone left agreeing that they had really spent an enjoyable evening.

Mrs. Ada Nicholson, Mrs. Erma Lee Crooms and Mrs. E. N. Carter have completed a course of training for volunteer Girl Scout leaders held at the Girl Scout Little House headquarters for the Omaha Girl Scouts. Each leader is now prepared to take over Scout Troops that are anxiously awaiting their direction and leadership.

There is an urgent need for women who are able to sacrifice one hour a week to help service in the capacity of training our girls for better citizenship.

On Tuesday, October 21, Troop No. 61 entertained with a Halloween Party. Each Scout invited two guests. Many of the group were masked with funny faces, tacky costumes or grown-up's clothes. Suitable Halloween contest games were played with prizes offered to the winners.

The most enjoyable feature of the afternoon was the apple-bobbing contest. Two girls and one boy received rewards.

After the games were finished, the youngsters assembled around a beautifully arranged table for refreshments. Yellow and gold chrysanthemums made up the centerpiece with orange and black candles on each side of the flowers. Dainty sandwiches, potato chips, apples and hot chocolate was the menu.

Mrs. Erma Lee Crooms, new leader of Troop No. 61 and Mrs. E. N. Carter were in charge of the afternoon's activities.

'Jo'sephine Baker Returns to France

Somewhere in North Africa—After many months of active service in North Africa entertaining the armed forces of the United Nations, Josephine Baker, toast of Paris since the middle twenties, has returned to liberated France.

Wearing the uniform of the French Air Force, Miss Baker, with a group of 60 French women, recently embarked for southern France on a special mission. Before leaving this city, the group paid a parting call at the American Red Cross Victory Club, where they entertained the soldiers.

Announcement of Miss Baker's appearance was made just six hours before she arrived. Word spread quickly, and for more than an hour before she appeared, soldiers jammed every corner of the club, blocking

Standard Oil Promises Change In Tenant's Racial Policy

New York—Assurance that Mrs. Lillian Way, proprietor of a restaurant and canteen at 261 Constitution Avenue, N.W., Washington, D. C. will provide eating facilities for all customers, was contained in a letter today to the NAACP from the Standard Oil Company, owner of the premises leased by Mrs. Way.

In answer to the protest made by Walter White against the discriminatory practices of the lessee, D. S. Roberts, assistant manager of Standard Oil's Real Estate department wrote: "We have discussed the matter with Mrs. Way and she has assured us that in the future she will operate the coffee shop in such a manner as to provide all customers with similar service. We feel certain that the changes she proposes making will provide those for whom you speak with the relief they are seeking."

Although operating her business

SHE ALWAYS WINS THE PARTY LINE VOTE

Her "good neighbor" policy is simple, friendly, workable—she uses her party line telephone in the considerate way that neighbors recognize... and appreciate. She listens to see whether the line is in use before placing a call—and hangs up quietly if it is. She watches the length of her calls, allows time between them for others to use the line.

No wonder her friends would vote her the ideal party line neighbor. No wonder, either, that they show her the same telephone courtesies.

NORTHWESTERN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

58 Localities 353,000 Inhabitants

Back in 1917, when the Nebraska Power Company first started to do business, the organization served two communities—Omaha and Council Bluffs.

Today, the Nebraska Power Company serves 58 localities with a population aggregating more than 353,000 persons, including 63,449 residents on the Company's rural and suburban lines.

There is no better evidence than this constant growth, that the Nebraska Power Company's own motto, "Courtesy—Service—Low Rates" is more than just a slogan. Because Nebraska Power has always put this motto into action, its customers like the way the Company conducts its business.

Nebraska Power's private business management, and its many employees, are fully aware that with growth comes an obligation—the obligation to continue good service at low rates.

In the future, as in the past, the people of this territory know they can depend on Nebraska Power for good service at the same low rates.

primarily for the purpose of accommodating employees in a building housing offices of the FEPC and other Federal agencies, Mrs. Way was charged with consistent refusal not only to serve Negroes, but all white persons in their company. It was further charged that all attempts by Government officials and private persons to discourage such practices on the part of the lessee had failed. Pointing to this and the countenance of such procedure on the part of Standard Oil, Walter White said in his letter to the company: "The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People hereby makes the most vigorous protest against the existing situation and calls upon the Standard Oil Company either to refuse to renew the lease of Mrs. Way or to lease the canteen under terms which will assure service without discrimination. Negroes who are patrons and customers of the Standard Oil Company throughout the country insist that the Standard Oil Company thus make manifest its own attitude toward them. The issue is a large one. Hundreds of thousands of present and potential customers of the Company will be influenced by its action in this case."

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

- 1-Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come. 2-Started 3 days before "your time," it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

Statement of the Ownership, Management, Circulation, etc., required by the Acts of Congress of August 24, 1911 and March 3, 1933.

Of The Omaha Guide published every Saturday at Omaha, Nebraska, for October 1st, 1944, State of Nebraska, County of Douglas.

Before me, a Notary Public in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared C. C. Galloway, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the publisher of the Omaha Guide, and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, as amended by the Act of March 3, 1933, embodied in section 537, Postal Laws and Regulations to wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor and business managers are: Publisher C. C. Galloway Omaha, Nebraska. Editor, C. C. Galloway, Omaha, Nebraska.

Managing Editor, None. Business Manager, C. C. Galloway. 2. That the owner is: The Omaha Guide Publishing Co., C. C. Galloway.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders, owning or holding 1 percent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages or other securities are none.

4. That the two paragraphs next stockholders and security holders, if any contain not only the list of stock holders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company, but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 7th day of October, 1944.

Charles F. Davis, (My commission expires Sept. 4, 1949. C. C. Galloway, owner.
